FLORENCE FARBANKS
ON FADS AND FASHIONS

New York, Jan. 13.—This is the season of the year when social functions are most numerous and when girls have reached the "coming-out" age are formally introduced to society. The question of dress is, naturally, an extremely important matter to every debutante, as everyone of them wishes to make a favorable impression on the occasion of her entrance into society. This year's debutantes are usually fortunate, for never did fashion favor the young so much as it does now.

Youthful dance frocks are extremely attractive at present. Most debutantes prefer their evening frocks round rather than trained, because they have not yet tired of dancing and do not wish to be hindered by their trains. Chiffon, satin, tulle, lace and tiny flowerets are the materials of which nine out of ten of the prettiest dancing frocks are made, but, of course, there is an infinite variety in the combinations and in the arrangement of decolletage and sleeves, the color scheme, the trimming details, etc.

A good deal of fine gossamerlike lace enters into many of these youthful evening frocks, appearing in scant or perfectly flat flounces in slightly revealed petticoats, in little echus, etc., and fine silver lace plays an important role, being far more popular for youthful toilettes than gold. Where the tunic is of some soft silk instead of chiffon or tulle it is quite likely to fall over a lace flounced petticoat and quaint effects suggestive of Watteau are obtained by drapery caught back and held by little nosegays or wreaths or single blossoms.

One must reckon with those flowerets in planning evening frocks for the girl. They are shown in innumerable forms and colors and used in innumerable ways. Often some bits of originality in the grouping or color scheme of these little flowers is the thing that stamps the frock with success. Flowers are not confined to the girls' evening dresses. They figure, vividly or demurely, upon her visiting costume, her furs her hats, and the importers show a charming assortment of flower clusters or nosegays suitable for such purposes.

For afternoon costumes, costumes for visiting, teas, luncheons, etc., velvets is as popular with the girls as with the older, and more mature women and the coat and skirt costume of velvet, simply made and worn with a chic blouse and good furs, is almost a uniform in well dressed crowds, though the one-piece velvet and chiffon, velvet and charmeuse, worn under a separate coat is quite as popular, and there are countless charming one-piece frocks in charmeuse and other silks and in cloth, usually made on very simple lines with narrow skirt, high waist and a clinging little bodice showing some original details to give the model individuality.

The cascade style of frock, buttoning straight down the front, is liked for these little frocks, but tunic effects, albeit long and clinging, are more and more gaining ground and it looks as if the perfectly plain narrow skirt had run its course. One piece frocks in serge, cloth, velvet, etc., are indispensable for morning wear nowadays and every girl has at least two or three of these in her debutante outfit, some of them being quite smart enough to serve for informal luncheon or afternoon use, though without losing their air of tailored simplicity.

There are little velvet frocks too which are considered quite in order for morning wear, and the simplest sort of velvet two-piece costume is seen on the streets in the mornings, along with the corduroys, velveteens and wool suits, though it will not stand as hard wear as the others and is inappropriate for many uses to which a plainly tailored tweed or serge may be put.

Silks for afternoon and evening wear are especially lovely just now. The oriental colorings still prevail and the effects are more elaborate and gorgeous than formerly. The pastel shades are still in favor for the debutante. A great variety of broad-based silks in dull colors is used. These are charming when veiled with nets or chiffons. The new figured chiffons are exquisite. In bold stripes or shadowy patterns, they are spangled with tiny crystal beads, suggesting dewdrops.

The dinner gown of the present day is artistic in every sense of the word the return of the train and the shawl drapery makes this gown one of grace and fascination. Fringe trimmings are used lavishly upon the shawl draperies. In many of the most exquisite gowns of that kind brocades and heavy silks with gleamings of gold or silver thread running through the back ground are used. In chiffons and mousselines this use of metal threads is common, and they veil brilliantly hued silks made into housses and entire costumes. The velvets that are used for evening coats may be described as regal Embossed velvet in all the right bright colors is made up in wraps, long coats and three quarter length capes that can be easily thrown about the shoulders without creasing the gown.

Gowns of changeable taffeta are still fashionable. The newest models are trimmed with scalloped ruffles. This is a decidedly new touch, for it means that skirts are fuller.

Dresses of pongee or Knon for children are attractive with the yoke, sleeves and skirts finished with scalloped embroidered with bright-colored silk or linen.

Revers of satin, faille and some of the new novelty corded silks are much in evidence. Terry cloth, particularly in white, is considered a smart trimming and is being used in the better class of suits.

Coats are generally short at present and on some tassels trim the skirt and coat. Very smart long coats of white serge are being made by fashionable tailors for wear at southern winter resorts. Women wear these coats over outing costumes.

Cloaks, scarfs and stoles are made of supple and pliable plush. The gloss and texture of this new material in a dark brown shade give the impression of seal.

Many of the new skirts are trimmed. Some show the tunic with underpetticoat; others have side trimmings, and some have loops and buttons.

Belts are used on some wraps, some of which are of leather in black, matching or contrasting shades.

CENTRAL BLISSVILLE.

San. 15.—Not seeing any items from Central Blissville for a while, we would like to let the other districts know how we are getting on.

Work here is in full swing just now. Although there is not much snow yet, good hauling is being done on the roads.

The lumber from Mr. L. B. Smith's mills is being hauled to Bailey Siding and loaded on cars. It is not an uncommon sight to see a sled coming along with about 4,000 feet of sawn lumber.

Mr. Byers has commenced hauling pulpwood from Bass Creek for Mr. G. Smith. This will be quite a job as they have about 1,000 cords to haul from the above place and the woods in Blissville.

School has again commenced and we are glad to see Miss Jenkins here again for the term.

We opened with our new school house, which is much larger than the old one and is altogether a great improvement.

Messrs. Lawrence and Daye have finished their contract of sawing pulp wood for Mr. G. Smith.

Mrs. C. Knox has fourteen men boarding there and everything is in fine style. She is ably assisted by her daughter and Miss L. Carr.

The marriage between Mr. Winslow Smith and Miss B. Harris of Hoyt, was solemnized on Wednesday last at Fredericton at the residence of Rev. G. Foster, who performed the ceremony. Miss M. Harris, sister of the bride, attended as bridesmaid. Mr. W. Cogswell of Oromocto, did the duty of best man. The bride was very nicely attired in a grey travelling suit, in which she looked charming. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left by the 5.50 train for Fredericton Junction and were met by Mr. H. Rowan of Lincoln, who was driving a pair of fancy wedding bays, which seemed to want to keep up the day with a good run home to Mrs. C. Knox's. After being received by the guests, who numbered about forty, they went to the dining-room, where a sumptuous supper awaited them. After supper the evening was very joyously spent with dancing and singing until the wee small hours of the morn. Mrs. Smith was the recipient of very many handsome presents, which show the high esteem in which she was held. All their friends wish them a long and happy life.

Got A Pain
In Your Back?

IF YOU HAVE
HEED THE WARNING.

You get a pain in your back, and you wonder what is the matter. When the back aches or becomes weak it is a warning that the kidneys are affected in some way.

Heed the warning; cure the weak, lame, aching back and dispose of any chances of further trouble. If you don't do this, serious complications are very apt to arise, and the first thing you know you will be troubled with Dropsy, Diabetes or Bright's Disease; the three most deadly forms of kidney trouble.

On the first sign of a pain in the back, Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken. They go right to the seat of the trouble, cure the backache and prevent any further complications arising.

Mr. Stewart Johnston, Richardson Mines, N.S., writes:—"For years I was troubled with my back, and I had to give up work. I tried Dr. after Dr., and was getting no better. I had almost given up hope when I began to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I took three boxes of them, and found I was completely cured. I feel I owe my life to Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. When ordering direct specify "Doan's."

MONTREAL ICE MEN HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Montreal, Que., Jan. 16.—With the land marks blotted out by the falling snow driven by a wind which sweeps from the east, nine men employed as ice cutters by the City Ice Company crashed through the ice yesterday and came within an ace of losing their lives. Although the fact has not been established as to how many men were on the ferry at the time, it is thought that a man named Belinas lost his life. The horses and sled sank in the swift current and were lost.

PETERSVILLE

Jan. 15.—The cold wave seems to be all over for the present and the weather is moderating fast. The people of this place say it is many years since they have experienced such cold.

James Gallagher is steadily improving in health.

Miss Marie Coll is enjoying good health after severe attack of tonsillitis and lagrippe.

Mr. Shannon has been called on by Wm. Woods, to examine his engine and boiler which were not working with satisfaction.

Mr. Thomas Mersereau is calling for teams to haul pulp wood, and has secured the service of many.

Mrs. Joseph Kelly is recovering after a long period of sickness.

CENTRAL KINGSCLEAR.

Jan. 15.—The weather for the past few days has been very cold, but there are indications of milder weather at present.

Mr. B. P. Cliffe of St. John, spent a few days with his sister, Mrs. Hedley Kilburn.

Mr. James Thorburn and daughter Ellen, spent a few days at the guests of Mr. Charles Kilburn at "The Elms."

There was a pie social held at the home of Messrs. Randolph and Frank Kilburn, Kingarth, Friday evening. A goodly number of young folks attended and spent a pleasant evening. The sum of $11.70 was raised to be used for church purposes.

Mr. Harry Cliffe of Burden, spent a few days last week the guest of friends of this place.

Mrs. George Kilburn and Mrs. Annie Kilburn have returned home after spending several months at St. Camille, Quebec.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. George Kilburn, who recently lost her little son.

Miss Anna Cliffe, our late teacher, has decided not to teach this term.

Scraps have a rival in little capes made of mousseline de sole trimmed with embroidery. The long slender ends are graceful and make up the easily handled.
