HERD IMPULSES

Charles W. Eliot, president emeritus of Harvard University, is disturbed over the destruction of individuality in this country.

"We are more and more becoming subject," he says, "to what I may call 'herd' impulses, gregarious impulses, common emotions."

How is it to be avoided? Our days are ordered according to systems in which regularity is commander-in-chief. The mother is urged to feed and clothe and provide sleep for children in keeping with a chart. The school boy and school girl go through with their studies with mathematical precision. Play time is prescribed and mass games are held to be the most valuable. Adults herd to their work, and herd home again. In factory and in office what they do is precisely what those next to them do, in the same manner and under the same sharp eyed supervision. If a thousand men bend and turn and move alike, if they repeat over and over the same specified tasks, pretty soon they will not simply develop identically the same set of muscles, but also the same thoughts and the same manner of thinking. It is impossible to devote the most important hours to mass action without bringing about mass thinking—"herd" impulses, gregarious impulses, common emotions."

The individuality of another day cannot be restored unless there is another order of living and working than we have now. It is waste of time to attempt to alter a state or a condition in which team-work, a gentle term for mass action, is of foremost importance. Yet it ought not to be waste of time to develop "herd" impulses, gregarious impulses, common emotions" in directions that further happiness and the finer human instincts and the widespread welfare of people.

THE WAR LOANS

The British suggestion that the American war loans to the Allies be cancelled had points in its favor that were not entirely selfish. Great Britain stood ready to cancel an equal amount of loans. The lifting of the burdens would hasten the restoration of Europe. This restoration would react to the prosperity of America. Our treasury would lose, but indirectly the country as a whole would gain.

It has often been said that Great Britain is more democratic than the United States. We are entitled to dispute it. The government of Great Britain, without considering parliament or the people, can make such a proposition as loan cancellation, all upon its own initiative. The administrative branch of our government could not think of doing such a thing in such a way. It would have to let congress into even the preliminary negotiations. It could not act without obtaining the final authority of congress. And the chances are that congress, responsible to the people would feel that it must have a very plain mandate from the nation before it set its hand and seal to an order upon the treasury department to write off the loans.

There is little likelihood that the Allied war loans in America will ever be abrogated. The difficulties in the way of it are mountain high.

A RECIPROCITY TORY

A correspondent writing to the Halifax Chronicle regarding the politics of Hon. J. A. McDonald, the Nova Scotian who will represent New Brunswick in the Senate has this to say:

"There seems to be a good deal of contention or remark as to what side of politics John A. McDonald, the newly appointed senator, was on. It may be said that he was made a station agent and operator in New Brunswick

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

under the old conservative regime and was generally regarded as of the Tory persuasion. After Laurier came into power Mr. McDonald became a staunch supporter of the great Canadian Liberal and as a resident of Halifax appeared on the public platforms throughout the country during the different campaigns. After the defeat of the Liberals in 1911 Mr. McDonald again became a conservative on the alleged ground that he could not support Reciprocity, although the general belief was that it was owing to a legislative councillor appointment."

Those behind the campaign of the United Farmers in York-Sunbury say that there is not the slightest vestige of truth in the report that Candidate Stairs is considering the advisability of dropping out of the contest. They declare that he is in the fight to a finish and is receiving gratifying assurances of support from unexpected quarters.

Twenty dollar shoes and twenty five cent calf skins are not likely to help the cause of the Meighen government in this constituency at the approaching by election.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

O what is so rare as a day in February.

When you fuss about the weather it's a sign you're getting old.

It's difficult to convince a man that he's a champ—and if you do, what's the use?

We must make the most of human nature until something better is found to take its place.

When a girl is in love her thoughts are about equally divided between the last time she saw him and the next time he is coming.

Lots of people don't let their left hand know what their right hand is doing because they don't know which is left and which is right.

If a machine is invented to enable the dead to talk to the living a widower will have to bribe his first wife's spirit not to tattle to his prospective second wife.

Some day an artist will win fame by painting a heartrending picture of a pretty housewife in tears, with a broken bowl of whipped cream lying at her feet and labelling it "Gloom."

When you see a man sneak past a window full of pink camisoles with eyes turned in the other direction you know that he's a fellow who wouldn't be caught wearing spats or carrying perfumed handkerchiefs.

From Pittsburgh comes the story of a church filled for the first time in fifteen years because of newspaper advertising. There is nothing surprising in the fact. A good ad will fill any church; but it will require a good preacher and a good service to keep it full. An ad draws attention to good goods; it can't sell poor stuff.

RHEUMATISM! IS YOURS ACUTE OR CHRONIC?

In either case you'll get such results from good old "Nerviline" which has five times the pain-destroying power of ordinary remedies. Nerviline gives results because it penetrates to the source of the pain, because it contains ingredients that destroy rheumatic pains. It is the unusually bad case that proves the power of Nerviline. Suited for young and old; used internally and externally for many purposes, 35c. at all dealers.

ANIMAL HEAVEN

"Do animals go to heaven when they die?" a small boy asked his mother.

"Why, no dear."

"Well, where do elephants, hippos, snakes and lions go when they die?"

"They go to the museum of course" pipes in little brother, who had been listening to the conversation.

OUCH!

"How does that strike you?" said the Hammer to the Nail.

"Never touched me. That was the boss's thumb you hit."

RAILROADS WILL ADOPT DAYLIGHT TIME

Montreal, Feb. 25.—Canadian railroads will probably operate on daylight saving time from May 1st to October 2nd, according to an announcement of the Railway Association of Canada today.

The association has issued an appeal to all Canadian municipalities to adopt daylight saving on the same dates as the railways in order to avoid the confusion which arose from the conflicting dates in the past.

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-LIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE
Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good. Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-lives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-lives.' 'Fruit-a-lives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

Dame PETER LAMARRE (fils),
50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c.

URBAN STOCK CO. IS COMING NEXT WEEK

The popular Urban Stock Company will open a special engagement of two days, starting Wednesday evening, Mar. 2. For the opening play "Cappy Ricks" will be presented. This is a popular comedy, dramatized from the famous stories of the same name that had such an immense vogue in the Saturday Evening Post. In this play there is more legitimate cause for laughs than is found in a dozen comedies. It is a play you can thoroughly enjoy and is one of the best plays that the Urban Stock Company has ever appeared in, finding great favor wherever offered.

This engagement is limited to two days, with popular pleasing prices prevailing. Seats on sale at the Box Office Monday.
