Advertising is News

WITHOUT ADVERTISEMENTS this paper would not be as interesting to you, because the information about goods for sale in the stores is news—just that.

Many people read newspapers as much for their advertising columns as they do for other news.

This is particularly true at this time of the year.

Stores are now advertising Spring Wearing Apparel and a host of things that are bought for household use, incident to spring cleaning.

Think of the money that will be spent by women for spring clothing. The new frocks, hats, shoes, lingerie, corsets, gloves, sweaters, neckwear, light wraps and blouses that will be bought.

The same is true of men's buying. Think of the suits, light top coats, hats, shirts, collars, ties, gloves, socks, shoes—the sporting goods and the incidental wearing apparel bought for golf, tennis and so on.

Think of the new things that will be bought for spring cleaning and home convenience at this time. The vacuum cleaners, carpet sweepers, brooms, gas and electric heaters, ranges, washing machines, paints, varnishes, floor wax, cleansing fluids, curtains, upholstery, garden and porch furniture, lawn mowers, garden tools, etc.

Think of the lighter foods coming into use. Cereals, fruits, salads.

All these new demands are incident to the changing season, and they all are Trade Stimulating.

People feel livelier at this time and consequently loosen up their purse strings.

The opportunity for local merchants to get over effective Local Advertising News at this time is so evident that it needs no emphasis.

LOYD GEORGE CONFERS WITH EAMMON DEVALERA

Mr. De Valera received a cable message from the United States today informing him of the postponement of the hearing of the United States Senate on the resolutions of Senator La Follette and Senator Norris in connection with Irish affairs.

The message concluded: "America, with implicit faith in your ability and integrity, earnestly hopes the negotiations will terminate in a lasting peace based on justice."

The communication was signed by J. D. Scott and Eugene Kinkead, of the executive committee of the American association for recognition of the Irish republic.

Mr. De Valera also received many other messages from Ireland, England, the United States and Australia, expressing hopes for the success of the conference.

De Valera Confident.

The republican president said today that the outlook was brighter than it ever was in history.

Republicans Satisfied.

London, July 14—One of the men who accompanied Mr. De Valera to the Irish conference today with Premier Lloyd George said tonight: "We are satisfied with the results of the initial conference."

A communique issued stated that a free exchange of views took place between Mr. Lloyd George and Mr. De Valera and their relative positions were defined.

The conference will be resumed at 11.30 o'clock tomorrow morning, it was announced.

The communique began: "Mr. Lloyd

George and Mr. De Valera met as arranged at 4.30 this afternoon. They were alone and the conference lasted until after 7 o'clock." It then told of the exchange of views and the outlining of the positions of the Prime Minister and the Irish leader.

Lloyd George Talks.

London, July 14—Premier Lloyd George held a council of Ministers at the House of Commons tonight to discuss his meeting with Eamonn De Valera, Irish Republican leader. Later he proceeded to a dinner of the Liberal coalitionists, where he received a great ovation.

Apologizing for his late appearance he said he had been engaged in important tasks throughout the day and after discharging them had to meet his colleagues and report to his sovereign, who, he declared, was taking a very keen and close interest in the proceedings and to whose intervention so much was attributable.

"We owe him," added the Prime Minister, "a deep debt of gratitude for this, one of the greatest services he has rendered."

This was greeted with loud applause.

With reference to Ireland, Mr. Lloyd George besought his audience not to tempt him to an indiscretion.

"The less said the better at this stage," declared the Prime Minister, "but there is the great fact—that Mr. De Valera, chieftan of the vast majority of the Irish race has been in conference for nearly three hours with the Prime Minister of this country, discussing various methods and suggestions for the settlement of this long, long controversy—an old, bitter feud, a feud in which there has been for ages a long number of disastrous blunders, and endless opportunities lost.

"Let us trust that this one will not be lost. I can only say, after the long discussion that I am certain that we both did our best to secure peace. (Loud cheers.) Beyond that it would not be wise for me to go at this moment, because we both have our difficulties to deal with."

Greenwood Confident.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, said tonight he believed that a permanent settlement would be the ultimate result of the Irish conference.

The Athlete's Remedy for Sprains and Bruises

THE sprains and bruises encountered in sport vanish with the application of Minard's Liniment. This fact is confirmed by the following letter received from W. E. McPherson, Secy. Armstrong High School Baseball Club:

"Since the start of the Baseball season we have been hindered with sore muscles, sprained ankles, etc., but just as soon as we started using Minard's Liniment our troubles ended. Every athlete should keep a bottle handy."

This letter is only one of the many we have received from well-known athletes.
