PETER FARRELL & CO.BECKER FOUND GUILTY

New York, Oct. 24—Police Lieutenant Charles Becker was found guilty tonight of murder in the first degree by the jury which has been trying him for instigating the death of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

The verdict was "murder in the first degree," and was pronounced exactly at midnight.

Becker was remanded for sentence to the Tombs by Justice Goff until Oct. 30.

Becker did not flinch when he heard the verdict pronounced by Harold B. Skinner, foreman of the jury.

Mrs. Becker, sitting outside the door of the court room, fell in a swoon when the verdict was pronounced.

John F. McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, announced that he would take an immediate appeal, but added that beyond this he had nothing to say.

The twelve jurors with solemn faces and measured steps filed into the court room at 11.55 o'clock. A minute later the defendant was brought in from the Tombs. Justice Goff had not yet entered the room and for a minute Becker took a side seat. As he waited he scanned with anxious eye the face of the jurors, but none of them returned his gaze. A tense silence prevailed. At 11.58 Justice Goff entered the court room and bowing low to counsel, took his seat. The jury roll was called. The clerk then asked the jurors if they had reached a verdict.

"We have," announced Foreman Skinner.

The jury rose to its feet.

"We find the defendant guilty as charged in the indictment," Mr. Skinner said, slowly and evenly, looking squarely at Justice Goff.

"Do you find the defendant guilty of murder in the first degree as charged in the indictment?" asked the clerk.

"We do," the foreman replied.

Twice during the afternoon the jury communicated with Justice Goff. Once it asked for the stipulations made by the state with the four informers, Ross, Webber, Vallon and Schepps, and Schepps' letter to Rose written by the little gambler at Hot Springs Ark., and expressing his willingness to testify.

The second time the jury wanted the testimony of persons who talked with Schepps at Hot Springs. The first request was granted; the second denied, because portions of the testimony taken at Hot Springs had been excluded from the evidence by the court.

Schepps, in view of the court's charge, apparently was much in the jury's mind.

The prisoner's destiny was delivered into the jury's hands at 2.30 o'clock this afternoon after a three hours' charge by Justice Goff, which Becker characterized as distinctly unfair and "a thin veiled summing up for the state," and upon which his counsel, John F. McIntyre, declined to comment. To do so, he said, would place him in contempt of court.

THE GLADYS KLARK COMPANY NEXT WEEK

A High Class Show at Popular Prices
Will be the Attraction at the Opera House

When Miss Gladys Klark opens a 3 day engagement at the City Opera House, Monday afternoon her manager J. Edmond Balfour will present this popular little star surrounded by a company of players seldom equaled at popular prices, between the acts six real vaudeville novelties and the company's own orchestra will fill the waits making a continuous performance in every detail.

Mr. Balfour asks of the Opera House management a clear stage as a complete production is carried for every play presented requiring a 65 feet car for the transportation of the scenery and effects alone.

"A Fatal Likeness" will be the Holiday matinee bill, Thanksgiving Day starting at 2.30 with all seats 25c. This is favorite bill of Miss Klark's.

The New Glasgow, N. S., Chronicle has the following to say of "A Wife's Secret" the Thanksgiving night's bill:

"A genuine welcome, and one that she will not soon forget, was extended to Miss Gladys Klark and her capable company at the Academy of Music last evening, when she opened a three nights' engagement with the presentation of that delightful drama 'A Wife's Secret.'"

"Each member of the company played his or her role to perfection. To Miss Klark, of course fell the honors of the evening. Her fine and touching interpretation of a country school teacher who had been slandered in which she dwelt, and who afterwards rose above the many accusations of her accusers, was fine in extreme."

"As 'Joe Tucker, the Village Parson' Mr. J. E. Balfour was perfect, and he was right at home as the parson. Mr. Balfour has a commanding appearance and a clear enunciation which won for him many new friends. The rest of the company gave splendid support to the leaders due in no little measure to the clever acting ability which they displayed and the success of the evening was due."

"Never has such splendid vaudeville been seen in New Glasgow. Master Valmore won hearty applause by his clever rendition of two songs. Hammond, the Hoopologist is a marvel at home routine and is positively the best artist in his line that has been in New Glasgow."

"Davis, the man who mystifies certainly proved his right to that title. His mysterious tricks were nothing short of marvellous and he evoked more applause than any other artist."

flourish in the most unexpected places and quickly attack a body weakened from colds or general debility, but if the lungs are fortified with SCOTT'S EMULSION their progress can be prevented and often overcome. SCOTT'S EMULSION is used in tuberculosis camps because its highly concentrated nourishment builds strength and resistive-power faster than disease destroys. It assimilates without taxing digestion, and contains no alcohol.

Absolutely nothing equals SCOTT'S EMULSION to strengthen the lungs and drive out colds and coughs.

EDUCATIONAL PROBLEMS

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 15—Representatives from all the accredited schools in the State of Virginia met here today with the faculty of the University of Virginia, at the invitation of the latter, for an informal discussion of various educational problems which is to extend over two days. The principal object of the gathering is the promotion of mutual understanding and good will between the University authorities and the teachers in the public and private preparatory schools of Virginia. Matters pertaining to school hygiene will also be considered.
