NO INDIGESTION, GAS OR A SOUR STOMACH

"Pape's Diapiesin" Stops Fermentation and Makes Your Upset Stomach Feel Fine in Five Minutes

Wonder what upset your stomach— which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; your head dizzy and aches; belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Diapiesin and in five minutes you truly will wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapiesin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapiesin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gentle and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

75th ANNIVERSARY OF MEMORABLE EVENTS

Alton, Ill., Nov. 7.—Seventy-five years ago tonight there occurred in this city an event which, with the single exception of the John Brown raid, was probably the most sensational feature of the long struggle over the slavery question that preceded the civil war. This was the mobbing and destruction of an anti-slavery paper and the murder of its editor, Elijah P. Lovejoy. Although it occurred twenty-five years before the war, it contributed in a marked degree to that culmination.

Elijah P. Lovejoy was of an ardent pious nature and his advocacy of the cause for which he perished took the form of extremely violent attacks on the institution of slavery and all who directly or indirectly helped to favor and perpetuate it.

In 1826, Lovejoy, then a young man of twenty-four, came from his home in Maine to St. Louis, where he established a school and became an industrious contributor to the press. Several years later he took an active interest in politics and became the editor of a political newspaper which advocated the election of Henry Clay for the presidency. Although he was unsuccessful in his campaign he earned the reputation and influence of a political leader, but in three years more he became possessed of so much religious zeal that he determined to enter the ministry, and he was licensed to preach in 1833.

As editor of The Observer, a religious paper published in St. Louis, Lovejoy began his most ardent advocacy of abolition. Before long he had become so violent in his agitation that a letter was signed by some of the most respected citizens of St. Louis which requested him to moderate the tone of his editorial utterances with regard to slavery.

Lovejoy replied to this letter in a statement in his paper which did not tend to conciliate his opponents. After this he was threatened with violence so determinedly that he determined to remove from St. Louis, and in 1836 he came to Alton, which was to be the scene of his death.

The citizens of Alton threatened him without result and then mobs destroyed his press. As often as they wrecked it he replaced it until three presses were destroyed and a fourth one was ordered. The night after it was received a mob attacked the building. Lovejoy was there with some friends and in the fight that followed one of the attacking party was killed. When the mob undertook to fire the building Lovejoy was one of three volunteers to make a sortie. As soon as he got outside he was assailed with a storm of bullets and fell dead.

The tragic death of Lovejoy created a profound impression throughout the country and an outburst of condemnation from the press. At a mass meeting held in Faneuil Hall, Boston, Wendell Phillips made his first public address. It was a speech that immediately made Phillips famous and from that great meeting dated his tremendous oratorical efforts against slavery.

Frances Starr's New York engagement in "The Case of Becky" has proved successful.

CANADIAN SLOW TO ADVERTISE COUNTRY

(Toronto Globe)

"Canada is not talked about as much about sufficiently by our own Canadian people," said Hon. George P. Graham in the course of an inspiring address on "Canada, Past and Present," at the Parkdale Methodist Church last evening. The pastor, Rev. W. B. Caswell, presided and the program included several delightful musical selections.

The former Minister of Railways and Canals was in his happiest vein. He briefly treated the story of Canadian development and deplored the fact that there was no concrete history of Canadian affairs. "We have a history replete with inspiration," declared the speaker amid applause. "No matter what you read or where you read it, and no matter what you hear or where you hear it, there is no feeling anywhere in Canada tending toward ever breaking connection with the British Empire." Mr. Graham championed the loyalty and devotion of the French-Canadians. "We owe it to their fidelity that we still belong to the Empire," said he, alluding to the overtures made to the Canadian-French by the United States following their conquest. "They saved us once, and 99 out of every 100 would be prepared to do it again."

THE HARD TASK

The men who formed Confederation had a hard task. Mr. Graham continued, "but," he added, "the men who are working it out have a harder task." Confederation, like all great arrangements, was founded on compromise and must be so worked out. "We cannot have everything just as our own little circle would like it," he observed.

The speaker touched a responsive chord when he sounded a note of warning to young Canadians against being led away too strongly by war talk. He was not deprecating the principle that the country should be thoroughly equipped and rise to the full height of its responsibility, but it was well to remember that it was the every day men and women who were the making of the country.

Hon. Mr. Graham touched on the banking system. He deemed it a great weakness that the banks were permitted to charge six, seven and eight per cent. for loans, while they only paid three. "There should be legislation to make a parity between the interest you pay and the interest you get," he commented amid applause. In concluding he referred to campaigns waged for the censorship of theatrical productions and against the evils of the race-track. "But," said he, addressing the ladies, "there is something I regard as even more important; the preservation of the sanctity, purity and happiness of homes. It is upon this that the nation's welfare and greatness must permanently rest." He protested against "the insanity of afternoon bridge parties." "Don't think I am a prude," said he, "but I regard them as dangerous as horse-racing can ever be." In conclusion he counselled Canadian men and women to guide their lives by the inspiration of high ideals and patriotic service.

FOR 18.2 BILLIARD TITLE

New York, Nov. 9.—The leading billiard experts of the country are about to engage in a tussle to decide the World's championship at the 18.2 ballline game. Willie Hoppe, George Slosson and Harry Cline of New York, Orlando Morningstar of Pittsburgh, George Sutton and Calvin Demarest of Chicago and Albert Taylor of Milwaukee are the entries for the tournament, which will begin Monday night at the Hotel Astor, which has been the scene of several notable battles with the ivory globes in recent years. Koji Yamada the Japanese expert is said to be a wonder with the cue, and is the only foreign entry in the tournament.

The contest will be for 500 points subject to the playing rules governing the 18.2 ballline game. Twenty eight games will be required to make each entrant compete against every other entrant. The prizes are a challenge trophy and $3000 in cash. The net receipts, if any, will be added to the prize money. Without considering box office proceeds the winner is assured of $2,000, the second $1,500, the third $1,000 and the fourth $500.

It has been many years since such a notable array of experts were entered in a billiard tournament in this city. Slosson is the veteran of the company. He is the old war horse and in his time has held the championship titles as every style of the game. Hoppe the youngest of the company is probably the foremost player of the present day. Like Slosson he has pulled down all of the titles and can be counted on to finish at the front in the coming tournament if he is in good condition. Morningstar, for many years the pool champion has played in many billiard tournaments and at times has displayed wonderful skill. Cline also is an attractive player, and has a taking style. He has a clean swinging wrist stroke of the old Sexton and Vignaux School. Demarest is another pyrotechnic player.

MAGISTRATE COULD NOT SOLVE MARRIAGE TANGLE

"If you please, sir, I want to know if I can get married," was the question put by a young woman to the magistrate at Old Street, London, England. She added that she wanted to know if she was married already. She said she had gone through a ceremony of marriage some months ago with a man named Davidson, now serving a term of penal servitude.

Prior to his committal she had left him on discovering that he had been previously married to a woman who was still alive and who had been married to a man who had gone herself to be a widow and in that belief had married Davidson.

If the man was dead her marriage with Davidson was valid and Davidson was not applicant's husband. She hoped not. But if the man was dead the applicant was Davidson's wife and she could not marry the man she now wanted.

She had tried to get the matter settled by giving herself up for bigamy, but the authorities could not prove that Davidson's marriage with Mrs. Miller was not legal and so she was still undecided.

The magistrate thought it an extraordinary story but could not venture to advise the applicant. He had remarked, no doubt of what he would do if in her position. He would not advise her to do it, but he knew what the other man might say was another matter.

Applicant left the witness box dubious, but smiling.

former. He is chock full of confidence and is a wonderful mass player, one of the best of them all. Sutton is a seasoned player though not as long in harness as Slosson. He is the best nurer of any of

A WEAK, ACHING BACK Caused Her Much Misery.

Kept Her From Sleeping Nights.

Weak back is caused by weak kidneys, and on the first approach or evidence of kidney trouble Doan's Kidney Pills should be used, and serious trouble avoided.

Doan's Kidney Pills go right to the seat of the trouble, cure the weak aching back, and prevent any further complications arising.

Mrs. W. R. Hodge, Fielding, Sask., writes:—"A few lines highly recommending Doan's Kidney Pills. For this last year I have been troubled very much with nasty sick headaches, and a weak aching back which caused me much misery, for I could not work and had no ambition for anything. My kidneys were very badly out of order, and kept me from sleeping at nights. I tried many kinds of pills and medicines, but it seemed almost in vain. I began to give up in despair of ever being well and strong again, when a kind neighbor advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and am thankful for the relief I obtained from them, for now I am never troubled with a sore back or sick headaches. I will always say Doan's Kidney Pills for mine and can highly recommend them to any sufferer."

them and on this account is likely at any time to make a decisive run. Taylor of Milwaukee is of a younger school of players, but has had considerable tournament and match play experience. Koji Yamada is an unknown quantity so far as American tournaments are concerned. Will Foss the former amateur champion witnessed his performance in the Berlin tournament some time ago and declares him to be well up in the game.
