Woodstock Snowed Under by Fredericton Yesterday

Locals Develop Winning Method and Shake Hoodoo in Great Swatfeast at Scully's Grove--Brennan Shapes up well in Opening Game--Oh you Hannah!

The locals walloped Woodstock yesterday in most approved fashion. From a spectators standpoint the play can hardly be commended, but as a bread-winner it must have looked good to the locals who have lately been more or less overfed with misfortune. Fredericton showed in the first inning that they had had a surfeit of defeats when they put on their famous vaudeville stunt and annexed seven tallies in a merry-go-round pantomime. Belliveau was wild, executing a number of passes, and his benders easy. His choicest offerings were meat for the locals and were distributed promiscuously over the landscape.

It was not the fault of Fredericton though that the local fans were not fittingly entertained as the Ganley-Dugganites left little to be demanded in the way of snappy ball.

Errors on the part of Woodstock however were plenty and the bone-head stunts that they inflicted on a long suffering fandom, were puerile and hardly smacked of professional base ball. Corcoran alone seemed the brains of the team at yesterday's sitting, and was the only bright spot in an otherwise apparently disorganized infield.

BRENNAN TIRED OUT

Brown started the game for Fredericton, but after the handsome lead amassed by the locals in the first inning, it was considered a waste of strength to continue him in the box and Brennan, the young Dorchester High School pitcher, was called upon to serve them 'up to the visitors. It was soon discovered that Brennan had quite an assortment of curves, and his work was well received by the fans. His long fly to deep centre in the seventh inning also looks as if he might have a wallop or two in his make up.

The willow was used by the locals in very excellent form Hoyt, Ganley and Brown hitting consistently and laying onto the quandang were it would do the meet harm. Black, Perley and O'Donnell for the visitors had two pretty drives each, the former being responsible for two of Woodstock tallies.

BASE RUNNING

The third inning furnished some daring base running which would have evoked the hearty approval of the fans if any question had remained of the ultimate result. Fitzgerald's run from first to home on Brown's two bagger, followed by Brown's daring sprint from second to the plate on Fay's sacrifice was a practical illustration of meeting opportunity when it knocks. Ganley also was prominent on the bases. While it is hardly fitting to detract in any way from the excellent brand of ball put up by Brown it may be said in this particular that he over exerts himself a trifle on the bases. A pitcher owes too great a duty to his team to endanger himself by unnecessary freedom on the circuit.

HAPPY FEATURES

Corcoran scintillated in the fourth when he covered first to haul in O'Donnell's throw to catch Wildes at first and his brilliant stop of a hot one from Brown's bat in the same inning brought the congregation standing.

Brennan also fielded a good position and Duggan's throw to catch Perley at the plate in the sixth was one of the features of the game. P. J. had immediately before chalked up an error, when he allowed Kling safe at first, but his quick recovery put him right with the fans. P. J. like all other mortals is both peccable and fallible, but unlike many he uses his brain.

Perley likewise came in for his made of praise by his running catch of Bob Conley's sacrifice fly to deep left field in the fifth, and his quick return to catch Duggan stealing third on the throw in.

WOODSTOCK'S RUNS

Woodstock couldn't get started till the third and then only two runs resulted from a base on balls and three hits, one of which was a triple. Until then Brown was an enigma. At this stage, however, Belliveau walked, Delano was an easy out by the free transportation and scored on Brown's safety. Ganley romped home with the final tally in the fifth on successive hits by himself and Duggan. In the final stages Woodstock thought the locals had enough and the management was satisfied. Below is a detailed account of the obstacles. Score by innings:

WHERE WE RANG IN.

Errors by Black and Cooney presented Fay and Ganley with the freedom of the initial sack. Duggan dropped a rib in front of one and Bob Conley walked forcing the first run. Then Hannah Hoyt appeared. He gracefully leaned up against a carefully selected shoot from Mr. Belliveau's repertoire and two more runs were amassed. Not to be out done in generosity Messrs Bob Conley, Wildes and Brown stepped into a few offerings, and when the smoke had cleared the locals had annexed seven tallies in the preliminary bout.

Fitzgerald walked in the third and was brought around by Brown's two-bagger. Brown scored on Fay's sacrifice. Ganley doubled. Duggan received a life on Cooney's error and in the mixup Ganley scored. Duggan was caught stealing third and Conley was an easy out--Fredericton 10.

In the fourth two more tallies were chalked up for the locals. Hoyt again beguiled Mr. Belliveau into putting a nice one over, and before it could be relayed back Hannah was perched on third. B. Conley received

GREAT AQUATIC CONTEST ON THE HUDSON

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., June 28--With the expectation of witnessing the greatest aquatic event of the year, thousands of enthusiastic followers of the sport came flocking into Poughkeepsie today to attend the seventeenth annual regatta of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association which is to be held tomorrow on the Hudson River course. The day's programme will consist of three contests the variety four-oared race, at two miles, the freshmen eight oared race, at two miles, and the variety eight-oared race at four miles.

In the big event of the day the race of the variety eights, six crews will participate. They are Cornell, Pennsylvania, Syracuse, Columbia, Wisconsin and a newcomer on the Hudson, Leland Stanford of California. With weeks of grueling practice at an end, the six crews are awaiting the start of the big race with confidence.

Although open pool sailing is not permitted, there is keen interest among the backers of the various crews and many individual wagers are being placed. Cornell rules the favorite in the betting, although many backers are to be found for several of the other crews.

Wisconsin's crew this year is believed to be the best that has ever been sent to Poughkeepsie from Madison, and followers of the sport expect to see it figure prominently in the race. In view of the strong showing made by Columbia last year and the good work of the men this year there is a feeling that the crew from Morningside Heights has an unusually strong chance of winning. Syracuse again has an ambitious collection of oarsmen but a win for either Syracuse or Pennsylvania in the big race would prove a surprise to the critics. Stanford has never before taken part in a four mile contest, and is not expected to figure prominently in tomorrow's race.

Charles A. Courtney, the veteran coach of Cornell says his men are trained to the top-notch of condition. He makes no prediction about the result, but his opinion has served to strengthen the general expectation that the Ithacans will be in front at the finish.

It has become a habit of the Cornell crews to sweep the river at the intercollegiate regattas. During the past twelve years Cornell has won the variety eight-oared nine times. The Ithacans also hold the record for the course, the crew of 1901 establishing a mark of 18 minutes, 3 and 1-3 seconds. Pennsylvania won in 1900 but has not won since. In 1904 Syracuse won the race and also won in 1908. In the other years since 3900 Coach Courtney's crews have led the other shells home. Last year Columbia was in the lead until near the finish when one of her oarsmen collapsed and Cornell shot ahead, winning by a slight margin in one of the closest and most exciting struggles ever waged between college oarsmen.

RECENT BOUTS

Philadelphia, Pa., June 25--Charley Turner had a slight advantage over Willie Moody in the windup of the Spring Garden Athletic Club tonight. Turner forced the fighting in most of the rounds. His aggressiveness was enough to earn him the verdict.

Rockaway Beach, June 25--Jeff Smith of Bayonne, N.J., had the better of Jimmy Howard of Chicago in their 10-round bout tonight before the Atlas A. C. Smith earned the honors in the majority of rounds.

Mordcaai Brown seems to have returned to form.

EVERYTHING READY FOR JOHNSON-- FLYNN FIGHT

Johnson has Trained Down to 215 Pounds--Flynn Expected to Enter at 188

Las Vegas, N.M., June 25--Johnson is in great condition. The champion was given a general tryout today by his trainer who asked him to work one hour at top speed. Marty Cutler was first taken on for five rounds and Respass was unable to go farther than three rounds, the latter being put completely out. Johnson did his usual twelve miles in the morning.

The arena in which the Flynn-Johnson battle will be fought here on July 4 is complete and everything is in readiness for the bout.

Johnson has trained down to 215 pounds and will make 212 by the day of the battle. Flynn, weighs 190 and will weigh in at about 188 pounds according to his statement.

Las Vegas, June 25--Hugh McIntosh the Australian promoter has written Jack Johnson and offered $30,000 for a bout to be fought in Australia within the next year.

It is supposed Johnson's prospective antagonist is Sam Langford although the name of the colored fighter is not mentioned. McIntosh offers to post at once a forfeit of $10,000 as a guarantee of good faith. Johnson has not yet decided whether he will accept.

FREDERICTON AT ST. JOHN TODAY

Dinsmore and Tarbell will be the opposing pitchers in the game this afternoon in St. John. The Greeks spent yesterday afternoon and morning in practice and it is said that each man got in some good work with the stick.

The game this afternoon is to start at 3.30 o'clock.

Hughie Pinkerton is to remain with the team the rest of the season, which looks like the right thing. If Chic Fraser can hit he will be a good one to have around. Winckler and Fraser made a mistake in their transportation arrangements and landed at St. John's Que., and did not arrive in St. John yesterday as expected. Fraser will be on the team this afternoon.

Jack Nelson has had an offer from Dominion No. 1, and as the salary offered is attractive it is likely that he will accept.

Brown will pitch for Fredericton tomorrow afternoon while Winckler will be given a trial by the Greek management.

BASEBALL NOTES

Seventeen straight for Rube Marquard.

Ed Walsh is continuing to show the results of his early season overwork. Boston increased its lead over the White Sox by a half a game while laying off in Washington. The Red Sox now have 102 points lead over the White Sox and Senators.

The Red Sox have played 22 games since they left home on the evening of May 30 and have won 16 games losing six. After dropping five of the first six games played they have won 15 of 16 games played.

Walter Johnson will pitch one of the games today for the Senators against the Red Sox. All of the citizens of Washington not over in Baltimore for the convention will be on hand to see Johnson try to stop the "Sped Boys."

Pres McAleer and Treas McRoy yesterday signed Douglas Smith, a left-handed pitcher of Turners Falls High School who has been doing some splendid work for the Miller's Falls team this year. Pat Moran was anxious to get the youngster for Philadelphia Patsy Donovan of the Red Sox saw Smith strike out 18 men in a game and persuaded him to come to Boston. Smith was at the Boston-Brooklyn game yesterday and his case is probably the first on record in which an American League president has gone to a National League ball park to secure a player's signature to a contract.

The Red Sox have three postponed games to play with the Yankees, but it is doubtful if more than two games will be played off on the coming visit of the Highlanders to Boston.

There will be a double-header Friday and Saturday anyway and it will remain with the home management whether another double-header will be played at the first of the week.

Infielder Krug of the Red Sox is working out at Fenway Park daily and will be in shape to get into the thick of the fray when the team returns.
