A MEMORABLE DATE
Chicago, Ill., May 4—Veterans of the Chicago police force today joined in the customary observance of the anniversary of the two most memorable events in the history of the department. Twenty-six years ago today occurred the Haymarket riot, in which six policemen met death and sixty others were maimed by bombs thrown by Anarchists. Three years later, on May 4, 1889, Dr. Patrick H.
Cronin, the Irish nationalist agitator, was lured to the Carleton Cottage in North Ashland Avenue, and murdered. Deaths of those connected with the trials subsequent to these tragedies have been numerous, most of them unnatural.

Of the world's annual output of $450,000,000 gold the United States contributes almost $100,000,000.

SUFFRAGISTS DIS- APPROVE OF "RULE OF THE SEA"

(Brooklyn Eagle)
According to statements attributed to Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch and the Rev. Anna Howard Shaw, in these days of struggle for equal political privileges should be according to woman even under circumstances such as attended the sinking of the Titanic. The time-honored rule of the sea. "Women first," should no longer prevail, but men and women alike among the passengers should take their chances in the lifeboats.

Mrs. Charles S. Suffren one of the officers of the Woman Suffrage party and an active worker for the cause in this borough, was asked if she coincided with the views of the leaders noted.
"I am not willing to say that," she replied. "The value of a human life is in proportion to the sorrow and loss that death entails, whether the individual be a man or a woman.
I think that all mothers should be saved; but I do not think that preference in such a case as the Titanic collision should be given to the sick or aged. I do, however, most emphatically disagree with the statement made by Dr. Henry Van Dyke in a paper of yesterday, that on the average, a man is stronger than a woman; he is worth more than a woman; he has a longer prospect of life than a woman."

Miss Ida A. Craft, another prominent Suffragist in city and State work, gave her opinion.

"I agree with Mrs. Blatch and Miss Shaw," she said. "This is not a sex question, and under such circumstances women ought to stand their chances with the men. Of course that makes this disaster more apalling is the fact that human lives were sacrificed to the mania for fast traveling, and that had proper precautions been observed, there would not have been need for any lives to have been lost. In my opinion, the man whose loss means most to the world among those who went down on the Titanic is William T. Stead.

Of course, under the rule of the sea preference is given to women and children, because they are supposed to be more helpless; but I do not think that men should stand back and women be rescued just on this account. They should have equal rights and equal privileges as human beings."

Mrs. Rebecca J. C. Talbot-Perkins, president of the Bedford Political Equality League said:

"I think that the men should have an equal chance with the women. I believe in equality and under such circumstances there is a question in my mind whether the men should stand back. Neither the men nor the women aboard the Titanic apparently realized the danger the vessel was in when the women were put in the boats, but if they had I did not feel that preference should have been given to the women."

Miss Amy Wren, who is a lawyer as well as an active suffragist did not care to express an opinion further than to say that she did not think husbands and wives should be separated. "We cannot but regard as heroes men who sacrifice their lives to their sense of chivalry, she added.

Mrs. Horatio C. King, who is an opponent of woman suffrage, was averse to being interviewed, for she said she was much affected by reading the accounts of the disaster, and the rescue of the survivors as told in the Eagle, but she did express her admiration for Mrs. Strauss, who refused to be saved if her husband could not go with her. "Few women have the physical courage to make a decision like that," she said; "but I feel as all of us must, that many more if not all, could have been saved. As for the men who stood back and gave the women the preference, we have become so accustomed to the display of such chivalrous conduct on the part of American men and those of other English-speaking nations that we would not respect them if they acted differently."

It is one of the greatest time and labor saving devices imagin-

TO TRY WOMAN FOR MURDER

Chicago, Ill., May 6—After repeated postponements there is every prospect that Mrs. Jane Quinn will be placed on trial this week for the alleged murder of her husband John Quinn. When Quinn was found dead early last December Mrs. Quinn declared he had been shot by a burglar.
Police investigation is said to have revealed that Warren Thorpe, a former husband of Mrs. Quinn, had been found shot to death in Jackson, Mich. in 1903 under similar circumstances and that another husband, Charles McDonald, a Canadian, had died under circumstances indicating poison.
