Five New Managers Against Jennings-Mack Combination

St. Louis Sticks to Old Leader on Account of his Record Last Year--Athletics again Look Good--Callahan Expected to Improve Things for Chicago Team--Improved Facilities

(By John B. Foster.)

Owners in the American League have appointed five new leaders to try to prevent "Connie" Mack or Hugh Jennings from winning the championship of their organization in 1912.

That's the secret of the coming American League pennant race boiled down to sugar. St. Louis clung to its manager of 1911 because he finished better than he began the season. He started with nothing, and when the race for the pennant was concluded, he had better than nothing, and beat the St. Louis National League Club in the fall series. Some call it the series for the city championship. Is it? The teams play in the spring and they play in the autumn. One team wins in the spring and the other wins when the frost first sends its tremors through the air and the players are beginning to think of their salaries for the future season. Which of the two exhibition series is to be called a championship?

That in which the boys of the younger generation are trying to make their best impression before the public, or that in which the older and more seasoned athletes are fighting to preserve their salary future? But this is only a digression from pitching headlong into a discussion of the American League race and taking a flying glance over the American League clubs and their possible manner of play.

ATHLETICS FAVORED.

Naturally the Athletics will appear to most baseball enthusiasts as if they are strong enough to win the championship again. This is not a prediction or prophecy. If it were there might be a temptation to lean towards the Athletics. Yet between the first day of the beginning of the season and the first day of the month of July enough can happen to put the Athletics as effectively out of the turnpike leading toward championship honors as the St. Louis Club seems to be as the race is about to begin.

Twelve championship seasons have dawned and waned since the American League became a major league. In these years two men have earned .583 per cent. of the managerial honors. Four others have scattered .416 per cent. of victory over five years. Mack of Philadelphia, and Jennings of Detroit, acquired their .583 per cent. in seven years.

Is it any wonder that the six clubs of the organization, other than Philadelphia and Detroit, are beset with desire and ambition to make some headway against two far-thinking managers whose combined wits and skill have been too much for them in six successive years?

Not even Comiskey of Chicago, who is adviser-in-chief to his manager, has been able to check the Mack-Jennings tide, nor has Clarke Griffith, who won a championship in the organization before either of them, although not all of the time has he been with the American League to combat with his old rivals.

McALEER UNABLE TO CHANGE.

Nor has James R. McAleer, who now steps back as manager and puts Stahl forth in the capacity of executive, although the veteran player and manager will be an adviser. They are all advisers. They say sometimes that they will not be, but they are.

New York, never steady at the helm, has obtained another steersman to try to find the channel of success. Cleveland has poached on the preserves of the Athletics, though with the consent of the owner of the club, and has drafted the player who is believed to have been "Connie" Mack's best field lieutenant, and to have done his share to help the Athletics in the past.

Chicago has chosen a man after Comiskey's heart. He may have no better success than his predecessor. He will be advised from headquarters as those who have gone before him have been advised, yet Comiskey will cultivate Callahan because Callahan is a quick thinker and ripe for sudden action when actions mean more than temporizing with theories. "Bobby" Wallace will side with the five who are on the anti-Mack and Jennings party. That is to be expected. Then the game of hare and hounds will begin and Jennings will set out over the miles that are between them and the stopping place in October.

In the matter of better facilities for the spectators the American League enters the season of 1912 with more promise than it has had since its organization. Not all of the new ground structures are built, but one will be completed just as the season begins, another will be under way before it is over and by another year all except one city will be equipped with permanent stadiums.

D. LEE BABBITT WON QUEEN HOTEL ROLL-OFF

LISTEN TO US

"We are only little ones, but we know Zam-Buk eased our pain and cured our sores. Perhaps it would cure you, too, if you tried it?"

Isn't this sound advice from "babes and sucklings?" Take it! The speakers are the children of Mrs. L. Webster, of Seymour St., Montreal, and the mother adds weight to their appeal. She says: "My little girl contracted scalp disease at school. Bad gatherings formed all over her head, and not only caused the child acute pain but made her very ill. The sores discharged, and occurring on the scalp we feared she would lose all her hair. She was in a pitiable plight when we tried Zam-Buk, but a few days' treatment with this balm gave her ease. Then the sores began to heal, and we continued the Zam-Buk treatment. In a short time she was quite healed.

"My little boy sustained a serious scald on the neck. It set up a bad sore, and quite a few things we tried failed to heal it or give him ease. Once more we turned to Zam-Buk, and we were not disappointed. It acted like a charm in drawing away the pain, and soon healed the wound."

Zam-Buk is "something different" in the way of balms. It contains powerful healing herbal essences, which, as soon as applied to skin diseases, kill off the germs and end the painful smarting. Other essences contained there so stimulate the cells that new healthy tissue is speedily formed. Eczema, itch, ulcers, cold sores, abscesses, festering sores, blood poisoning, chronic wounds, cold cracks, etc., are healed and cured in this way. Use it for all skin injuries and diseases. It is also of great service for piles. All druggists and stores at 50 cents box, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

BASEBALL NOTES

Both the Boston National League club owners Messrs. Gaffney and Ward, will come to Boston Tuesday to remain until the season opens. Mr. Ward will reside here permanently--Boston Globe.

While the Cincinnati Reds usually made more than $6,000 on their ante-season games on their home park, this year there will be little revenue as the grounds will not be ready until April 5, if then.

The very fussy National Commission has decided that the Pittsburgh club players must spell their names with the final "h" if they are to wear this title on the fronts of their playing shirts.

Catcher Jack Kleinow has agreed to play with Baltimore this season but has not yet reported to Manager Jack Dunn.

Jimmy Archer the old Tiger catcher who is now the Cubs' mainstay has returned to the team. He had an operation performed on his ear, but is now all right to get into line with the other Cubs.

The present series between the Cubs and the Louisville Colonels will be for six games instead of four, as originally arranged.

"Silk" O'Loughlin of the American League and Jimmy Johnstone of the National League will be the umpires in the series between the two St. Louis teams which will begin today.

RING NOTES

Frank Moran and Tom Kennedy, placed themselves in the "hopeless hope" class by their bout in New York last Thursday.

Al Kubiak and Jumbo Wells are accused by the Atlanta fans of putting up a fake bout in that city the other night.

Eddie Murphy who is in Chicago is telling the sports that he has had an offer to box Matt Wells of England in Boston.

From New York comes the report that Jimmy Walsh is matched to box Johnny Dundee in that city on April 10.
