GRANTS PARDON TO COUNTESS TARNOVISKI

Rome, Oct. 2.—After having served less than half of her eight years' prison sentence, the Countess Marie Tarnovska, often spoken of as the most beautiful and captivating queen of the great criminal adventuresses of history, has been pardoned by the Italian government. The announcement of the pardon has aroused much interest and not a little public criticism of the action of the authorities in setting at liberty a woman who, in the language of Prof. Rossi of Genoa, the distinguished alienist and psychologist, is suffering from "a diabolical malady which makes her unanswerable for her acts and who should be so confined as to prevent her from injuring others or herself."

For two years the woman has been confined in prison in Venice on a charge of murder. With her two lovers, a Moscow lawyer and a young Russian official, she was convicted in 1910 on a charge of successfully conspiring to murder her husband, Count Paul Kamarovski, in 1907. The charges were based on the accumulated evidence produced through an exhaustive investigation by the Austrian and Russian police, by the confessions of the lovers, Naumoff and Prilukoff, and even by the confession of the Countess herself, which, however, she later denied and retracted.

The Countess Tarnovska, despite her long career of intrigue and adventure, is now but little more than thirty years of age and is said to be as beautiful as ever. She is the daughter of a noble Russian family and was educated in a convent. While still in her teens she eloped with Count Tarnovski, a wealthy man, who after their marriage treated her with great brutality. She grew to hate him and deceive him. One of her lovers, Borgevsky, was shot by her husband and died in her arms. Another, a Russian officer named Stahl, committed suicide and it is alleged that he did so at her instigation. Her brother-in-law, the younger Tarnovski, also committed suicide.

In 1903 the Countess met Prilukoff, a Moscow lawyer, who deserted his wife and family, embezzled his clients money and travelled through Europe with her. On their voyages they met Naumoff, a neurotic young man of twenty-one, who also came under her spell. Later she encountered Count Kamarovski, to whom she became betrothed.

In the summer of 1907 the Countess, according to her own account, became tired of her wandering with her lovers and began to think of marrying Count Kamarovski and settling down. Prilukoff, she asserted at her trial, suggested that murder was far preferable to matrimony. Then it was that the plot to insure the Count's life and then kill him began to be hatched. The first step was to induce him to insure his life in her favor for $100,000.

The next step was the infaming of Naumoff against Kamarovski and this was effected in a simple and ingenious manner. A telegram was drafted, addressed to the Countess, and signed with Kamarovski's name. It contained the foulest insults against both the Countess and Naumoff. This telegram was sent from Vienna to Venice, and telegraphed back to Vienna. There Prilukoff and the Countess caused it to be shown to Naumoff, and the latter, in a frenzy of rage, hurried to Venice to take vengeance on the slenderer.

Naumoff made his way to the Count's villa early in the morning of September 11th, 1907. Brushing past the maid, who opened the door, he strode into the Count's bedroom. The latter, awakened by his outcry, cried out in alarm. Naumoff, without a word, fired at him five times with a revolver, inflicting mortal wounds. Naumoff, his rage spent, confused, helpless and remorseful, made only a half-hearted attempt to escape, and was captured at Verona.

Prilukoff was a witness of the murder. He had shadowed Naumoff to Venice, watched him enter the villa and heard the shots. Sure that the deed was done, he returned to Vienna. But the address of the Countess was discovered by the Venetian police in the rooms of the murdered man and both Prilukoff and the Countess were arrested. Naumoff, broken in spirit, confessed his crime and told of his passion for the Countess after some vain attempts to shield her. Prilukoff sought to commit suicide but the prison warders were vigilant and his life was saved. Only the Countess preserved an unshaken calm. The trial of the trio of conspirators took place in Venice and consumed nearly six months. All three were convicted. The jury found that Naumoff and the Countess were not fully responsible for their acts. They were sentenced to three and eight years' imprisonment respectively. Prilukoff was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

A WONDERFUL DISCOVERY

An eminent scientist, the other day gave his opinion that the most wonderful discovery of recent years was the discovery of Zam-Buk. Just think! As soon as a single thin layer of Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or a sore, such injury is insured against blood poison! Not one species of microbe has been found that Zam-Buk does not kill!

Then again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a sore, or a cut, or to skin disease, it stops the smarting. That is why children are such friends of Zam-Buk. They care nothing for the science of the thing. All they know is that Zam-Buk stops their pain. Mothers should never forget this.

Again, as soon as Zam-Buk is applied to a wound or to a diseased part, the cells beneath the skin's surface are so stimulated that new healthy tissue is quickly formed. This forming of fresh healthy tissue from below is Zam-Buk's secret of healing. The tissue thus formed is worked up to the surface and literally casts off the diseased tissue above it. This is why Zam-Buk cures are permanent.

Only the other day Mr. Marsh of 101 Delorimier Ave., Montreal, called upon the Zam-Buk Company and told them that for over twenty-five years he had been a martyr to eczema. His hands were at one time so covered with sores that he had to sleep in gloves. Four years ago Zam-Buk was introduced to him and in a few months it cured him. Today—over three years after his cure of a disease he had for twenty-five years—he is still cured and has had no trace of any return of the eczema.

All druggists sell Zam-Buk at 50c. box, or we will send free trial box if you send this advertisement and a 1c stamp (to pay return postage). Address Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

WIFE SLAYER TO HANG

Montreal, Oct. 3.—Apparently reconciled to his fate, though with little left of the iron nerve that he displayed throughout his trial, John Cummings, the wife slayer, is awaiting the dawn of tomorrow, when he will mount the scaffold in the Montreal jail to pay the full penalty of the law. The crime for which he is to be executed was committed on November 21 last. Early in the evening of that day Cummings approached his wife, with whom he had not been living for some time, as she was walking in the street with a young man, and fired two shots, killing her almost instantly. The evidence showed that Cummings had been drinking on the day of the murder, and that he had previously made threats against his wife.

SHOT HIS WIFE

West Perth, Oct. 2.—Geo. Shaw, a wealthy farmer shot his wife Jennie E. Shaw, probably fatally, here yesterday and then blew himself to pieces with dynamite, which he placed in a stump and sat upon. Mrs Shaw had come from Hartford, Conn to place flowers on her son's grave. Shaw who was about 50 years old had not seen his wife since January 1911, when she left him, until she drove past him in a carriage near his home yesterday.

TO THE PUBLIC

YOU RECOGNIZE YOUR NEED OF LIFE INSURANCE BUT MAY BE IN DOUBT AS TO WHERE TO FIND THE BEST AND THE CHEAPEST.

WHERE TO GO FOR YOUR INSURANCE.

If there is anything that ought to be secure beyond all peradventure it is an investment in life insurance.

The object of life insurance is to protect widows, orphans, and aged persons. It safe-guards the savings of the breadwinner laid aside for the future support of those dependent on him.

If the protection is doubtful, or incomplete, or temporary, it may do more harm than good. If you lean on a broken reed you will fall.

The safest insurance is not only the best—it is the only adequate insurance.

Quality is more important than price. See to it that you get the highest quality in your insurance investments and then you will find that it is the cheapest.

Security, moreover, is the best evidence of good management and the best managed company will pay as liberal dividends as are consistent with absolute safety and the highest efficiency.

The net cost of a policy is shown by the premium paid less the REFUND (or dividend.) But whether the price can be regarded as moderate or not will depend on the permanent financial stability of the company, the benefits embodied in the policy, and the efficiency, liberality and promptness of the service rendered.
