THE TORY CONVENTION

The Tories of York met in convention at the Court House on Saturday and nominated the old ticket composed of Messrs. H. F. McLeod, J. K. Pinder, John A. Young and O. E. Morehouse. Free passes over the railways and the promise of a faction fight succeeded in attracting a crowd sufficient to tax the capacity of the court room. Of the two hundred odd persons who assembled at the crack of the party whip it is not an exaggeration to say that at least one hundred were office holders on the pay roll of either the Dominion or Local Governments. Included in the somewhat cosmopolitan gathering were preventive officers, engrossing clerks, officials of the public works department, road and structural superintendents, game wardens, Legislative door keepers and messengers, fishery guardians and embryonic railway contractors. They were on hand ready to do the bidding of the patronage dispensers and meekly fell into line when the County Master of the Orange Association nominated the present representatives. The Tory bosses of York are past masters at fooling the people and by their action at the convention they were able to make it appear that every thing is lovely and harmonious in their ranks. The determined effort put forth by a wing of the party to oust Mr. Young from the ticket resulted in disastrous failure. He was offered a government job, but declined it, and stood out firmly for a re-nomination. He was bitterly opposed by Mr. McLeod, but had a staunch friend in Mr. Pinder, and his success in overcoming his enemies in the party ranks is due to the fact that the King of the Nackawick wields a more potent influence in the county today than does the Hon. Provincial Secretary. Mr. Pinder was the holder of the trump card and when he planked it down on the table, Ex-Warden Brooks, Dr. Mullin, W. S. Tompkins, Ald. Guthrie and other aspirants for a place on the ticket, were compelled to retire from the game. Beaten and humiliated by his ancient enemy the Provincial Secretary in order to save his own bacon, was compelled to accept as colleagues, men whose confidence he does not enjoy, men who have nothing in common with him except a burning desire to be next to the loaves and fishes.

The candidates made speeches at the convention and while they hurled a lot of abuse at their opponents they did not devote a great deal of their time to an account of their stewardship as representatives of the people. Mr. Pinder for instance neglected to explain why Hon. Mr. Hazen when forming his administration had utterly ignored his long services to the party by handing over a portfolio to his junior colleague, Mr. McLeod. He neglected also to say that as a result of this act of ingratitude on the part of Mr. Hazen, the relations between himself and Mr. McLeod had become so strained that it was utterly impossible for them to work together in harmony for the public good.

Mr. McLeod as was to be expected told of the alleged great achievements of the government, but neglected to tell the convention that he had utterly failed to govern his own colleagues. He neglected also to describe his relations with Mr. Pinder in detail, although had he seen fit to unbosom himself he could have told the convention a very racy and interesting narrative.

Mr. Young, who posed as a great temperance man at the time of his election, neglected to explain why one of his first acts was to recommend a man who had been fined for selling liquor for the position of school book vendor. He neglected also to explain why, after promising a government position to a prominent party worker of Stanley he had tried his level best to have his own son appointed to the job.

Nobody expected Dr. Morehouse to render an account of his stewardship and therefore there was no disappointment at his failure to make any great oratorical spread. The worthy doctor has only occupied a seat in the House for a little more than a year, and therefore has fewer sins to answer for than his illustrious colleagues. He is a man of few words and during his short legislative career has been very successful in living up to his reputation. Previous to entering politics he inspected bridges as a sort of side line to his professional work and occasionally contributed articles to the public press on "the general cussedness of things."

As machine politicians and hide-bound supporters of the government the members for York have been a success. They have quarrelled over patronage matters, and have kept their personal interests to the forefront and neglected the interests of the county. As promoters of useful legislation their record is a blank one. They promised to give the people good roads, but everybody knows that the highways of this county have not been in such a wretched condition in a quarter of a century as they are today. They have been thick and then supporters of a government which went into power pledged to economy, but which has been the means of increasing the controllable expenditure by $440,000 and has increased the public debt by over one million dollars. As representatives of the people, they have failed to measure up to the standard and it is difficult to see on what ground they can appeal to the electorate for a renewal of public confidence.

Premier Flemming never loses an opportunity to boast of the great things his government has done for the working men. What are the facts? When they wanted a bridge inspected on the Keswick stream they employed a medical doctor and paid him $95 for doing the work. When a bridge inspector was needed in the Parish of Manners-Sutton a tombstone maker was detailed for the job. He painted the structure and was actually paid by the government for inspecting his own work. There are samples of the methods employed by the honest business like Flemming administration.

His Gracious Majesty King George V. celebrated his 47th birthday today. His Majesty, following in the footsteps of Edward the Peacemaker and Victoria the good has proved himself a wise and constitutional sovereign in every sense of the term, and has greatly endeared himself to his millions of loyal subjects. All over his world wide empire there will be congratulations and heartfelt wishes that his reign may be long and glorious.

One of the greatest needs of the farmers of New Brunswick today is cheaper money. Mr. Copp, the opposition leader stands pledged to such a policy while Premier Ziemming has promised to provide ready made farms for immigrants who will enter into competition with the native farmers. Mr. Copp has decidedly the best end of the argument.

Mr. O. S. Crockett, who has been harboring a grudge since last fall, because of Premier Bordens failure to take him into the cabinet attended the Tory convention on Saturday and predicted a majority of 3000 for the Tory candidates in York. He was silent on the subject of "broken promises," however.

Some of the Tory heeler who are clamoring for sub-contracts on the Valley Railway haven't sufficient practical knowledge to build a snake fence as it should be built, yet we are told that the Valley Railway is to be a high class road.

The policy of the Flemming government in catering to franchise grabbers and representatives of the big interests was too much for Mr. W. Franklin Hatheway and he retired from public life.

Mr. P. J. Veniot, the Liberal organizer on the Gorth Shore appears to be making things decidedly uncomfortable for the medical Commissioner of agriculture and his colleagues in Kent.

Hon. Mr. McLeod predicts that within three weeks two thousand men will be at work on the Valley Railway. What a scramble there will be among the faithful for soft jobs.

Another four years of Flemming rule and the C.P.R. will own the entire province.

AMERICAN TOBACCO HAS A SHARP RISE

(By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co., 604 Queen St. Fredericton, N. B.)

New York, N.Y., June 3.—The market showed an increase of strength in the early part of the second hour and brokers became more confident in their expression of bullish views. It was evident that the supply of stock was small.

Amalgamated Copper showed an increase of strength following the publication of the annual report and the announcement that Wm. G. Rockefeller had been re-elected a member of the board, from which he resigned some years ago. Mr. Rockefeller's election at this time is taken as an indication that 25 Broadway is again heavily interested in Amalgamated Copper stocks.

Amalgamated Copper, year ended April 30th, 1912, net income increase $598,110, dividends increase $769,439. Surplus decrease $171,329. Net income $6,647,006, is equal to 4.31 per cent. earned on capital stock against 3.93 per cent. the previous year.

Louisville and Nashville, April net increase $308,425; ten months net increase $1,018,131. Amalgamated Copper year ended April 30th, 1912.

GRANDMOTHERS USED SAGE TEA

To Darken the Hair and Restore Gray and Faded Hair to its Natural Color

It is easier to preserve the color of the hair than to restore it, although it is possible to do both. Our grandmothers understood the secret. They made a "sage tea" and their dark, glossy hair long after middle life was due to this fact. Our mothers have gray hairs before they are fifty, but they are beginning to appreciate the wisdom of our grandmothers in using "sage tea" for their hair and are fast following suit.

The present generation has the advantage of the past in that it can get a ready-to-use preparation called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. As a scalp tonic and color restorer this preparation is vastly superior to the ordinary "sage tea" made by our grandmothers.

The growth and beauty of the hair depends on a healthy condition of the scalp. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly kills the dandruff germs which rob the hair of its life, color and lustre, makes the scalp clean and healthy, gives the hair strength, color and beauty and makes it grow.

Hats off to the King of Nackawick. He failed to land a portfolio in the local government, but he is still the big noise of the Tory party in York.

The local members for York have been lovely and peaceful in their lives and in death they should be undivided.

The central labor body has organized a provision trades council at Oakland, Calif.
