

DOCTORS AFRAID TO OPERATE

Could Not Remove Stone From The Bladder.
Gin Pills Enabled Him To Pass It.

JOLLETTE, P. O.
"During August last, I went to Montreal to consult a specialist as I had been suffering terribly with Stone In The Bladder. He decided on an operation and was assisted by another doctor. They said the calculus was larger than a bean and too hard to crush, and that they could not take it out.
I returned home suffering greatly, and did not know what to do, but was recommended by a friend to try GIN PILLS. I bought a box and found relief from the pain at once. I took a second and third box of GIN PILLS after which I went back to the specialist.

THEY COULD DO NOTHING FOR HIM

He told me the calculus was reduced in size, still he could not relieve me of it, although he tried for two and a half hours.
I returned home and continued to take GIN PILLS as they reduced the pain very much, but I did not expect they would relieve me of the stone, but to my great joy, I passed the stone on October 3rd, and am now a well man and very happy.
I am sending the stone to you so that you can see for yourself what a great work GIN PILLS did for me. GIN PILLS are the best medicine in the world and because they did so much for me, I will recommend them all the rest of my life".
J. ALBERT LESSARD.

Isn't it wonderful? Just think of these simple pills, that even children can take, being able to perform what the greatest specialists in Canada could not do. Surely, the days of the miracle have not passed away, as long as we have Gin Pills. These wonderful pills dissolve stone in the bladder or kidneys because they are a natural solvent for uric acid, which causes calculus. If GIN PILLS are not sold in your neighborhood, send us 50c. for a box or $2.50 for 6 boxes. Sample free if you write us mentioning this paper. WEAKNESS AND COWARDICE OF GOVERNMENT

(Toronto Globe)

What a spectacle the Government of Canada makes of itself! An alliance of contradictory ideas and mutually exclusive forces, it gives the impression of weakness and cowardice. Every time a real issue is raised there comes a strain between the Tory Orangism and the French Nationalist Ultramontism. It is the lodge against the hierarchy. When the clash of principles imperils the coherence of the Government, the spoils and patronage of office constrain to harmony on the basis of a temporizing and non-committal policy. Quite plainly that is what happened in the matter of the Naval Service Act yesterday. The one thing the Prime Minister made clear was the determination of the Government to repeal the Navy Act, of the Liberal Government to which the British Admiralty gave heartiest approval. For the rest he promised the loyal Tories a new Navy Act and to appease the French-Canadian Nationalists he promised that "before any permanent naval policy is put into force the people will be given an opportunity to pronounce upon it."

There you have the weakness of compromise, the result of confusion and cowardice. Of course it was inevitable. Any such alliance was doomed to just this fate. It served its purpose in the election campaign but in the practical workings of government it has become troublesome indeed already the ultra-Orange Tory journals supporting Mr. Borden are turning on Mr. Bourassa and are "chalking up 'No Popery' on the walls."

On his side the Nationalist leader is beginning to show his teeth. On Saturday The Mail and Empire had a paragraph under a Quebec date line, headed "Bourassa is Angry," in which it was announced that the Nationalist leader is said to be seriously contemplating the idea of severing his alliance with the Conservative party. That statement is of interest not only because of the light it throws on Mr. Bourassa's attitude, but also because of its admission in the chief Ontario organ of the Borden Government, that there now exists a Borden-Bourassa alliance. The action of Laval University students in petitioning Hon. L.P. Pelletier to resign his portfolio as Postmaster-General over the Keewatin school question is also illuminating. And the light in which Mr. Borden's Nationalist colleagues walk is revealed by "L'Evenement" Mr. Pelletier's official organ which said yesterday:

"If the French-Canadians do not resign they must have good reasons for not doing so. These men have already fought for the principle that is now involved and they cannot possibly contradict themselves. If they remain in office it is because they hope by dint of patience and perseverance to obtain justice not only for the Catholic minority in Keewatin, but also for the Catholic minority of the whole of Manitoba."

Will the Nationalists succeed in dictating the policy of the Borden Government? So far they have not failed. They made it a condition of the Borden-Bourassa alliance that the Laurier navy legislation approved by the British Admiralty and once approved by Mr. Borden himself would be repealed. Yesterday Mr. Borden announced the repeal of that legislation. They insisted that a plebiscite be taken on any navy proposal before its enactment. Yesterday Mr. Borden promised that before the

CASCARETS WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP

Salts, Calomel and Cathartic Pills are violent—they act on bowels as pepper acts in nostrils

Take a Cascaret tonight and thoroughly cleanse your Liver, Stomach and Bowels, and you will surely feel great by morning. You men and women who have headache, coated tongue, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have backache and feel all worn out.

Are you keeping clean inside with Cascarets—or merely forcing a passage way every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil? This is important.

Cascarets immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels.

Remember, a Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning. A 10-cent box from your druggist means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children.

BUSY DAY IN CHICAGO

Chicago, Ill., March 8.—From the moment when President Taft steps from the train at nine o'clock tomorrow morning into the arms of a reception committee, until nearly midnight, when the day's program will be concluded, every minute will be turned to account. During the forenoon he is to visit the Armour Institute of Technology; at one o'clock he is to have luncheon with the Union League Club; at four o'clock he is to make a short visit to the Press Club and also at the Taft headquarters in the Hotel La Salle. In the evening he will speak at the banquet of the Illinois Swedish-American Republican League and afterwards will speak briefly at a banquet of the Traffic Club. The principal speech will be at the Swedish-American banquet, which is to be held in celebration of the semi-centennial anniversary of the naval battle between John Ericsson's Monitor and the Merrimack. Besides President Taft, other speakers at the banquet will be Governor Deneen of Illinois, Governor Eberhart of Minnesota and Representative Geo. E. Fos. According to the present plans the President will depart for Washington early Sunday morning.

ST. LOUIS COLLIE SHOW

St. Louis, Mo., March 8.—With an entry list including many of the noted prize-winning collies of America, the annual bench show of the St. Louis Collie Club opened today. The exhibition will last two days and it promises to be one of the best of its kind ever held in the middle west.

Government's navy policy would be put into force the people would be given an opportunity to vote on it. They insisted on the restoration of the separate school system in Manitoba and its continuance in the Keewatin district. And now Hon. Mr. Pelletier through his personal organ declares that the Nationalists will not surrender and will not resign but will fight till they win back what Sir Charles Tupper was unable to hold in 1896. Will they succeed? That is the question involved in the Bourassa-Borden alliance.

FAIR PLAY FOR FARMERS OF NEW BRUNSWICK

(Moncton Transcript)

In pledging the provincial government to provide ready-made farms for immigrants and anybody who wants them, Mr. Flemming raises a whole brood of important and troublesome questions.

When a new railway is projected to open up a new district, when a new industry is to be developed, the aid of the public is invoked as a matter of course; subsidies, bonuses or protective tariffs are generously provided.

The old pioneers who went forth to conquer the wilderness and tame the land to human service received little help, in fact about all the government did for them was to follow along the trail they blazed and levy taxes upon them.

But if the old pioneers asked no favors and expected none, their methods were not remarkable for efficiency. Very often they chose for their farms land with a poor quality of soil, and the process by which they converted the wilderness into farms was slow and laborious. Many, many years passed before they cleared and rendered tillable as much land as they could conveniently cultivate.

A government able to command expert knowledge, and the latest appliances for clearing land, could send a force of men and machines into a district and clear an area for one hundred farms, in a mere fraction of the time one hundred pioneers with small resources working separately on their holdings could clear the same area.

By this method a hundred full-sized farms could be brought under cultivation in a short time whereas under the old pioneer system the hundred farmers would be gray with toil before they developed full-sized farms in a state of production. And perhaps there is just as much reason why the government should take up the work of clearing the land as to build highways or railways; certainly it would be the most efficient plan of promoting the development of agriculture.

But unfortunately a government which undertook to provide ready-made farms would inevitably involve itself in a multitude of difficulties. If it provided one immigrant with a ready-made farm it would be more or less morally bound to provide every other immigrant and every native of the province who wanted such a farm and was or thought he was, able to meet the conditions of payment—possibly a very large order.

If the government as Mr. Flemming proposes undertakes to supply ready-made farms at prices based on the cost of improving them, it will not be acting fairly with the immigrants, because as a general rule it will cost more to establish a farm on poor land than on good land, that is to say the government will become a party to the creation of inequalities of opportunity between the immigrants by selling highly productive farms at lower prices than those of moderate fertility.

If the government selects only the best land out of which to create farms,—as having expert knowledge at its command, it is likely to do, it will give the newcomers an advantage over the native farmers whose holdings were settled at a time when the average pioneer had little scientific knowledge of soils; for the newcomers working farms of superior fertility will be able to undersell the native farmers in a competitive market.

That is to say the government would be utilizing the money of our own people to enable immigrants to obtain an unfair advantage over an important section of our own people.

Noe it is only fair to say that in spite of these objections the idea of having the government provide improved farms for immigrants deserves serious consideration, much more consideration than Mr. Flemming appears to have given it. The government may very well embark upon such a policy if it first undertakes to assume the very onerous responsibilities which are involved in such policy and endeavors to fulfill a number of broad conditions essential to agricultural development generally. But if it adopts such a policy without meeting certain conditions and assuming certain responsibilities it will be doing a serious injustice to our own farmers. One of these responsibilities should be obvious to even Mr. Flemming.

Before utilizing the people's money for the benefit of immigrants the government is morally bound to take measures to prevent the native farmers being injured by the competition of immigrants working improved farms and about the only way it can meet that responsibility is to open larger markets and provide better marketing facilities—to secure reciprocity and get to work organizing co-operative agencies for handling the farmers' products.

Attention may be directed to another important consequence of Mr. Flemming's improved farm policy. If the government is going to loan farms to immigrants on a five per cent basis, it should be prepared to loan money to the native farmers to pay off mortgages or for development purposes at 5 per cent. If it does not do this, if it accords to one class terms which it refuses another, it will soon forfeit public confidence.

"SALT RHEUM"

Had It On Hands For Two Years.

ITCHED SO DID NOT KNOW WHAT TO DO.

Tried Three Doctors and Went to Hospital.

All skin diseases are more or less occasioned by a bad state of the blood, and no one can expect to be free from some form or other of skin trouble unless the blood is kept in good shape. All skin diseases can be very easily cured by the wonderful blood cleansing properties of Burdock Blood Bitters.

This is due to the unrivalled purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters on the blood, coupled with the thorough manner in which it cleanses and expels the impurities from the body.

Mrs. Richard Coutine, White Head, Que., writes:—"I have been bothered with salt rheum, on my hands, for two years, and it itched so I did not know what to do. I tried three doctors, and even went to Montreal to the hospital without getting any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, so I got three bottles, and before I had the second used I found a big change, and now to-day I am cured."

Burdock Blood Bitters has been on the market for about 35 years and is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CALGARY HAS CAUGHT THE GOLD FEVER

Calgary, March 7.—Calgary has gone gold mad over a reported discovery of gold bearing quartz on the shores of Ghost River, about sixty miles northwest of the Alberta capital, and although according to the best authority, there is nothing more than a bare possibility that there is gold in paying quantities in the district, the people have the "fever" in earnest.

The only find up to date was made by an old timer, Terrance Brady, who says he has found a ledge which is many miles in extent, and that the surface ore is the richest he has ever seen.

BURGLARS DESECRATE NOTED CATHEDRAL

Pisa via, London, Mar. 7.—Burglars succeeded in unlocking the doors of the Cathedral at night and stole valuables. These included three ancient lamps, an a crucifix of solid silver. They stripped the corpse of Bishop of Rianore of a very valuable gold robe, mitre ring and a cross and chain. They also damaged paintings and altar pieces in an attempt to detach them the frames and scattered the consecrated wafers on the floor.

The cathedral has been closed until it can be consecrated again because of the desecration.

A WOMAN DOCTOR

Was Quick to Discover What Was Doing the Mischief.

A lady tells of a bad case of coffee poisoning (Tea is equally harmful, because it contains caffeine—the same drug found in coffee) and tells it in a way so simple and straightforward that literary skill could not improve it.

"I had neuralgic headaches for 12 years," she says, "and have suffered untold agony. When I first began to have them I weighed 140 pounds, but they brought me down to 110.

"I went to many doctors and they gave me only temporary relief. So I suffered on, till one day, a woman doctor advised me to drink Postum. She said I looked like I was coffee poisoned.

"So I began to drink Postum, and gained 15 pounds in the first few weeks and am still gaining, but not so fast as at first. My headaches began to leave me after I had used Postum about two weeks—long enough, I expect, to get the coffee poison out of my system.

"Now that a few months have passed since I began to use Postum, I can gladly say that I never know what a neuralgic headache is like any more, and it was nothing but Postum that relieved me.

"Before I used Postum I never went out alone. I would get bewildered and would not know which way to turn. Now I go alone and my head is as clear as a bell. My brain and nerves are stronger than they have been for years." Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont.

"There's a reason," and it was explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville" in pkgs.
