MGR. PRENDERGAST INVESTED WITH PALLIUM

Philadelphia, Jan. 31—Before a distinguished portion of the Roman Catholic hierarchy of the United States including the three American cardinals and numerous archbishops and bishops the Most Rev. Edmund F. Prendergast, archbishop of Philadelphia was today invested with the sacred pallium. This insignia is the official recognition by the church of the archbishop's power to succeed to the functions of the late Archbishop Ryan who died February 11 last.

The ceremony took place in the Cathedral of S. S. Peter and Paul. The structure was decked in the papal colors, yellow and white, interspersed with the American colors and the archbishop's purple. The rarity and significance of the occasion and the presence of so many dignitaries of the Church attracted a large crowd. The vicinity of the Cathedral was roped off entirely an hour before the ceremonies began.

Shortly after 10 o'clock a solemn procession of 150 clergymen wended its way to the cathedral and a throng of other persons crowded the edifice. Following the pontifical mass which was sung by Bishop John E. Fitzmaurice, head of the Erie diocese, the pallium was placed on the altar.

Cardinal Gibbons presided at the ceremony. Mgr. John J. McCort, vicar general of the archdiocese, officiated as assistant priest. Bishop Canevin delivered the sermon, and the students of St. Charles Borromeo Seminary furnished the music.

When the new archbishop has renewed his oath of allegiance and fidelity to the holy see, Cardinal Gibbons rose from his seat, and lifting the pallium from the altar laid it upon the shoulders of the archbishop. As soon as the declaration of the Cardinal was made investing the pallium, Archbishop Prendergast ascended the altar and pronounced the papal benediction.

The conferring of the sacred pallium was instituted in the fourth century, and to a new archbishop it is the insignia of power and authority from Rome as well as allegiance to the head of the Church. The vestment is a band of white wool with two penitential crosses of the same material, while inserted in it are six purple crosses, the whole being worn about the shoulders and fastened with three jewels, an amethyst, a topaz and a ruby. The pallium is made of the wool of two white lambs offered at the feast of St. Agnes, the virgin and martyr. It is woven by the nuns of the convent of Terre de Spoechi.

The Most Rev. Edmund F. Prendergast, the new archbishop of Philadelphia, was born in Ireland sixty-nine years ago. He came to America in 1859, and six years later, in the very cathedral where he today was invested with the pallium, he was ordained a priest. He served in various churches in eastern Pennsylvania and in 1847 he was made rector of St. Malachy's Church, in this city, of which he is still nominally the rector. Fourteen years ago he was made auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia, and eleven years ago Archbishop Ryan appointed him administrator of the archdiocese, to take effect after the death of the archbishop.

PERKINS TELLS HOW TO SUCCEED

New York, Jan. 31—George W. Perkins, who started his business career as an office boy in Chicago and later became a partner of J. P. Morgan and Company in the banking business was fifty years old today. The eminent financier did not permit the anniversary to interfere with the ordinary routine of work. Just at present Mt. Perkins is an exceedingly busy man, for if rumor is correct, he is looking after the financial end of the Roosevelt presidential boom, in addition to giving his time and attention to the many great business enterprises in which he is interested. When asked to give his advice to young men who are eager to succeed in life he replied: "Keep pegging away. Time and condition may change but the old rule remains the same, that there is no success without keeping everlastingly at it."

OGILVIES TO ERECT ANOTHER MILL

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 31—A. Black, general manager of the Ogilvie Milling Company, returned from a tour of the west Tuesday, where he is seeking a location for another huge mill. He has not announced his selection, but he says the Oriental demand for Canadian grain products from which so much was anticipated a few years ago has proven disappointing. Only a supply of low grade flour is taken in the Orient at present, and in a very limited quantity, he asserted.

FINANCIAL and COMMERCIAL

LOTS OF BEARS IN MONTREAL.

There are some bears in the local stock market who are bears with a capital B. They believe the market has been pulled to a standstill, and that a charge of dynamite couldn't put it up any higher.

"Are you short of anything?" a trader was asked yesterday.

"I'm short of everything," he replied. "There is no pepper to this market of ours, and if a selling movement ever starts, the list will slide off easily."

This is a representative expression of opinion of the bears who are now operating in Montreal.

In the olden days 99 out of every 100 traders in Montreal were bulls. They have learned to take both sides of the market since, and it is doubtful if today the bulls are in the majority.—Star.

TEN TIMES MORE THAN HOLLINGER.

A local financial man was walking along St. James Street the other day with a lot of papers under his arm.

"I have here," he said, "the particulars of a western coal property. Expert engineers figure that there are 150,000,000 tons of coal in sight. But, say that there are only 100,000,000 tons, and that the profit is only $1 a ton—I know it will be more, but say that it's only $1—that's $100,000,000!"

"That," he continued, "is just ten times more than Hollinger has in sight. Yet people went pop-eyed when they heard about Hollinger's $10,000,000, but wouldn't stop to listen about my little $100,000,000."

"There is romance in gold and none in coal. That's the answer," he said. And he walked on.—Star.

DETROIT RAILWAY AND MONTREAL CAPITAL.

(Detroit Saturday Night.)

Prejudice against the investment of foreign capital in Detroit can still be successfully appealed to, as was manifested by the frequent sneers at the "Montreal stockholders" by the newspapers and orators on the anti-franchise side. What the promotion of this sort of thing means to Detroit needs no explanation. If the town can be taught to hate foreign stockholders hard enough and to drive them out altogether, our street railway problem will be greatly simplified, for we won't need any new cars or extensions.

C.P.R. NET PROFITS.

The U.S. roads will have to take of their hats, so to speak, to the C.P.R.

Net profits for December were $4,105,730, a gain of $819,196, while for the six months the net profits are $24,470,247, an increase of $1,853,539.

WORKING FOR THEIR CLERKS.

(New York Post.) There is now a saying that brokers, instead of working for themselves, are working for their clerks. It is not uncommon to hear a broker affirm that if it were not for his organization and his disinclination to throw his employees out, he would discontinue his business. He does not always mean it. The unprofitableness of brokerage has been less complained when the volume of Stock Exchange transactions was smaller. A market of 400,000 to 600,000 shares a day is not, on the tape, a starving market. Wall Street has subsisted uncomplainingly upon less. It is rather the distribution than the volume of business that makes brokerage so lean in the average. The proportion of professional trading and pool manipulation is the volume of business transacted by brokers for customers is uncommonly large. Professional traders and pools do their business in the most economical manner. No commissions are wasted. Besides, the banks have taken a lot of business away from brokers; they transact it direct for clients, who formerly would have been customers of the broker, and carry stocks for them which formerly the broker would have carried. In one case a bank does a great deal of Stock Exchange business through a director who holds a seat.

MR. PLUMMER SEES PREMIER.

Ottawa, Jan. 30—Mr. J. H. Plummer, president of the Dominion Steel Corporation, and Senator MacKay had an interview last night with the prime minister respecting the bounty on pig iron.

The Steel interests are strongly pressing their claim for at least a temporary bounty and an enquiry into the whole business by the tariff commission. That the latter will be granted is undoubted. The bounty question is undoubtedly a cabinet matter will not long be delayed. The secret, but it is believed an announcement is now looking for it when the budget speech is delivered.

Furthermore, it is generally thought that a measure of assistance will be forthcoming. The exact character and extent of it, however, is rather uncertain, so some of the members say.

WILL WAGE WAR ON HARRIMAN ROADS.

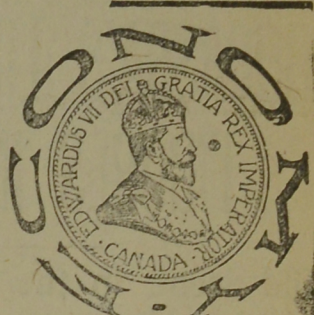

New York, Jan. 30—Reports that a readjustment of the western railroad situation is pending, continue to be circulated in Wall Street, despite the denials put forth a few days ago. The combine is to be one of the Hill, Gould and Morgan interests against the Harriman roads, according to one account today, and will mean control of properties from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The Herald today says of the plan:

"Controlling the railroad situation in the east, the Hill-Morgan group is now prepared to dominate the roads west of the Mississippi River. Plans are being considered for a joint ownership of the two Gould roads, the Denver and Rio Grande and the Western Pacific, to be divided between the Missouri Pacific and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy systems, which will give the Hill line a through route from Chicago to the Pacific Coast."

"Blair & Company, who financed the greater part of the Western Pacific project, are known to lean favorably toward an alliance with the Hill system. It is thought that the Rock Island may also enter into the new combination. Benjamin F. Rush, president of the Missouri Pacific System, who was recently elected president of the Denver & Rio Grande, is known to be in favor of alliance with the Burlington."

WRITE your name and address in the lines above, clip out this ad, and mail it now. We will send, by return mail, a book that tells how to make yours a "Twentieth Century" farm.

You wouldn't be satisfied to use a scythe to cut your grain, when a modern harvester can do it so much better, would you? Nor to use the old soft-iron plough-share that your ancestors walked behind, when you can get an up-to-date riding plough? Every Canadian farmer realizes the advantages of Twentieth Century implements.

The next step is

The 20th Century Material—Concrete

Concrete is as far ahead of brick, stone, or wood as the harvester is ahead of the scythe or the riding-plough is ahead of the old iron plough-share.

Concrete is easily mixed, and easily placed. It resists heat and cold as no other material can; hence is best for ice-houses, root-cellar, barns, silos and homes. It never needs repair; therefore it makes the best walks, fence-posts, culverts, grain-tiles, survey monuments, bridges and culverts. It cannot burn; you can clean a concrete poultry-house by filling it with straw and setting the straw afire. The lice, ticks and all germs will be burned, but the house is uninjured.

It is cheap—sand and gravel can be taken from your own farm. Cement, the only material you must buy, forms from one-seventh to one-tenth of the whole volume.

Do you want to know more about Concrete on the Farm? Then write your name and address in the lines above, or on a postcard, mail it to us, and you will receive by return mail a copy of

"What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete"

Not a catalogue, but a 160-page book, profusely illustrated, explaining how you can use concrete on YOUR farm.
