F. S. WILLIAMS ST. MARYS

San Francisco, Cal., Apr. 1—For the fifth time, Michael Joseph Conboy, former chief of police of San Francisco, will go to trial tomorrow for the alleged murder of Bernard J. Lagan. The trial of a defendant five times will be a record without parallel in the courts of California and attorneys believe it will be the first case in American jurisprudence of a defendant facing a fifth trial on a murder charge.

"What do you wish me to do?"
"Nothing, only for the present please don't mention my scheme either to him or to Mr. Marsh. I am a bit uncertain as to my course. You see, it means so much to me that I can't bear to give it up, and yet it may lead to great—unpleasantness."

She nodded comprehendingly.
On that very night, in a little snow smothered cabin crouching close against the Kalvik bluffs, another girl was seated at a piano. Her slim, white fingers had strayed upon the notes of a song which Boyd Emerson had sung. In her dream filled eyes was the picture of a rough garbed, silent man at her shoulder, and in her ears was the sound of his voice. Clear to the last melting note she played the air, and then a pitiful sob shook her. She bowed her golden head and hid her face in her arms, for a memory was upon her, a forgotten kiss was hot upon her lips, and she was very lonely.

At the hotel Emerson found Clyde and Fraser in Balt's room awaiting him. They were noisy and excited at the success of the enterprise and at the prospect of immediate action.

Boyd told them little of the news that had startled him earlier in the evening beyond the bare fact that Marsh had floated a packers' trust and that secrecy for the present was now doubly necessary to the success of their undertaking. The full significance of the merger, therefore, did not strike his associates, even when on the train the next day they read the announcement of its formation in the newspapers. Balt alone took notice of it and fell into a furious rage at his enemy's success.

No sooner were they fairly under way for the west than Emerson began the definite shaping of his plans. He and George carefully went over the many details of their coming work and sent many messages, with the result that outfitters in a dozen lines were awaiting them when they arrived in Seattle. Without loss of time Boyd installed himself and his friends at a hotel, secured a competent and close mouthed stenographer, and then sought out the banker with whom he had made a tentative agreement before going to Chicago. Mr. Hilliard greeted him cordially.

"I see you have carried out your part of the program," said he, "but before we definitely commit ourselves we should like to know what effect this new trust is going to have on the canning business."

"You mean the N. A. P. A.?"
"Precisely. Our Chicago correspondent can't tell us any more than we have learned from the press—namely, that a combination has been formed. We are naturally somewhat cautious about financing a competitive plant until we know what policy the trust will pursue."

Here was exactly the complication Boyd had feared; therefore it was with some trepidation that he argued:

"The trust is in business for the money, and its very formation ought to be conclusive evidence of your good judgment. However, you have backed so many plants such as mine that you know as well as I do the big profits to be taken."

"That isn't the point. Ordinarily we would not waver an instant, but the Wayland-Marsh outfit is apt to upset conditions. If we only knew!"

"I know," boldly declared Boyd.

"Mr. Wayland outlined his policy to me before the public knew anything about the trust."

"Indeed? Are you acquainted with Wayne Wayland?" asked Mr. Hilliard, with a new light of curiosity in his eyes.

"I know him well."

"Ah, I congratulate you. Perhaps this is—er—Wayland money behind you?"

"That I am not at liberty to discuss," the younger man replied evasively. "I have taken steps to sell my season's output in advance. The commission men will be in town shortly, and I shall contract for the entire catch at a stipulated price. Is that satisfactory?"

"Entirely so," declared Mr. Hilliard heartily. "Go ahead and order your machinery and supplies. By the way, what do you know about the mineral possibilities of the region back of Kalvik?"

"Not much; the country is new. There is a woman at Kalvik who has some men out prospecting."

"Cherry Malotte?"

"Do you know her?" asked Boyd with astonishment.

"Very well indeed." Then, noting Boyd's evident curiosity, he went on.

"You see, I have made a number of mining investments in the north. My operations have turned out so well that

"Has Miss Malotte made a strike?"

"Not exactly, but she has uncovered some promising copper prospects."

"H'm! That is news to me."

Three weeks passed quickly in strenuous effort, and then one morning the partners awoke to the realization that there was little more for them to do.

MR. LAVERGNE IS NOT A CANDIDATE

Quebec, March 31—Mr. Armand Lavergne has stated to his intimate friends that he does not intend to run as a candidate in the coming provincial elections, and he is not ready to state whether or not he will take an active part in the hustings campaign in favor of the Conservative party.

It is known, however, that Mr. Tellier, the leader of the opposition, has put Mr. Lavergne in charge of the organization in the district of Quebec and that the member for Montmagny has already started work in this capacity. A few candidates have already been selected by him, and it is quite certain that his choice will be ratified by the county conventions to be held as soon as the writs are issued.

Among these standard bearers are Allyn Taschereau, Quebec county; Noel Belleau for Levis; Dr. N. Cloutier for Bellechasse; Maurice Roussseau for Montmagny; P. B. Chaloult for Kamouraska; Charles Smith for Quebec West; A. Huard for Quebec East, and A. Gauvreau for Quebec Centre.

It is said that the influence of a strong Conservative financier of Montreal is put in the balance in favor of the Gouin administration, and that there will not be any opposition to the government candidates in a few counties where he is the leading factor in local politics.

LOWER HAINESVILLE.

March 29—The weather still continues wintry, but seems quite satisfactory to those who are not done hawling.

Mr. Jas. Reynolds is not improving so fast as his many friends would wish.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Brewer paid a flying visit to this place recently. Measles seem to be prevalent. The school was closed two days of last week on account of them.

Mrs. M. S. Elliott spent Monday at the Post Office.

Mrs. Ed McKiel was visiting at Mrs. J. H. Allen's recently.

Mr. George Palmer and Miss Lena Woodworth passed through here recently.

NO MORE DISTRESS FROM STOMACH OR ANY INDIGESTION

If your meals don't fit comfortably, or you feel bloated after eating, and you believe it is the food which fills you; if what little you eat lies like a lump of lead on your stomach; if there is difficulty in breathing after eating, eructations of sour, undigested food and acid, heartburn, brash or a belching of gas, you can make up your mind that you need something to stop food fermentation and cure indigestion.

To make every bite of food you eat aid in the nourishment and strength of your body, you must rid your Stomach of poisons, excessive acid and stomach gas, which sours your entire meal—interferes with indigestion and causes so many sufferers of Dyspepsia, Sick Headache, Billiousness, Constipation, Griping, etc. Your case is no different—you are a stomach sufferer, though you may call it by some other name; your real and only trouble is that which you eat does not digest, but quickly ferments and sours, producing almost and unhealthy condition.

A case of Pape's Diapiesin will cost fifty cents at any Pharmacy here, and will convince any stomach sufferer five minutes after taking a single dose that Fermentation and Sour Stomach is causing the misery of Indigestion.

No matter if you call your trouble Catarrh of the Stomach, Nervousness or Gastritis, or by any other name—always remember that a certain cure is waiting at any drug store the moment you decide to begin its use.

Pape's Diapiesin will regulate any out-of-door Stomach within five minutes, and digest promptly, without any fuss or discomfort, all of any kind of food you eat.
