They saw that Marsh was speaking to the newcomers, but could not distinguish his words. The Indian girl fell back as if terrified. She cried out something in her own tongue, shook her head violently and pointed to her white companion. Marsh's face was livid; he shook a quivering hand in Cherry Malotte's face. It seemed as if he would strike her, but Constantine strode between them, scowling silently down into the smaller man's face, his own visage saturnine and menacing. Marsh retreated a step, chattering excitedly. Then Cherry's voice came clearly to the listeners:

"It is too late now, Mr. Marsh. You may as well face the music."

Followed by the stares of the sailors, she came up the deck toward the old man and his daughter, who had arisen, the Indian girl clinging to her sleeve, the tall breed striding noiselessly behind. Willis Marsh came with them, his white lips writhing, his face like putty. He made futile detaining grasps at Constantine, and in the silence that suddenly descended upon the ship they heard him whispering:

"What is the meaning of this?" demanded Mr. Wayland.

"I heard you were about to sail, so I came out to see you before."

Marsh broke in hoarsely: "She's a bad woman! She has come here for blackmail!"

"Blackmail!" cried Wayne Wayland. "I thought as much!"

"That's her game. She wants money."

Cherry shrugged her shoulders and showed her white teeth in a smile.

"Mr. Marsh anticipates slightly. You may judge if he is right."

Marsh started to speak, but Mildred Wayland, who had been watching him intently, was before him.

"Who sent you here, miss?"

"No one sent me. If Mr. Marsh will stop his chatter I can make myself understood."

"Don't listen to her."

Cherry turned upon him swiftly.

"You've got to face it, so you may as well keep still."

He fell silent.

"We heard that Mr. Marsh was going away with you, and I came to ask him for enough money to support his child while he is gone."

"His child?" Wayne Wayland turned upon his daughter's fiancée with a face of stern surprise. "Willis, tell her she is lying!"

"She's lying!" Marsh repeated obediently, but they saw the truth in his face.

Cherry spoke directly to Miss Wayland now. "I have supported this little fellow and his mother for a year."

She indicated the red-haired youngster in Constantine's arms. "That is all I care to do. When you arrived Mr. Marsh induced Chakawana to take the baby up river to a fishing camp and stay there until you had gone. But Constantine heard that he intended to marry you, and, hearing also that he intended leaving tonight, Constantine brought his sister back in the hope that Mr. Marsh would do what is right. You see, he promised to marry Chakawana long before he met you."

Mildred could have done murder at the expression she saw in Cherry's face. The woman she had scorned had humbled her in earnest. With flashing eyes she turned upon her father.

"Since you were so prompt in announcing my engagement, perhaps you can deny it with equal promptness."

"Good God! What a scandal if this is true!" Wayne Wayland wiped his forehead.

"Oh, it's true," said Cherry.

In the silence that followed the child struggled out of Constantine's arms and stood beside his mother, the better to inspect these strangers. His little face was grimy; his clothes, cut in the native fashion, were poor and not very clean. Yet he was more white than Aleut, and no one seeing him could doubt his parentage. The seamen had left their posts and were watching with such absorption that they failed to see a skiff with a single oarsman swing past the stern of the Grande Dame and make fast to the landing. Still unobserved, the man mounted the companionway swiftly.

For once in his life Wayne Wayland was too confused for definite speech. Willis Marsh stood helpless.

"Don't believe her!" he broke out. "She is lying to protect her own lover!" He pointed to Chakawana.

"That girl is the child's mother, but its father is Boyd Emerson!"

"Boyd Emerson was never in Kalvik until last December," said Cherry.

"The child is three years old."

"It seems I am being discussed," said a voice behind them. Emerson clove his way through the sailors, striding directly to Marsh. "What is the meaning of this?"

Mildred Wayland laid a fluttering hand upon her breast. "I knew he would come," she breathed.

Constantine broke his silence for the first time, addressing Mildred directly.

BASEBALL NOTES

Larry Piper, the Toronto boy, will play left field for Calgary this year. Montreal has bought "Lefty" Matern, formerly of the Boston Nationals.

James Brown, secretary of the Vancouver Club of the Pacific Coast League, has been appointed manager of the Winnipeg team in the new Northern League.

Baltimore News—The Montreal infield is not bad, but if Sammy Liehtenstein should dispose of Gandil it would be a sorry sight. He is easily 50 per cent. of it.

Billy Burke, the little left-handed twirler with Montreal last season, has refused to sign and is still a hold-out. The Royals have secured a pitcher named Long from the Athletics.

Connie Mack will use "Lefty" Russell now that "Jack" Coombs is out for a while, and thinks Russell is in grand shape. He will work possibly in one of the games in New York, but surely against Boston.

"First-class pitchers mean winning ball teams," says Connie Mack. "I've got several of them, and so have the Highlanders. If Wolverton gets the right work out of Ford, Caldwell, Vaughn, McConnell, Fisher and Warhop, the New Yorkers will make a lot of trouble."

The shinguard didn't last long with the Pittsburgh catchers, Gibson and Kelly have already discontinued their use, Simon and Haley being the only ones to stick to them. Gibson says it takes too long between innings to put the armor on and take it off. Also, he says, the guards interfere with the getting up speed in going after foul flies.

"We may not win the pennant this year," said Larry Schaffy of the International League meeting at New York in December, "but we will have a team that will cause trouble for everybody and we will have to be reckoned with by the teams which make the real fight. Look out for us in 1913 if things break right this season."

Schaffy looks like making good his prediction. The scribes around the circuit have called Jersey City the "Onions," because they trained in Bermuda.

Vitt who is making quite a bit in the Detroit outfield, was a star with the San Francisco team last season. With the two gardeners Wolter and Cree out of the game, the Highlanders outfield is very near shot to pieces.

Pitcher "Flame" Delbi of the White Sox, comes from the Pacific Coast League. He gets his nickname from the color of his hair.

The reorganized Washington State League will have teams in Aberdeen, Honuliam, Cerehalis and Centralia. The season opens May 2 and closes Sept. 2.

Arthur Devlin the former Giant, is playing first base for the Boston Braves but will be shifted to third as soon as the weather warms up a little.

The Newark International League team has always been a great performer on the opening day having won the first battle eight times out of eleven starts.

Eddie Lennox is showing all the earmarks of a real "come back" The former Brooklyn-Louisville player is doing nifty work at third for the Chicago Cubs.

The New York Americans lost 6, Indianapolis in the American Association lost 7 and Fort Worth, in the Texas League, lost 5 games before putting a game in the win column.

Working in the Southern League last season seems to have put the winning stuff in "Rube" Benton. Since he rejoined the Cincinnati Reds "Rube" has been pitching like a champion.

The Boston Red Sox started the season some $35,000 in gate receipts to the bad. Opening day and morning and afternoon games on Patriots Day had to be postponed on account of rain.

"Old Fox" Griffith says he can't see where Philadelphia, New York or Boston have anything on his Washington team, and doesn't believe the western teams will be able to show the Nationals anything either.

It looks as though the Browns have picked up a rare bird in Pitcher Baumgardner. Winning his game from "Big Ed" Walsh and coming right back in a 15-inning 0 to 0 game against "Death Valley" Jim Scott, is surely some record for a youngster.

So far the present season has been a tough one on the players. Sickness or injuries during the first ten days of the season putting the following players out of the game: Coombs, Lord and Lapp of the Athletics; Magee, Doolin, Lobert, Walsh, Chalmers and Killifer of the Quakers; Wolter and Cree of the Highlanders; Fletcher and Doyle of the Giants; Wheat, Tooley and Hummel of the Superbas; Nelson of the Browns; Bresnahan of the Cardinals; Cobb of the Tigers; Sullivan of the White Sox; Chance of the Cubs; Domlin of the Pirates.

PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY.

Toronto, May 3—Dr. Somerville is insuring the call for the Presbyterian General Assembly. It will meet at at Edmonton on Wednesday June 5th under the moderatorship of Rev. P. R. McKay, D. D. of Toronto.

Never fill a lamp completely. If it is filled in a cold room and then taken into a warm one expansion will occur and the oil will overflow on the sides.

MAY ROD AND GUN

Every sportsman interested in the welfare of Canada's fish and game resources should read the May number of Rod and Gun in Canada published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., which contains the first chapter of the Final Report of Mr. Kelly Evans of the Ontario Game and Fisheries Commission. Mr. preparation of this report and the information contained therein and the recommendations which Mr. Evans Evans has spent two years in the makes as to a broader policy of administration should be read by every sportsman.

"An Ideal Canadian Holiday" will appeal to those who already have visions of a summer outing. Trap-shooters will find their interests particularly well looked after in this month's issue which contains in addition to the usual department news and scores a specially illustrated article by "Canuck" on the Easter Inter-Club Shoots between Montreal and St. Hubert clubs.

GIVING AWAY SPACE

The publisher of a paper must live as well as the clothier, the dry goods man or the grocer. To get the where-with to live he has one thing to sell and another to rent. He sells his papers and he rents the space in his columns. These are his principal sources of income, and can anyone inform us why he is expected to give either away? He can, of course, do so if he chooses and as a matter of fact he does furnish a good deal of his space rent free. But it does not follow that he ought to be expected to do so as a matter of course, and further, when once he does, it ought to be recognized as a contribution just as much as the sugar and coffee given by the grocer. But it is not generally looked at in that light; yet everybody knows that the very existence of a newspaper depends upon the selling of space as much as the merchant's success depends upon the sale of his goods. There is, just as much reason for the merchant giving his goods away free as there is for the publisher, and yet there are people who wish the paper to boost them but who bestow their patronage elsewhere.

FACE WAS LITERALLY COVERED WITH PIMPLES.

Four Different Doctors Did Her No Good.

Two Bottles of BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS Cured Her.

Bad blood is directly the cause of the face breaking out in pimples, and it is impossible to eradicate them unless you put your blood into good shape.

Burdock Blood Bitters is compounded from roots, herbs, barks and berries, and is without a doubt the best remedy procurable for the purpose of driving all the blood impurities out of the system.

Mr. Geo. E. Miller, Clavering, Ont., writes: "Last fall I was very much troubled with pimples. My face was literally covered with them. I went to four different doctors, but they could do me no good. One day a friend advised me to use Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got two bottles, and before I had taken all the first one, the pimples had nearly all disappeared, and by the time I had taken all the second one the pimples had disappeared completely, thanks to Burdock Blood Bitters. I would advise anybody who is troubled with any blood trouble to use Burdock Blood Bitters."

Give your servants GOLD DUST to clean with, treat them rightly and you will have few occasions to insert a "help wanted" ad

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.
