R.B. Hanson, K.C. Candidate of the Conservative Party

Convention on Saturday Selected Him Over J. D. Palmer by

Two-to-one Vote—Bitter Contest between the Factions—

Machine Received Severe Setback—Signs of Flag-Flapping Arguments.

R. B. Hanson, K. C., was selected as the candidate of the party supporting Hon. Arthur Meighen for the by-election in York-Sunbury made necessary by the death of the late Col. H. F. McLeod. The choice was made by ballot and the vote stood 437 to 224 in favor of Mr. Hanson. The other candidate was J. D. Palmer, president of the Hartt Boot and Shoe Company and a prominent officer of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The selection of Mr. Hanson by the convention by so decisive a vote came as a surprise to all and a painful surprise to the local Tory machine which was backing Mr. Palmer. The support of the local Conservative newspaper also was thrown toward Mr. Palmer but counted for very little as the bulk of the party wanted the other candidate.

The fight was between two factions which have clashed before and although not going as far as an open rupture as has been the case in previous conventions was fought with extreme bitterness. Every effort was made to bring supporters of the two candidates to the convention and "boost" the vote for each.

By many it is doubted if 661 delegates were in attendance but both factions accepted the vote evidently being equally concerned in "repeating" if such was resorted to.

Factories Were Closed.

The convention was held in the County Court House a building entirely inadequate for the purpose. Both factions made every preparation to have a preponderating vote. Manufacturing plants were closed to give the crews a chance to attend their vote going solidly for Palmer. The local Conservative newspaper followed a similar line. The tactics failed however as Hanson outvoted the C. M. A. candidate about two to one displaying great strength in the rural sections. Ex-Warden A. B. Neill of Devon was chairman. Both candidates spoke after the balloting. Mr. Palmer expressing his intention of abiding by the decision of the convention and Mr. Hanson calling upon all to do the utmost in the campaign. He said that the Farmers might think twice of putting up a contest. He condemned them for attempting a class movement and urged York-Sunbury to elect him and thus declare against Bolshevism and for the ideals of fifty years.

The influence of J. K. Pinder, M. P., was for Hanson and counted heavily.

Neither candidate had been before a convention before.

Ballots were profusely distributed and both Mr. Hanson and Mr. Palmer were extremely busy previous to the opening shaking hands with their supporters.

A. B. Neill Chairman.

The chair was taken by A. B. Neill and the convention immediately declared open. An expression of regret of the death of the late Col. H. F. McLeod was passed and included in a letter of condolence sent to his widow and family. Next a vote of confidence in and endorsement of the Meighen ministry was passed.

It was then moved by Mr. Hanson and seconded by Dr. B. M. Mullin that the convention proceed with the selection of a candidate.

The first name placed before the convention was that of R. B. Hanson whose nomination was moved by W. S. Tompkins. The mover mentioned the entering of the farmers as legitimate factors into the political arena and emphasized the necessity of choosing as a candidate a man who could legislate for all classes. He nominated Mr. Hanson because he believed him possessed of ability and perception. The seconder was Mr. Taylor of Sunbury.

The nomination of J. D. Palmer was moved by C. D. Richards.

Preliminary Speakers.

While the votes were being counted many speakers were called to the platform. The first to respond was John A. Young, M. P., although the cries for Mr. Pinder were much more insistent. He touched on the death of the former representative then thanked the electors for the support accorded him in the last provincial election. That there would be an election the speaker considered very doubtful but believed either nominee would be successful. Messrs. Pinder, Hunter, Richards and Dr. Mullin also spoke and all disagreed with Mr. Young that there would be no election. Dr. Mullin stating that it would be a very keen election possibly the keenest election ever held in this constituency.

Ex-Warden John Scott, Parker Glasier, ex-M. P., and W. S. Tompkins were also called.

David Hipwell of St. John said he was thankful to see such a body of men representing the Union party of Canada. He never had been for him self but always for the party which represented the Old British Empire. The party as at present constituted he believed contained the cream of the Old Liberal and Conservative parties.

John A. Lindsay of Woodstock also was heard. He predicted victory in York-Sunbury for whichever candidate secured the nomination.

The scrutineers then returned with result of the balloting which was announced by Chairman A. B. Neill as Palmer, 224, Hanson, 437.

J. D. Palmer.

J. D. Palmer spoke at once saying that as the defeated candidate he presumed that he had the right to address the meeting first. His reason for speaking was to ask the friends who had cast so large and creditable a vote in his favor, to make the nomination unanimous. Naturally he would not be human if he would not feel better if he had secured the larger vote. There had been an election conducted fairly and honestly and he was willing to abide by the decision of the convention. He believed that the expounding of the policies of the party should be done during the campaign and not in convention. The party should go into this fight united. There had been party differences in the constituency in the past—splits in the party. He was not the type of man to countenance such on this occasion. He placed party matters before personal.

Mr. Palmer then moved that the nomination be made unanimous. The vote was put by the chairman and carried.

R. B. Hanson.

R. B. Hanson the successful candidate for nomination next was heard. He said that a man would have to have a heart of stone not to be touched by the regard displayed by those whom he did not know and those whom he did. For twenty years he had fought as a private in the party ranks and the time had come when he would bear the standard. He hoped and prayed that those assembled never would regret the choice they had made. There had been a strenuous contest carried on honestly and in a most friendly spirit. Members of the party could congratulate themselves on the manner in which the verdict of the ballot had been taken—the same manly way in which it had been received by J. D. Palmer.

He felt that there would be a fight, though when the Farmers realized that more than six hundred men of the two counties had left their work and paying their own fare without fear or emolument, had attended a nominating convention, they might hesitate. He could tell them that the community was too small for class movements. There was no aristocracy in this county but that of brains, the aristocracy which God had created. Lawyers, bankers nor manufacturers nor any other class could stand up and say "We will rule this country."

"I was sprung from the common people. My people worked and I worked," said the speaker. "Although a lawyer I have always been a man of the people."

Continuing he said that all members of the party should be proud to follow the present Federal leader, the best the country ever had seen. His position on the tariff issue had been well defined. He was for sufficient protection to enable the factories of Canada to operate and furnish a home market, the best kind of market, but he was not for a tariff as high as Human's gallows. The tariff issue would be discussed during the campaign.
