POOR LITTLE BLOSSOM.

"Oh, dear! I'm so tired and lonesome!
I wonder why mamma don't come;
She told me to sit up my blue eyes,
And fore I waked up s'ed be home.

"S'e said s'e was going to see g'amma; S'e lives by the river, so bright;
I s'pect that my mamma fell in there,
And p'raps s'e won't tum home to-night.

"I d'ess I'm afraid to stay up here, Wivout any fire or light;
But Dad's lighted the lamps up in Heaven,
I see 'em all twinkling and bright.

"I fink I'll go down and meet papa, I s'pose he has stopped at the store;
It's a great, pitty store, full of bottles—Wish he wouldn't go there no more.

"Sometimes he is sick when he comes home,
And he stumbles, and falls up the stair;
And once, when he comed in the parlor,
He kicked at my poor little chair.

"And mamma was all pale and frightened,
And hugged me up close to her breast;
And called me her poor little Blossom,
And—d'ess I've forgotten the rest.

"But I'member that papa was angry,
His face was so red and so wild,
And I'member he stiked at poor mamma,
And hurted his poor little child.

"But I loves hi'n, and d'ess I do find him; P'raps he'll come home with me soon,
And then it won't be dark and lonesome Waiting for mamma to come."

Out into the night went the baby,
The dear little Blossom so fair,
With eyes that were blue as the morning
And the halo of golden-brown hair.

Out into the night went the baby,
Her little heart beating with fright,
Till the tired feet reached the gin-palace,
All radiant with music and light.

The little hand pushed the door open (Though her touch was as light as a breath),
The little feet entered the portal
That leads but to ruin and death.

Away down the long floor she pattered,
The pretty blue eyes opened wide,
Till she spied in a corner her papa,
And the tiny feet paused at his side.

"Oh, papa!" she cried as she reached him,
And her voice rippled out sweet and clear,
"I thought if I comed I would find you,
And I am so glad I is here.

"The lights are so pitty, dear papa,
And I fink that the music's so sweet;
But—I d'ess it's most supper-time papa,
For Blossom wants something to eat."

A moment the beared eyes gazed wildly Down into the face sweet and fair,
And then as the demon possessed him,
He grasped at the back of a chair.

A moment—a secon!—twas over.
The work of the fiend was complete;
And the poor little innocent Blossom Lay quivering and crushed at his feet.

Then, swift as the light, came his reason,
And showed him the deed he had done;
With a groan that a devil might pity,
He knelt by the quivering form.

He pressed the pale face to his bosom,
He lifted the fair, golden head;
A moment the baby lip trembled,
And poor little Blossom was dead!

Then in came the law so majestic,
And said that for this he must die;
That only a fiend or a madman
Could have murdered a child in that way.

But the man who had sold him the poison
That made him a demon of hell, Why—he should be loved and respected,
—Because he was licensed to sell.

He may rob you of friends and of money,
Send you to perdition and woe,
So long as he pays for his license,
The law must protect him, you know.

God pity the women and children Who are under the Juggernaut Rum, And hasten the day when against it Neither heart, voice, nor pen shall be dumb!
—Zion's Herald.

THE TYRANT RUM.

AIR—Little Widow Dunn.

Oh, there is an occupation, as you've doubtless heard before,
That every decent, honest man will shun,
A cursed, godless traffic, which increase more and more

With the rising and the setting of each sun.
There are those who do not scruple,
So their money they quadruple,
To fill and fill again the poisoned bowl, Their selfish hearts are stony,
'Tis money, only money,
Not much to them the ruined drunkard's soul.

CHORUS:

Whiskey, brandy, are quite handy.
Wine and lager, gin and rum,
Free and easy, they would please ye,
And are calling: "To our dram-shops, neighbors, come."

The poor mother's heart is breaking, as he staggers to the door;
Her pride, her hope, perchance her only son!
Do not slight her mute appealing, but enforce the law once more,
Save the lad, the downward road he's just begun.

Oh, forgive the youthful folly.
He thought only to be jolly,
Kindly win him to a higher, nobler way.
Blot out these dens of evil,
Creations of the devil,
Who, in ambush, waits to seize his witless prey.

Come, ye sluggish, sleepy Christians, who in Zion sit at ease,
Shake off this frightful stupor, every one,
Raise your voices unto Heaven, as you drop upon your knees,
And ask God to show you what is to be done.

See the foaming liquid glisten,
To the bar-room loafers listen,
Hear the wrangling, hear the idiotic laugh;
Would't you curse and blaspheming,
Hear the Goding and blaspheming,
As the deadly beverage of hell they quaff.

Let the clergy call a meeting, on the next fair Sunday morn,
As long enough ago they should have done;
With one voice arouse the people, till the sentiment is borne That shall shake the old White House at Washington.

Let them never fear disaster,
But cry loudly to the Master,
He has promised that He'll not forsake his own.
Let them show a brave decision;
For the wicked in derision He shall have who sitteth on His Father's throne.

HE PAID THE DEBT.

A Kansas City Father Invests in a Temperance Pledge.

I have just paid a debt, said Dr.
Fellowmen, the other day; his ruddy countenance all aglow with happiness and self-satisfaction. I never before paid a debt so cheerfully, nor did I ever pay one that gave me so much pleasure.

Dr. Fellowman is one of the oldest citizens of Kansas City and has a number of many sons who hold positions of trust.

You know, said the doctor, that I am not as strict as I might be in regard to the ordinary vices of life, such as we meet at every turn in a great city. You saw me coming out of a saloon just now; but I want to show you that I don't want my boys to follow in their father's footsteps.

Some twelve years ago a crank from Boston, or some where else, came along here and stirred up the town from center to circumference on the liquor question. One Saturday afternoon he got up a procession of boys and girls—nearly every school boy and girl in the city—and he marched them to the opera house and gave them a good talk. When the little fellows came away, every one of them had on a blue ribbon.

Now let me tell you, continued he,
that I have always had something to drink in the house, and in winter I kept cider, and all hands had free access to it as a rule. I noticed that my boy Tad declined to take it when it was passed around on an evening, and after several months, during which time I kept my eye on him, I asked him one morning.

Tad, why is it you never drink cider or beer when it is offered you?
Because I signed the pledge, said the little fellow.

Signed the pledge? said I with assumed astonishment. What good will it do for a little boy like you to sign the pledge? Don't you know that you'll break it as quick as a wink when you get to running around town with the boys?

Well, you'll see, said he.
Look here, my boy, said I. You know that your father is not a teetotal-taller; but he knows all about the temptations of the saloons and the terrible things that come to them who can't or don't resist them. Now I want to tell you this: If you will stick to your pledge until you are twenty-one I will give you five hundred dollars.

Now let me tell you the outcome of it. I didn't have the remotest idea that Tad would be able to claim the money, but I met him on the street just now and he said he'd been down to register.

Well, what ticket are you going to vote for your first one, said I.

I'm going to vote the law and order ticket, he answered.

Now you know I'm a pretty good Democrat, and can't run off after side issues, but it made me glad to know that Tad had a mind of his own, and I said to him:

Let me see; yesterday was your birthday, I believe.

I was twenty-one yesterday.

Do I owe you five hundred dollars, my boy? and I looked him squarely in the eye.

Yes, sir, he replied, you do.

Well, my friend, I went into this store here, and made him a check for five hundred dollars, and I am satisfied that it was the best investment I ever made in my life.—Kansas City Herald.

Men may preserve their health and strength without wine, with it they run the risk of ruining both their health and their morals.

EMPHATIC GUARANTIES

Which are Justified by an Extraordinary Public Experience.

TO THE PUBLIC:

Having branch houses and laboratories in seven different quarters and therefore having a world-wide experience, we, H. H. Warner & Co., justify ourselves in making the following statements:

OUR THEORY PROVED.

First.—For the past decade we have held that 93 per cent. of diseases originate in the kidneys which introduce uric acid into the system, a poison that is injurious to every organ attacked and destroying first the organs which are weakest. We also held that if the kidneys are kept in perfect health most of the ordinary ailments will be prevented, or, if contracted, cured. Other practitioners have held that extreme kidney disease was incurable. We have proof to the contrary, however in hundreds of thousands of cases in every section of the globe. Warner's Safe Cure is the greatest specific known. Its reputation is established everywhere, and its influence surpasses all other medicines.

HOW DISEASE CREEPS ON.

Second.—The kidneys being the sewers of the human system, it is impossible to keep the entire system in good working order unless these organs are doing their full duty.
Most people do not believe their kidneys are out of order because they never give them any pain.

Third.—We do not cure every known disease from one bottle. This is an impossibility. Warner's Safe Remedies include seven scientific specifics, each one of which has a specific purpose which the others cannot fully preform.

RECOGNIZED STANDARDS.

Fourth.—Warner's Safe Remedies have been recognized by the doctors and the people all over the globe, even in countries most conservative and most opposed to the manufacture of proprietary medicines, as standards of the highest excellence and worthy of the patronage of all people.

STRONG GUARANTEES.

Fifth.—We make the following unqualified guarantees:

GUARANTEE 1.—That Warner's Safe Remedies are pure and harmless.

GUARANTEE 2.—That the testimonials used by us are genuine, and

YOUR FRIENDS AND NEIGHBORS.

Mrs. James Burns of 18 Division St.
Toronto, writes that her daughter was given up to die, by the best medical men in the city, from Bright's Disease of the Kidney's, but that Warner's Safe Cure not only saved her life but restored her to health.

L. A. Barker, of Toronto, Supt. Fire Patrol Co. of Canada, suffered from lame back for three years. Physicians treated him for Bright's Disease, but he obtained no relief. Four bottles of Warner's Safe Cure made a well man of him.

Mrs. Hayward, of 321 Church St. Toronto, was cured of Chronic Dyspepsia with six bottles of Warner's Safe Cure.

John Gives, of Galt, is a living monument to the power of Warner's Safe Cure over enlargement of the Liver.

We could give thousands of similar testimonials. Warner's Safe Cure does exactly as represented.

Seventh.—We were enforced into the manufacture of Warner's Safe Cure Remedies in obedience to a vow made by Mr.
H. H. Warner that he would, if the remedy now known as Warner's Safe Cure restored him to health, spread its merits before the entire world. In ten years the demand has grown so that laboratories have been established in seven quarters of the globe. Not only is Warner's Safe Cure a scientific specific—it cures when all the doctors fail, thousands of the best of physicians prescribe it regularly, its power over disease is permanent and its reputation is of the most exalted character.
