

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. OLD CLOTHES TAKE
NEW LEASE ON LIFE

There comes a time in the life of many a garment of colored wash material when the color it once possessed is streaked and faded. The blue has turned a dirty oyster color, yellow is a streaked tan, green is more yellow than green, lavender is either very pale or actually turned to light blue through the action of washing powders on the lavender dye.

With children's clothes the places that receive hardest wear—cuffs and collars especially—also show discoloration and dirt in spite of careful washing. This is why some persons prefer pure white for children's clothes. They never discolor and they may be boiled freely, because of their lack of color, so as to keep them snowy and spotless.

But don't forget that faded and grimy clothes may be dyed so as to give the garments a new lease of life. The color selected should be darker than the color of the old material but this does not mean that it need be dull. It sometimes happens that a child's frock or suit has both become faded and is too small. Now, although there may be none of the original material with which to let it down, it is quite possible to dye a little plain material with the faded garment with which to mend it.

It is quite easy for the amateur to get interesting effects from the process known as tying and dyeing. To do this you tie a knot in the material before you put it in the dye vat so that the dye takes on an interesting design, leaving the part of the material within the knot free from dye. Silk dyed in this way makes interesting cushion tops or lamp shade covers especially for the summer cottage or bungalow where you wish to gain interesting effects at small cost.

FASHIONS IN BRIEF.

Jumper dresses of wool persey are designed to wear over shirtwaists.

Two shades of chiffon are twisted together to make an interesting sash.

The narrow patent leather belt is worn with the straight chemise frock.

Sashes are oftentimes cut in one piece with the front panel of the blouse.

Evening bodices are generally straight across the front and shaped into a V or a deep U in back.

Entire dresses of worsted are offered in the smarter juvenile shops, and are completed by tiny tights or bloomers to match.

Many new dresses have widely flaring skirts, the fullness placed on the side, while front and back remain just as flat as possible.

On Fifth-av one sees Milady carrying a white parasol with triple rows of heavy black fringe, extending from about the center of the rib toward the edge.

Chenille dots are being introduced on crepe and cloth frocks and this form of trimming is replacing embroidery. Daytime wraps are similarly decorated.

For the very small boy—that is, the baby of one to two years—the smartest warm weather coat is the little tailored garment of the overcoat type, unlined of course, and made of a rather heavy white pique.

WILL SAVE THE OLD VICTORY

London, July 19—The fate of the Victory, Admiral Lord Nelson's famous flagship, has been disturbing British hearts since it became known the old vessel could not float much longer. It inspired questions in the House of Commons with the response from the Government that the Admiralty was carefully considering the necessary steps to preserve it and are determined that the ship must not sink at her moorings.

Among the suggestions for the vessel's preservation is that of Rear Admiral H. P. Wood that it should be broken up in parts and distributed among the churches of the country, but there is decided disapproval of destroying the historic ship. Another suggestion is that it should be lifted complete and placed in a cement basin in Victoria Park in Portsmouth.

WORLD NOT GOING BACK SAYS BANKER

"In the world generally there is steady progress. We cannot shut our eyes to that," said H. V. F. Jones, Assistant General Manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce on his return to Toronto from a three-months visit to Great Britain, Belgium, France and Spain. "The whole world is not going back", he said, "but it is experiencing a lot of trouble. Bankers abroad admit they have to face conditions they never dreamed of before the war, and while the English banker, a man of great courage, patience and foresight, acknowledges there is no sign of improvement in conditions yet, he is hopeful with the coming harvest there may be a change for the better. Unfortunately crops in Great Britain are suffering from drought but our harvest outlook is good, and compared with other countries in the world Canada is in a most satisfactory condition."

Mr. Jones was able to point to agreeable phases of the recent coal strike in Great Britain. Coming ahead of its schedule it resulted in less suffering than would have been the case in the autumn and the inconvenience to travellers was practically limited to the cancellation of some of the trains.

While Mr. Jones said he was far from being an advocate of depreciated currency it was a curious thing that certain industrial countries which suffered severely from inflation had certain advantages in being able to buy to best advantage at home, or from nearby nations, where the value of their money stood highest. An instance was Czecho-Slovakia whose currency was sufficient for foodstuffs at home or nearby and where the wages paid would be ridiculously small in our currency, but those same wages enabled the workman to supply his needs at home. The manufacturer sold his goods on a gold basis and the margin of profit was consequently large.

Grand-Father smiles while Baby tells him how nice his beard feels and how sweet it smells. The secret is the morning wash with Baby's Own Soap—the same as Mother uses for herself and for the children. Its purity assures skin comfort to the most delicate skin, which is why it is "Best for Baby and Best for You". Roses of France, Geraniums from Tunis, and other natural perfumes, rare, expensive, but good, give their aroma to Baby's Own Soap.
