Said to Have Been Chosen by Reds to Kill President Taft and Committed Suicide

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 28.—The police today called in some of the men most active in the colony of "Reds" on the north side, in an endeavor to ascertain the cause of the suicide of Carlos Geznar, who jumped in front of a Pennsylvania railroad train on Wednesday night.

It was reported about police headquarters that Geznar was commissioned to go to Altoona on Wednesday to kill President Taft. The police learned that the "Reds" had a meeting last Sunday at the Cobbler's shop "Nihilist Frank," in Spring Garden Avenue. It is said lots were drawn and it fell to Geznar to strike the President for the cause.

During Monday and Tuesday Geznar worked at the Natrona Mills, but was morose and would not speak to his companions. Wednesday he bought a ticket for Altoona at the Union depot. He left the train at East Liberty Station and walked east to Spruce Street, where he threw himself in front of the train.

Among detectives the theory is held that Geznar lost his nerve after starting for Altoona and fearing to return and face the "Reds" in desperation killed himself.

PREMIER OF N.S. TO MEET SUFFRAGETTE DELEGATION

Montreal, Sept. 28.—"I understand Premier Murray of Nova Scotia has stated that he would be glad to receive a delegation of suffragettes and I hope to be able to visit Halifax with this object in view," declared Miss Wylie, the English Militant Suffragette this morning. "Probably I will visit New Brunswick too, and try in both provinces to arouse the women and organize societies to aid in securing the vote."

Early today she began to plan out her Canadian trip, but stated she would be unable to announce her program for few days yet.

"I am in correspondence with a number of people, here in Toronto, and elsewhere and until I receive replies I cannot tell what my movements will be. I hope to cover every portion of Canada, but my plans are entirely unsettled. In introducing the propaganda our usual method is to begin a series of drawing room meetings in the various towns to get the women introduced and informed from these we advance to public meetings. We will accompany delegations to the different governments asking for the franchise."

STROMBILI VOLCANO IS IN ERUPTION

Rome, Sept. 28.—The eruption of Stromboli is assuming an alarming character. Ashes emitted by the volcano have covered the higher portion of the island to a depth of six feet. Vineyards have been devastated and vines have been burned. Large blocks of phosphorescent rock are continually being hurled out of the volcano and are falling with such violence that they remain embedded in the ground. Islanders are in a state of panic and are abandoning their stand and encamping along the coast.

Ulsterites Sign the Sol- emn League and Covenant

Days Happenings at Belfast Were Looked Forward to by Home Rulers With a Great Deal of Misgivings but Absolute calmness Prevailed---Protestant Clergymen Hold a Union Service The Boyne Flag Presented to Sir Edward Carson---Mr. William Redmond, M. P., Gives out an Interview

Belfast, Ireland, Sept. 28.—The Orangemen's culminating day of protest against Home Rule opened with an absolute calmness which rendered Unionists and Home Rulers alike nervous as to what might happen. The people of Ireland, even those responsible for today's signature of the formidable "league and covenant," had looked forward to the day's happenings with a great force of misgivings. The weather was doubtful early in the day but before the Ulster men had begun to gather for the religious services, which preceded the signing of the covenant, sunshine flooded the streets.

The town was gaily decorated, the Union Jack being everywhere, predominant being one huge national flag enveloping the face of Ulster Hall, the center of today's proceedings.

Most of the shops and all the big industrial works were closed so that every man desiring to do so was enabled to participate in the manifestations.

The spirit of unity prevailed among the Protestant denominations, was illustrated in selection of the officiating clergymen. Rev. McLean, formerly Presbyterian minister, preached the sermon, and he was assisted in the services by ministers belonging to Anglican Methodist, Baptist and Congregational Churches.

Sir Edward Carson sat at the right hand of Mr. McLean, and the Lord Mayor of Belfast, at his left. A semi-military aspect was not lacking in the meeting as 200 picked stalwart members of the Unionist Clubs and Orange Lodges wearing bright sashes acted as guard of honor, standing around the pulpit while 500 of what is known as the "Reserve Guard" occupied seats in the gallery. The great congregation was unable to restrain itself as notable personages came into the hall. Among the first was Lord Charles Berchford, who was greeted with a loud cheer.

Capt. James Craig, the Unionist member for East Down, reminded the audience that the service was a religious one, and that Sir Edward Carson wished it to be looked upon as such in the real sense of the word.

When Sir Edward Carson and Frederick E. Smith arrived however, the people forgetful of the appeal that had been made to them, again broke into cheering which continued as the two leaders proceeded to the platform behind the orange flag of the Battle of the Boyne, presented to Sir Edward Carson in such a dramatic manner last evening. The service opened with the hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past" after which a short prayer was offered and an appeal made to the Almighty to stretch forth thy arms and help us in this time of national danger.

The first lesson was taken from Isaiah XXVI 1-9. "We have a strong city etc."

The Rev. McLean's sermon aroused the congregation to another burst of cheering which was suppressed from the pulpit. He declared the Irish question at bottom was a war against Protestants and an attempt to establish Roman Catholicism and to begin the disintegration of the British Empire by securing a second parliament in Dublin. Ulster men were ready he said to accept almost any program of serial and political reform, but they would not have Home Rule. The service concluded with the singing of the National Anthem.

W. E. REDMOND TALKS.

New York, Sept. 28.—William Redmond, a brother of John Redmond, leader of the Irish party, and himself a member of the British parliament for thirty years, returned today from a great Irish meeting in Philadelphia last night.

Mr. Redmond will make an address at the Irish Home Rule meeting in Carnegie Hall Sunday evening and will return Monday to Ireland.

Mr. Redmond last night discussed interestingly but guardedly, the situation in Ulster.

"In the first place," he said, "it is absurd to think the trouble in Ulster will have any effect whatever upon the fortunes of our Home Rule bill. That measure has progressed too far now to be seriously hampered by such opposition as is being displayed by a part of the Ulster constituency.

"You must bear in mind the fact that of the thirty-three Ulster members of parliament only seventeen of them voted against Home Rule. This was as even a division as there could possibly be. It represents certainly not over half of Ulster and the half of Ulster cannot be expected to rule Ireland. I represented an Ulster constituency for seven years and I know those people.

"The four other grand divisions of Ireland are united for Home Rule, and the whole British people understand this thoroughly. The talk on this side of civil war in Ireland because of the Ulster disorders is the craziest bosh. There can be no civil war there; why, the British government would not tolerate it."

Mr. Redmond explained fully the parliamentary situation of the Home Rule bill, which shows that it is virtually certain that its complete enactment cannot be delayed longer than two years. The only accident, he says, which could postpone it longer would be the fall of the present Liberal government and as that party has something over a hundred majority, he scouts the suggestion of its possible defeat.

BELGIUM SOCIALISTS ORGANIZING A STRIKE

Brussels, Sept. 28.—Dissatisfied with the results of the late elections in Belgium, which reinforced the Conservative majority, the Socialists are organizing a general strike. They assert that they have been defrauded and must strike for universal suffrage.

"One man one vote," M. R. Vandervelde, the Socialist leader, supports the movement. Riots are expected. The rank and file of the party cannot be controlled as it contains many outspoken revolutionists. The Socialist picard is a conspicuous figure in the crisis on account of his energetic opposition to M. Vandervelde and others.

NEW ZEALAND'S GIFT TO THE EMPIRE

London, Sept. 28.—The battle cruiser New Zealand, the gift of that Dominion to the imperial navy, which was laid down at the Fairfield yard Glasgow, in June, 1910, will run her preliminary trial in the Clyde today and will leave tomorrow for Devonport. When completed for service the New Zealand will visit New Zealand, calling at South African ports at the request of the union government. The ship will then return for service in home waters. The original agreement by which she was to have been maintained on the China station has been waived by the Dominion government at the request of the Admiralty.

LUNCHEON FOR HON. MR. FIELDING.

Colonel H. H. McLean, M.P., gave a luncheon for Hon. W. S. Fielding at the Union Club, St. John, yesterday. Colonel McLean had as his guests, in addition to the former finance minister, Hon. William Pugsley, George McAvity, W. E. Foster, Richard O'Brien, A. W. Adams, Colonel M. B. Edwards and E. W. McCready. They found Col. McLean a model host. All were delighted to find Hon. Mr. Fielding in fine health and spirits, and full of fighting energy. Hon. Mr. Fielding left St. John last evening for Montreal.

Mr. J. E. Marshall of St. John is at the Queen.

Mr. R. C. Weyman of St. John arrived in the city last night.

of 3,000 persons comprising every-body representative of Belfast's great industrial, mercantile, civil and religious community, tonight brought to a close a great anti-Home Rule meeting in Ulster Hall, amid a fervor which was not equalled even by the anti-Home Rule convention of 1892. The meeting renewed the adoption of the resolution passed at that convention protesting against Home Rule parliament for Ireland.

The supreme dramatic moment of the memorable gathering tonight was the unfurling and presentation to Sir Edward Carson, the chief propagandist against Home Rule, of the flag carried by King William at the battle of the Boyne. The flag was greeted with frenzied cheering.

NO TALK OF ARMED RESISTANCE.

No new pronouncement of Unionist policy was made at the meeting. The Ulster watchword is "We will not have Home Rule," but none of the various speakers, nor the letters of the influential Unionist leaders, which were read in their absence, attempted to reveal the plan of resistance if such a plan exists, should King George sign the Home Rule measure.

LADY ENGINEER TO BECOME A BRIDE

London, Sept. 28.—Nina Cameron Graham, the woman who has taken the degree of bachelor of engineering, sailed yesterday for Winnipeg where she is to marry Mr. Cecil Stephen Walley of the Dominion Bridge Company. The introduction of a woman into the engineering profession at first created a little flutter of opposition to Miss Graham, but her influence for good among young men was diluted upon in university publications and a remarkable ovation was accorded her when she was invested with her degree. This was looked upon as the finest testimony that could have been given as to her popularity.

His Majesty Said to Have Been Discussing the Political Situation
With Sir Edward Grey

New York, Sept. 28.—A cable to the Tribune from London says:—A ball which was to have taken place in Balmoral Castle last night, was cancelled at the last minute. The reason for the cancellation was understood to be that His Majesty was engaged in consultation with Sir Edward Grey, and Bonar Law, in connection with the political situation.

Sir Edward Grey arrived at Balmoral early in the week along with M. Sazonoff the Russian Ambassador. The leader of the opposition was summoned to Balmoral and arrived there on Thursday night.

The ball is the usual one given every year, while the court is in residence in the north to the Gillies and tenants on the Balmoral estate.

It is now expected to be given next week. The radical papers suggest that Mr. Bonar Law was summoned to Balmoral because the King was either unnecessarily alarmed at open threats of rebellion in Ulster or annoyed at ceremonial incidents in the progress of Sir Edward Carson Protestant Ireland.

The Unionist press thinks Mr. Bonar Law's presence at Balmoral is accounted for by the foreign rather than by the domestic outlook.

The Standard says, it cannot be overlooked that there are grave inhibitions in which both this country and Russia are deeply interested. The events in the near east are serious concern to all the European powers and it is certain that the possibilities.

UNUSUAL SENTENCE IN MANSLAUGHTER CASE

Buffalo, Sept. 28.—Warren House, who caused the death of Valentine Ludowski, a fellow workman, a few months ago while playing a practical joke, will begin at once the serving of an unusual sentence imposed by Justice Marcus in the State Supreme Court here. The sentence places House in charge of a prohibition office for an indefinite period and compels him to pay $3 a week towards the support of the family of the dead man until the children are able to support their mother. It is estimated that the fine will cover a period of about ten years, amounting in all to more than $1500.

House turned a compressed air hose on his fellow workman in fun, the pressure being so great that Lukowski was instantly killed.
