SUNDAY OBSERVANCE

Appropos of recent announcement that workmen on the job at Rideau Hall will be required to work day and night, Sundays and week-days, the following from a British news paper shows the difference between work on Buckingham Palace, London, and on the Vice-Royal residence, Ottawa:

"In spite of the urgent necessity for completing the work of refacing the frontage of the King's Palace within the contract limit of three months, so that the building operations will have to be carried on continuously night and day, in three shifts of eight hours each, it is gratifying to know that all work will cease for the twenty-four hours of the Lord's Day, commonly called Sunday. Here once more the workmen of the Empire have cause to say from their hearts: 'God Save the King.' May this loyal precedent be laid to heart by all lesser landlords, employers, and public authorities."

Commenting on the above the Toronto Globe says:

"What is done for King George might be done for his uncle. The consideration shown for workmen in Canada, respect for law and order, if good for his Imperial Majesty, would also be good for His Royal Highness. Canada ought not to be less lawabiding than Britain."

Here in Fredericton a gang of men have for some weeks been doing Sunday work on the foundation of the draw-span of the highway bridge and protests made to the provincial government seem to be useless. Last Sunday a pile driver was kept at work the greater part of the day, making a noise that could be heard blocks away. The work is undoubtedly important but it does not look as if there was one chance in a hundred of it being completed before the river is frozen over. It is to be hoped that the next time Premier Flemming accepts an invitation to address a Sunday School gathering he will devote some attention to the subject of Sabbath observance and the great need of public authorities showing some respect for law and order.

TRUCK WITH THE YANKEES

Under the heading of Canada's Commerce, The New York World recently published the following:

"The figures of Canadian trade for 1912, now published from Ottawa, reveal a Canada whose trade relations with the United States are of tremendous size and rapid growth."

"Canada's total commerce for the year was barely short of a billion dollars—$997,555,201, to be exact. This was an increase of almost two hundred millions in a single year. It was almost $140 per head of population. No other nation has such a volume of commerce in proportion, save only Holland."

"Of this billion-dollar commerce of Canada's, more than half is with the United States—$547,358,264. Not counting coin and bullion, we sold Canada $409,000,000 worth of goods—an increase in a single year of $90,000,000 or 25 per cent. From Canada we bought $138,000,000—an increase of $30,000,000, or nearly 22 per cent. The balance of our exports to Canada over imports thence reached the enormous total of $271,000,000."

"Canada's great purchases from the United States were carriages, automobiles and wagons, coal, etc., fruit, metals, oils, manufactures of wood, and, oddly enough, breadstuffs. Emigrants from the United States took into Canada $10,695,192 in 'settlers' effects' alone."

"More than nine-tenths of all automobiles imported into Canada came from the United States; yet Canada sold $2,000,000 worth, to other British provinces chiefly. Canada bought nearly eight times as much butter as she sold, which seems queer."

The following, taken from a recent number of The Wainwright Star, goes to show that members of the Flemington government are not the only Tory politicians who dabble in western lands:—"G. L. Hudson, M.P.P., went up the line as far as Viking on Sunday and interviewed Hon. Mr. Pelletier, postmaster general, who was at that point looking over five sections of land, a company, with which he is connected, owns there. He was interviewed in respect to a new post-office here." Hon. Mr. Pelletier is, of course, touring the west at the public expense.

St. John Times: We had almost forgotten for the moment that great man, Col. the Hon. Sam Hughes, but a cable received in Quebec announces that the Canadian war-lord and his splendid retinue are now in attendance upon the British army manoeuvres, and will presently pay a visit to Woolwich arsenal and other places of special interest to men of warlike habit. Col. Sam will have a great story to tell on his return, but even that will be nothing to the bill which will be presented for liquidation by the country. With Col. Sam in the saddle Canada must have a war chest with the lid off.

The presence of Col. Sam Hughes, Canada's war lord, and our own Col. McLeod in Europe has not been the means of putting a stop to the fighting in the Balkans as many had hoped that it would. The many had hoped that it would. The servians and the Albanians are now at each other's throats and a general embroglio is feared. At last accounts Col. Sam and Col. Harry are watching the manoeuvres at Aldershot as the guest of the Imperial government.

Mr. J. E. B. McCready, publicity commissioner for P. E. Island estimates that there is now ten million dollars involved in the Silver black fox industry. One of the companies, the Riverside Farming Company, has declared a dividend of 235 per cent. Another the prospect has declared a dividend of 119 per cent and a stock bonus of 200 per cent.

The Tories who profess to be greatly pleased over the new U. S. tariff bill, have apparently forgotten that it may be the means of diverting traffic north and south and might therefore be injurious to Canadian railways. This was an effective canvass against the reciprocity agreement two years ago.

TO SPEAK AT ST. JOHN

Globe:—Mrs. Carrie Robinson of Boston, who is to be the principle speaker at the women's meetings in the Baptist convention in the Brussels street church, arrived today on the Boston train and is the guest of Mrs. W. H. Golding at the Clifton House. Mrs. Robinson is secretary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society in Boston and for some time back has been doing deputy work in the State of Maine. In that capacity she attended all twelve of the association meetings as well as the state convention. She is a very impressive speaker and gave addresses on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

If Cross, Feverish, Constipated, Give "California Syrup of Figs"

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally, or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad; has stomach-ache, sore throat, diarrhoea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of its little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax children to take this harmless "fruit laxative;" they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs" which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

COLLEGE FOR GRADUATES

twelve more at the table. An additional house was secured recently, affording lodging for eight students, while all others who take courses in the graduate school entirely depended upon the rooms in the university and upon town rooms.

Under the rule of the university allowing a certain number of graduate fellowships, some of the scholars are employed as substitutes and assistants in the various courses which they are pursuing and accommodations are given to them in the dormitories.

The present equipment of the graduate college consists of five large and handsome buildings, entirely fire-proof, heated with steam and lighted with electricity. All students' rooms are completely furnished, including even window curtains, bedding and bed linen. A single suite includes usually a bedroom and a well-lighted study. The present capacity of the graduate college is 102 students and it is expected that in a year or two it will be possible to accommodate considerable more students. The classes are held in the university halls and the regular members of the faculty are the instructors. It is planned, however, to secure the services of a number of prominent lecturers.
