PROTECTION AND JOBS.

The Meighenites, the remnant of the Tory Party, never cease the cry that "protection provides every city or town man with a job" says The Backville Recorder. From platform and every organ the cry is heard. The bitterest of the organs of high protection is the Toronto Telegram. The subject of protection is in force under the Meighen Government and the results turn the tables on the protectionists. It is asserted that the "N. P." will provide three square meals a day and a decent home to live in. What twaddle. Never in the history of Canada was there as much unemployment and unrest as exists today. If protection had served the purpose of prosperity, then why so much unemployment. For months the Toronto Telegram has preached the doctrine of protection. It has alleged that prosperity is the outcome of the protection bogey. In the same breath the Telegram has been publishing cartoons showing thousands out of work in even Tory Toronto. The tables are neatly turned on the Telegram by the Farmers' Sun, which reproduces the unemployment cartoons. They are a solar plexis blow to the advocates of high protection. What is true of Toronto is relatively true of many other places in so far as unemployment is concerned. Toronto's unemployment situation is typical of Canada over. Rev. J. A. Miller, who until three months ago was head of the Government Employment Bureau says that last winter alone saw 30,000 people out of work in Toronto, and that it cost $900,000 to feed the out of works. Now, when the protection policy did not avoid unemployment in the past, and does not in the present, how is it going to do it in the future? But the electors may be depended upon to change things on December 6th.

Wingham Ont., Times: Did the Conservative Government ask whether the men who enlisted, who fought and died for Canada, were Liberal or Conservative? Did the Government accuse the Liberals of disloyalty when they asked their assistance in forming a Union Government? Did the Conservatives raise the disloyalty cry when they asked the united support of the country during the trying days of the War? No! Then who raises it now? Thousands of white crosses amid the red poppies of Flanders' fields bear eloquent, if mute, testimony against the political trickster who would, for his own selfish advantage, seek to divide a united Canada by a charge that is palpably false misleading and unfair.

The registration offices in the city are open this week and it is up to all citizens to see that their names are placed on the voters lists. It will be recalled that in the by-election of May last a number of citizens when they went to the polls to vote found that their names had been omitted from the lists. It is only fair to state that the omissions were not made in a partisan sense as people on both sides were included. Every effort should be put forward in the present campaign to have the lists made as complete as possible and in order to do this it is up to the electors to co-operate with the election officials.

Leader Crerar of the Progressive Party does not appear to be achieving much success in his efforts to find out who is putting up the boodle fund for the Government in this campaign. He has asked the question a number of times of Premier Meighen, but the latter persistently ignores it. There are a lot of people in York-Sunbury who would like to know the source of the big boodle fund which was brought into this constituency last spring to defeat Mr. Ernest W. Stairs. Incidentally they would also like to know what proportion of the fund found its way into the pocket of well known local grafters.

Hon. Mackenzie King, the Liberal leader, is meeting with very gratifying success in his tour of Ontario this week. Everywhere he is greeted by enormous crowds and his telling arraignment of the Meighen government never fails to strike a responsive chord. The fact is that the people are tired and sick of the outfit now misruling at Ottawa and will vote for a change on December 6th. It is going to be another such sweep as that which hurled the Democratic party from power in the United States a year ago.

Moncton Transcript: Premier Meighen's speeches have the ring of sincerity, and his assurances to St. John are not a mere sporadic outburst of Ministerial communicativeness, says the St. John Standard. Sometime ago the same Journal was at odds with Mr. Meighen and his ministers and was suggesting that the Maritime Provinces should step out of the Canadian confederation and set up a political house of their own. Probably Mr. Meighen is quite as sincere as the St. John organ and no more so.

Reports from Charlotte indicate that the Liberals are putting up a vigorous campaign in that constituency and the prospects of success are very bright. It will be recalled that Dr. Taylor, M. P. secured his "release" from the opposition party in the Legislature with the intention of becoming the government candidate in Charlotte, but after looking over the ground he wisely concluded that a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush.

The Liberal conference here yesterday was attended by delegates from every part of province and great enthusiasm prevailed. Reports on the outlook in the various constituencies were of a most encouraging nature. A strong executive was appointed to exercise general supervision over the work of the campaign. The Meighen government expects little from New Brunswick in this election and the indications are that it will not be disappointed.

Mr. James Murdock, a former member of the Board of Commerce and now running as a Liberal candidate in South Toronto, is accompanying Hon. Mackenzie King on his tour of Ontario. Mr. Murdock's exposure of government interference with the work of the Board of Commerce on behalf of the big interests has created a great sensation throughout the country.

London Advertiser: Mr. Meighen's campaign hangs on the childish claim:—"Meighen Will Lead Us Through." Where to? Don't ask questions. Simply shout that grass will grow on the streets if Mr. Meighen is defeated, and Canada will be annexed to United States if Meighen is defeated. Scare the people good, and then soothe them by closing with "But Mister Meighen Will Lead Us Through."

What has become of Hon. P. E. Blondin, former Postmaster General in the Meighen cabinet. He does not appear to be cutting much figure in this election. It is scarcely likely, however, that he will endeavor to get even with Premier Meighen for ousting him from the cabinet by resigning his senatorship.

Four French citizens of the Province of Quebec woke up one fine morning a few weeks ago to find themselves members of the Meighen cabinet. The average man had never heard of them prior to that time and the chances are that he will hear less of them after December 6th.

A prominent conservative says that he cannot vote for the Meighen candidate in the election. He says that he feels that the Meighen Government must be defeated before we can get back to responsible Government.

Commercial travellers who have exceptional opportunities of gauging public sentiment unhesitatingly declare that the Meighen government will be bowled out of office on December 6th.

TRIED TO POISON WHOLE FAMILY

Toronto, Nov. 2.—The police are investigating an attempt to poison Sam Restivo fruit merchant his wife and six young children. Milk left in bottle in their doorway was tampered with, and had not the pet dog which drank a small quantity died a few minutes afterwards the thirteen months old baby would have been fed the poisonous food.

Mrs. Restivo states that there is no doubt as to it being a deliberate attempt to poison the family. The dog's body has been sent to the laboratory of the provincial analyst to discover what poison was used.

TWO KILLED ON A TRAIN

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 2.—East-bound train No. 2, while leaving Vancouver Monday night over C. N. R. struck a rock slide one mile east of Geikie, and Engineer Rheame and Fireman Thompson both of Jasper, were killed.

The point where the accident occurred is seven miles west of Jasper in a rocky country. J. H. Cameron, assistant-general manager, said that no one else sustained injury and that little damage to rolling stock or track was sustained. He declared that passengers would be caused little delay. The train which was an unusually long one, left here Monday night and carried both Canadian Pacific Railway and Canadian National Railway passengers from Vancouver to be transferred at points further along the line beyond the break.
