The 'Avenue of Beauty' to Europe

WELL might Tom Moore seek to preserve in verse the pastoral beauty of the St. Lawrence. The majesty of its mountains, the splendor of its sunsets, the softness and clearness of its atmosphere. Equally noteworthy are the homelike comforts and service of the Royal Mail Steamships.

CHEAPER MONEY FOR THE FARMERS

(Moncton Transcript.)

When any program is put forward in the interests of the primary producers, the cry is always raised that it is impracticable or unpractical.

Some of the Conservative organs haughtily dismiss Mr. Copp's policy of supplying agricultural credit with the assertion that it is not practical. That is supposed to be a damning indictment, and possibly it is to the credulous and unthinking, who have had no opportunity of learning what has been done in other countries in the way of developing systems of agricultural credit.

But the voter who accepts the assertion that Mr. Copp's plan is not practical, thereby puts his own people on a lower plane of intelligence, ability and integrity than the people of Germany, of France, of Denmark, of Norway, of Austria, of Russia and of other countries, including even Japan.

Have the people of this province, descendants of indomitable pioneers famed for their ingenuity and resource, less adaptability and ability than the people of the oriental kingdom who emerged from semi-barbarism not many decades ago? The Japanese have sent their young men to Europe to study the methods and conditions of other people, and they have copied European models in many lines of activity. The Japanese were evidently impressed with the virtue of the agricultural movement in Europe; at any rate they have not disdained to follow European example in this connection; and evidently their observations convinced them of the importance of such credit societies, for in 1900 there were 13 agricultural credit societies in Japan as against 2,000 such societies in 1910. What is worthy of note is that the public authority in Japan has given considerable assistance to the organization of agricultural credit societies. Shall we admit the contention of some of our Conservative journals that the government of New Brunswick is so lacking in intelligence and ability that it cannot carry out a program which has been followed with success by the Japanese?

HOW REFORM IS PRACTISED BY MR. FLEMMING

(St. John Telegraph)

When Mr. Flemming was in opposition he promised that if his party got into power at Fredericton the people's money would be guarded most faithfully against partizan influences and improper expenditures of all kinds. Mr. Flemming is still making professions of political virtue and business integrity; but let us examine one of his most conspicuous transactions. The company that is building the Pinder spur railroad, the bonds of which the province guaranteed for $130,000, without knowing anything about the cost of the road, has among its directors the following distinguished patriots:

One son-in-law of the manager of the Tory newspaper in Fredericton. One law partner of O. S. Crockett, M. P.

One son-in-law of J. K. Pinder, the chief beneficiary of the Pinder railroad.

The government, as has been said, guaranteed the bonds of this line to the amount of $130,000, thirteen miles at $10,000 a mile, and already $50,000 of the amount had been paid over. When Mr. Upham of Carleton county made enquiry in the Legislature as to this railroad he was told that the government had guaranteed the bonds, but that it had,

No information as to the cost of the road per mile.

No information as to the age or weight per yard, of the rails used.

No information as to whether or not the wages of the men had been paid.

No information as to from whom the rails had been bought.

No information as to several other matters always regarded as essential in the case of a bond guarantee.

The railroad in question is a feeder of the C. P. R. Mr. Pinder, a member of the late Legislature, and a disappointed aspirant for cabinet honors under Premier Flemming, was the promoter of the road. The character of the directorate may be judged from the facts given at the beginning of this article.

Now, a question for the consideration of the electors of the province is:

How does this transaction square with the professions of virtue made by Mr. Flemming and his lieutenants? This is an example of the Tory "Reform" which the voters of New Brunswick are now asked to endorse.

There are many other acts of the Flemming government, notably its whole connection with the roads and bridges of the province, which are on a par with its conduct in connection with the Pinder spur. Indeed the government has impudently disregarded all of its more important pledges. There can be no doubt that, prior to the election of 1908, the people at large were somewhat seriously impressed by the promises of reform made by Mr. Flemming and his associates. But a fair-minded examination of their record since they attained office will convince any unprejudiced elector that the government and its followers have played false to an extent unparalleled in the political history of the province.

FLEMMING GOVERNMENT HAS NOT MADE GOOD

(Sackville Tribune)

This is a young man's day, the day when a young man is being given a good chance to make good. Everyone is looking towards a day when the Province of New Brunswick will have a million people within its confines; to the time when we will live up to our opportunities instead of lagging behind. The government of a province means much to the people of that province. Every man who stops to think of the matter, will admit that the affairs of the province should be conducted as a business man would conduct his own affairs. The question is "Does the Flemming government so conduct the affairs of New Brunswick?" No one except a violent partizan will answer anything except "No" to this question. It is surely not business to squander money in paying the salary and expenses of structural road superintendents to come to Upper Sackville, say in order to inspect a small bridge that could be built by almost any man in the district. It is not good business to run head over heels in debt, yet the Flemming government is doing just that thing; it is not good business to manipulate everything with a view to party advantage, yet here again the Flemming administration is all at fault. But we need not multiply instances. It is patent to all that the Flemming government has not made good; it is a question then of letting others have a chance. The candidates for the Opposition all over the province are nearly all young, progressive men, who are waiting for an opportunity to make good as the representatives of the people. Surely they should have their chance, surely Mr. Copp should have his chance.

Clarence Ferns and Art Magril will meet in Dewey, Ok., July 4.

WAS ALL RUN DOWN.

Doctors and Medicine Failed To Cure Him.

Many people become run down, but don't know just exactly what their trouble is. As a rule it is improper circulation of the blood, owing to not just taking proper care of themselves. All they want is a good tonic to build up the system and put their blood in proper shape, and for this purpose there is nothing to equal Burdock Blood Bitters. It regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, purifies the blood and tones up the entire system. Mr. Murdock A. Morrison, Tarbot, N.S., writes:—"I am now writing to tell you what Burdock Blood Bitters has done for me. Last Summer I was all run down, and doctors and medicine failed to cure me. At last I decided to try a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and after taking one bottle I began feeling better, and after I had taken the remedy for two months I was completely cured. I can safely recommend your remedy to anyone."

They say a good workman is known by his tools. You cannot expect your maid to keep everything ship-shape unless you give her every modern help. To keep house without GOLD DUST is to do work by hard, old-fashioned methods. For cleaning everything and anything about the house—from cellar to attic—GOLD DUST is worth its weight in gold. It cuts grease and dirt like magic, does away with scouring and scrubbing, and saves time and tempers.

Your servant can do more and better work and keep sweet with the aid of GOLD DUST in all household cleaning.
