PEOPLES SUPREMACY
OVER ARISTOCRACY

Writing in the London Daily News and Leader, Mr. T. P. O'Connor says there is no reason why the "Government should not go full speed ahead with its program of reforms.

"Old as I am in both politics and journalism," he writes "I own to the same surprise every time I see men—even intelligent men—going round and round an obvious political situation, and discovering every kind of solution except the obvious and the inevitable one. There are certain conditions as immutable and as unmistakable as the laws of nature; these conditions must, by the same inevitable logic, lead to certain results; and yet there comes your eccentric or curious or quivering observer, and he immediately begins to hem and haw, and to make subtle distinctions and academic hypotheses, and all the time he is thus engaged in his pseudo-philosophising and simple, concrete conditions are there before him, with but one possible and with one certain and inevitable result.

"And this is how I have been struck by all the large crop of confessions and suggestions which have been appearing in the Press during the months of the now happily closed Recess. Could any problem be more simple than that by which the present Ministry is confronted at this present moment? It has a mandate, it has great purposes, it has a majority; isn't that the end of all discussion as to what it should do and will do and must do? It has a mandate; can any sane Liberal, could any sane Tory, if he were free to speak his mind, deny the mandate?
Home Rule, Welsh Disestablishment, Franchise Reform, have not these three questions been before the British people for more than a quarter of a century? Were they not, especially before the nation during the last three general elections? Did not the Tory party at the last election base their main objection to the Parliament Bill that it would be used to pass Home Rule over the heads of the House of Lords? And did not Mr. Asquith and other Liberal leaders declare that this statement was true? It is no extenuation of this fact that the Liberal leaders did not say that the Parliament Bill would be used for the purpose alone. Of course, any such statement on the part of Liberals would have been untrue, mischievous treacherous to the Liberal cause. We the will of the people supreme over wanted the Parliament Act to make the variegated, selfishness, and folly of the hereditary chamber; we wanted that done for all Liberal purposes and not for Home Rule alone; indeed, we want the supremacy of the people over the aristocracy so badly that one of the first duties, when they have time, of the Liberal party will be to cut down the ridiculously large powers of obstruction and delay which the Parliament Act still leaves to the House of Lords."

SAD DEATH AT TRACY

Tracy, Oct. 25—A very sad death occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Tracey on Wednesday, Sept. 25th when their eldest daughter Mrs. John D. Eales, nee Verna Blanche Tracey, passed suddenly away age 24 years. Besides her husband father and mother she leaves two brothers, Blaine and Loyd and one sister Lena to all of whom we extend our heartfelt sympathies in their sad loss her death was made doubtly sad as just a few short weeks before she was a happy bride.
Deceased had been a school teacher for a number of years and had made a host of friends who will learn with deep regret of her sad death.
The funeral services was conducted by Rev. A. H. McCabe D. W. Mersereau acting as funeral director. There were many beautiful floral contributions. Interment was made at the Tracey Cemetery.

MICE ATE THE
MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE

Walter M. Boyer and Miss Florence M. Richardson of Cincinnati, O., were secretly married last February at Lawrenceburg, Ind. Recently they decided to make the formal announcement of their marriage to their parents, but when they sought the marriage license they could not find it.
It was then remembered that the bride had hidden it. Search was made through the cupboard where the wife had put it. To their sorrow the couple found that a mouse had feasted on the treasured paper and all that was left was shreds. Boyer was compelled to make a hurried trip to Lawrenceburg, to get a certified copy to show to his friends and relatives.

"SYRUP OF FIGS" FOR BILIOUS STOMACH
GAS, HEADACHE OR WASTE-CLOGGED BOWELS

This Harmless, Delicious Fruit Laxative is More Effective Than Colomel, Salts, Oil or Cathartics to Cleanse the Stomach, Liver and 30 Feet of Bowels

Foul breath, coated tongue, dull, throbbing headache, stomach sour and full of gases, indigestion, biliousness and a sallow complexion, mean that your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with waste matter; that these drainage organs of the body are obstructed; liver stagnant and stomach full of poisonous gases, sour bile and undigested, fermenting food not properly carried off.

Most of our ills are caused by constipated bowels. We all need a laxative sometimes; nobody can doubt that. The only question is, Which one is the best? That isn't a question any more. Syrup of Figs, being composed entirely of luscious figs, senna, and aromatics, must act in a harmless, gentle and natural way. Syrup of Figs can be constantly used without injury. Its action is the action of fruit—of eating coarse food—of taking exercise. It is a true and effective liver and bowel cleanser and regulator.

GLEN CAMPBELL EX M. P.
INHERITS BIG FORTUNE

Winnipeg, October 30—To wake up and find ones self the happy possessor of nearly eight million dollars does not happen every day, but such is the good fortune of Glenlyon Archibald Campbell, the chief inspector of Indian Affairs in the west and one of the best known western characters in Canada. Mr. Campbell better known as "Glen," who is 49 years old to-day received a letter from a firm of solicitors in Australia stating that one Glenlyon Archibald Campbell had been named as heir to the estate of Archibald Sterling, a large sheep rancher and asking for identification papers. These he can easily furnish and all that stands between him and the receipt of this handsome fortune are some legal formalities.

It is over forty years since Archibald Sterling went to Australia but Mr. Campbell his nephew, who was only nine years old at the time can remember him quite well.

He took up sheep ranching and so successful was he that for many years he was looked upon as the father of the wool industry. He was a strong advocate of the wool tariff in regard to the shipment of wool from Australia and was well known throughout the country in connection with public affairs. No correspondence has passed between Mr. Sterling and his nephew Glen Campbell for many years and although the members of the family were aware that sheep rancher he had been very successful, the letter came as a markable news was wholly unexpected. Campbell is well known in public life in Canada, having been a local member for five years and during the last term he sat in the Dominion house as a member for Dauphin in the Conservative interests His father was a chief factor of the Hudson Bay Company.

Educated at Glasgow Academy and Merchiston Castle School, Edinburgh Scotland, Mr. Campbell, turned to ranching and then to the field of politics. After serving a term in the Dominion house, Mr. Campbell was defeated at the last election and was appointed chief inspector of Indian Affairs in the west. He is intensely interested in his work and as he stated this morning the receipt of this money would not make any difference to his position as far as he he was concerned.

GOSSIP OF THE STAGE.

Anna Eva Fay is to return to the stage.
Henry Bernstein is writing a new play in which John Mason may play the hero.

A. H. Wood will revive "The Pet of the Petticoats," which was tried last season.

Alta Phipps, prima donna of "The Winning Widows," is Mrs. Abe Reynolds in Private Life.

Paul Armstrong is to produce his new play "The Escape," either in Los Angeles or San Francisco.

The Harris Theatre, New York, will reopen on November 4, with James Forbes's new play, "A Rich Man's Sin."

Adele Rowland has been engaged for a leading role in Sam Bernard's new production under the Shubert management.

"The Stronger Claim," Henry W.
Savage's new production, is booked for a long tour through the South and the middle west.

Margart Anglin has decided to "Egypt." The author, Edward Sheldon, will probably try to find another star for his play.

"By-Products," a play by James Medill Patterson, one of the authors of "The Fourth Estate," has been produced in Chicago recently.
