Dinner of U. N. B. Rugby Squad Will Wind up Season of 1921

The football season is over and hockey is upon us. There is one "hang over" of the football season, however, and that a pleasant one. It is the dinner of the U. N. B. Rugby Squad. The Clark Trophy emblematic of the Western Section title now being on hand, the dinner can go on with the chief table ornament in sight. The election campaign delayed the dinner but it probably will be held next week.

Eddie St Pere elected as a Liberal for one of the Montreal ridings is an outstanding representative of things athletic in the new House of Commons. He has been a sporting writer for some time. He also has been a lacrosse referee and president of the National Lacrosse Association. The National Amateur Athletic Association of Montreal also had him as a president.

New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Hockey League probably will now display more life with the Federal election safely out of the way. Each of the three sections is to draw up its schedule.

Acadia University is reported to have a brand new hockey outfit to spring on the public. It must necessarily be new because none of the 1921 team is at college. Dalhousie must fill gaps in the team and St. F. X. the same. O. N. B. seems about the best equipped of any of the colleges as far as experienced players are concerned. Mt. Allison is reported to have several of last season's players on hand.

Fred and George Carroll of last season's Moncton independent hockey team have gone the full distance into pro hockey and now are on their way west to fill their ten weeks' contract with the Edmonton team.

Red Synott formerly of Chatham as manager of the Pere Marquette hockey club of Chatham will have a number of former Maritime college players as well as other players well known in these parts. Innis, Rudolph and Fraser of Halifax will be with the Westminsters. The two Venos of Chatham will be with the same. Ajax Campbell and Don and Jack MacNeill will be with Pere Marquette.

Dalhousie is building a team around Lilly, Haslam, MacAskill, Smith, Hickey and McIsaac. That should be a good enough foundation. There also are numerous new men.

GERMAN TOYS GIVE LONDON CHEAPEST XMAS SINCE 1914

London, Dec. 3.—This will be the cheapest Christmas in England since 1914. It will be cheap because it will be largely German. The English child will play with German field guns, German tanks, German airplanes painted in red white and blue; will operate a German clockwork train painted in English colors and decorate a German toy tree with German candles and German tinsels.

It is difficult for some parents to forget but the children these days have only eyes and to them the appeal of these toys is stronger than youthful was impressions so the people of small means will be able to please their loved ones. It is the first time since the war that toys have been sold at a reasonable figure.

The German articles show the old handiwork and as always tend strongly toward militaristic kultur, but engines, boats houses and dolls likewise are plentiful. Dealers say that 75 per cent. of the toys that are now being sold were made in Germany and the demand is so large because they can be sold at almost pre-war prices, a thing which similar articles made at home cannot approach.

Among the novelties is an engine operated on hot air capable of running six hours and which is sold at $5. Also there is a wireless set capable of receiving messages from the Eiffel Tower and which is sold for $15.

Among the gifts for milady this year there is a beautiful array of smoking equipment which includes pipes studded with jewels, cigar holders in feminine habs for carrying and delicately beribboned containers for the boudoir table. It is further proof that woman smokers are going beyond the cigarette and are trespassing man's penchant for stronger tobacco.

A fashionable Piccadilly shop makes pipes according to the design and pattern submitted by fashionable customers. For many years this firm has kept the secret of Mayfair's women pipe smokers, accepting and filling orders on the quiet but with smoking such an established fact among women now it is showing its wares openly.

There seem to be many styles of women's pipes but they generally run toward little briars with squat bowls and thin black stems. Many are jewel studded, highly decorated and neatly carved.

Hi Slocum says no wonder the Tories got beaten. National, Liberal and Conservative was the tail wagging the dog.
