

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

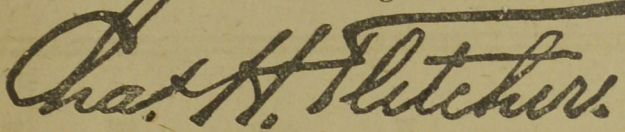

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

NEW FILM PRODUCTIONS.

Work has started at Universal City on an Eileen Sedgwick serial, "The Terror Trail."

Viola Dana will soon start a picture called "Home Stuff" for Metro.

Eugene O'Brien has finished "Gilded Lies" a new Selznick film.

Elaine Hammerstein has commenced work on "Handcuffs and Kisses." Matt Moore will be her leading man.

Well known names are in the cast of the new Morosco picture "The Half Breed." Among them are Wheeler Oakman, Hugh Thompson, Joseph Dowling, Mary Anderson, Ann May and Juanita Archer.

Forrest Stanley will be with May Allison in "Big Game," a screen version of the stage success.

Clara Kimball Young.

Carmel Myers needn't think that she is the only one whose picture is on its way to completion. Clara Kimball Young has just finished her new film which is called "Straight from Paris." In this film you will see one of the most interesting double exposures made recently.

Conrad Nagel in New Picture.

Having received previously the information that Dorothy Dalton and Mildred Harris will play leading roles in Cecil De Mille's next picture, everyone has been wanting to know what leading man Mr. De Mille has in mind to play opposite these stars. Now comes word that Conrad Nagel will have the leading male role.

Daily Screen Joke.

It seems that Doug Fairbanks went into a small town hotel and bought three cigars. After he had taken a few puffs he turned to the clerk and said "Rotten—fearful." "Don't complain," said the clerk, "you've only got two left; I've got 997 on my hands."

A Bit of Gossip.

Hot from the wire this came in recently: It would seem that in Los Angeles the other day Mrs. Marshall Neilan, wife of the famous producer, has gained her divorce from Mr. Neilan. Blanche Sweet was named in the trial.

Did You Notice?

Did you realize when you saw "Outside the Law" that Lon Chaney played two roles. He played the part of Black Mike and also the Chinese servant who shoots Silva. This was a case where a man shot himself when he was someone else—interesting, to say the least.

Connie's Next

"The Man from Toronto," Douglas Murray's play, which was adapted for Constance Talmadge by Grant Carpenter, has now been definitely titled "Lessons in Love." This story, which, like "Wedding Bells," is a Chet Withely production, will follow "Mamma's Affair." Prominent in the cast of "Lessons in Love" are Kenneth Harlan, Flora Finch, Florence Short, Jas. Harrison, George Fawcett, Frank Webster and Louise Lee.

FADS AND FOIBLES

Draped afternoon gowns are trimmed with fringe.

Roman and peasant stripes are favored in gingham.

Buff foulard with printed design in black is a favorite.

Jenny is showing dresses with half-length free panel backs.

A frock of soft peacock blue taffeta has a heavy cord finish.

The arms of evening gowns are outlined with outstanding ruffles.

A smart three-piece cape sports costume is in black and white striped cheviot, trimmed with black oilcloth.

One dress of white moire has a matching cape lined with gold lace.

Sleeveless evening gowns have high gauntlet cuffs attached to the armhole by long bands of ribbon.

HOW HOUSEHOLD LINEN SHOULD BE EMBROIDERED

Special to Daily Mail. Copyright by Cross Atlantic News Service.

(By Ysobel Barre)

London, March 20 (By Mail)—The embroidery of household linen is a most fascinating occupation if sufficient variety be introduced. Some people have a mania for working everything in one stitch and they complain that the task is wearisome. It is quite enough for general effect if the various classes of linen are worked in the same style. Towels, for instance, one way, bed linen another, table linen in yet a third.

For example, let us say that old English lettering may be selected for the damask. These look extremely well in red or blue thread. The bath sheets could be done (in the same coloring), but in the boldly formed cross-stitch lettering favored by our grandmothers.

When buying cottons it is well to bear in mind the scheme of color employed in the decoration of the bathroom. Another hint for those who lack time or patience to pad properly is to use the papier mache letters as a foundation.

Script letters look well embroidered on the smaller articles such as napery not more than one letter should be used in such case. Tablecloths, also, are effective with a single letter if it be large enough, but most people prefer two or three.

Linen so marked, be it a portion of a bride's trousseau outfit or the replenishment of a young wife's store, is a constant source of joy to its possessor.

The arrangement of the lettering is an evergreen subject for dispute. Some matrons contest that the correct spot for monogram or initial is either in the actual center of a tablecloth or else right in front of the carver. Others aver that such suggestions are entirely wrong, and that the embroidery must be executed at one of the corners, beyond the "salt." A third school of artists insist that the best place of all is near the border at the right-hand corner; this certainly is the most effective spot for display purposes.

Letters may be set either parallel with the border or at right-angles to the corner. The last mentioned is the better arrangement if only one letter is to be embroidered. When a monogram or two or three letters are used they look well in a straight line across the corner.

White thread is, of course, the best for such work unless for small lunch cloths with colored borders, when their effect is heightened by the employment of the same colored cotton as that woven in. It is wise to wash a few strands before using these cottons whatever their guarantee may say. I have known green to change to a dull brown on the very first visit to the laundry.

GLOUCESTER MEMBER HEARD IN THE HOUSE

put up candidates belonging to their own party. In the last contest an ex-Provincial Secretary offered as a Farmers' candidate, while in Charlotte a gentleman connected with the fisheries also came forth as an agriculturist. That sort of thing had a tendency to cast a doubt on the sincerity of the Farmers' movement. He was satisfied that only real farmers had secured an election, while there had masqueraded as farmers had gone down to defeat. He hoped all hon. members would unite in making the deliberations of the Legislature as pleasant as possible.

Drop a little "Freezone" on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then shortly you lift it right off with fingers. It doesn't hurt a bit. Your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Freezone" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without a particle of pain.

EX-PREMIER OF FRANCE IS IN AMERICA

New York, March 31—Rene Viviani, former Premier of France and special envoy for his country, arrived in New York yesterday aboard La Lorraine of the French Line. Although his formal announcement conveys the impression that his visit to America is one of international courtesy and a graceful tribute to the new Administration, M. Viviani let it be known that he comes with far reaching authority to speak for the French Government in an adjustment of international relationships.

"I have come to the United States," said M. Viviani in a statement issued when he boarded the revenue cutter that brought him ashore at the Battery, "to pay to the President of that great Republic the respect of the Government and the entire nation of France. I, therefore, can make no further statement before having saluted the chief of the States."

"In saluting the first and great citizen of the American democracy, I salute also the great and noble people for whom France keeps her tender affection and eternal gratitude."

THAT'S EASY ENOUGH

I have studied a great deal, remarked Cassius Chex, but there is one thing I can't understand.

What is that?
Why a man who borrows a hundred dollars and can't pay is a failure, while a man who borrows a million dollars is a success whether he can pay or not.

Father Francis P. Duffy expresses a great truth in a few words when he says: "Sin is news; if virtue were as uncommon as one might think, then virtue would be on the front page of the newspapers."

All the world's a scene, the men and women merely closeups.

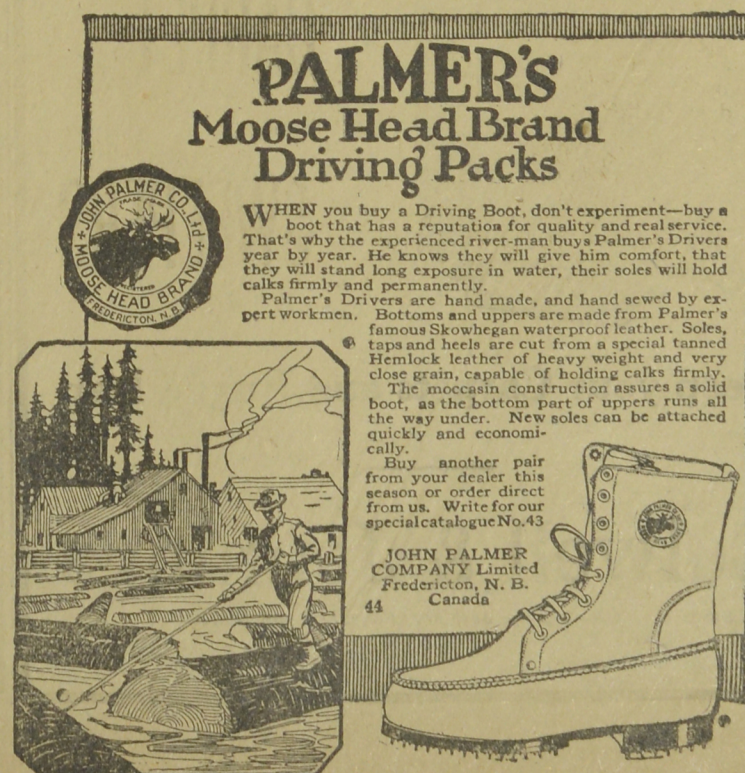

Did this ever happen to you?
