SYMPATHY SHOWN FOR VIOLA REID

Unfortunate Girl Broke Down in Court During Progress of Trial at St. John

EVIDENCE FOR THE CROWN ALL IN TODAY

St. John, Sept. 27.—The trial of Viola Reid, charged with the murder of her infant son, was begun yesterday in the Circuit Court before Judge White. During the proceedings in the afternoon session the prisoner broke down several times as she sat in the dock and appeared to be greatly worried over her position. Many in the court room sympathized with her deeply in her predicament. There were five witnesses examined in the afternoon and three in the morning. The case was adjourned about 6.15 p.m. until this morning at 10 o'clock. Five witnesses are yet to be produced by the prosecution and it is expected that the crown case will close this morning. Attorney General Grimmer and B. L. Gerow conducted the case for the crown and P. A. Guthrie appeared for the defence.

The first witness called in the afternoon was David Duplisa of Fredericton Junction. Examined by Mr. Gerow, he said he had accompanied Viola Reid for some distance up the track from Fredericton Junction station, where he had met her. He had carried her suitcase for her and noticed that it was unusually heavy. About a quarter of a mile up the track he had left her and had last seen her going over the fence in the direction of the school house, near which she had said she was to meet her father.

Simon Burns of Fredericton Junction, gave evidence along the same lines as the previous witness and Mary Virtue, formerly matron of the Evangeline Home, told of the prisoner going there and of the birth of the child.

When the girl left the home she had said that her ultimate destination was Sackville, where she was going to leave the child for a few days, and return to Tracy. Her brother had taken some clothes away in a grip, witness said, in answer to whether the prisoner had two suitcases.

Dr. A. Edward Loggie was next called. He said that he had attended the prisoner at the home after the child had been born and said she had called at his office about a week before her arrest. She had asked the doctor whether or not he would mention that a child had been born if questioned by Chief Rideout. He had told her he would not as he had not attended the case.

The prisoner had told the doctor that the child was in Michigan and appeared to be much affected over losing it.

The last witness called was Lillian Fear, who had been employed at the home during the prisoner's stay there. Her evidence was not important.

THE MARKET IS IRREGULAR

Trade Reviews Indicate an Enlargement of Business Activity

Important Announcement Expected From Union Pacific Directors on Wednesday Next

New York, Sept. 27.—The London market was fairly steady at the close except in the American department, which was reactionary but weak. There was a brisk demand for money on account of the approach of the end of the month but financial requirements of October 1st seemed to be nearly satisfied. There is little news which should tend to stimulate interest in our market, the progress with the tariff bill being the matter of most importance, although there is no great reason to believe that the signing of the measure by President Wilson, expected to occur in the coming week, should produce any material effect, except that technical factors might be availed of.

The weekly trade reviews are favorable, indicating an enlargement of business activity, although the course of the Stock Market is not quite regular. There are persistent rumors that an important announcement will be made after a meeting of the Union Pacific directors on Wednesday next.

COUNTESS OF ASHBURNHAM HELD IN HIGH ESTEEM

Has Won Place in Hearts of Those in Service of the House

A letter written to a friend in this city by one of the ladies who were the guests of the Earl and Countess of Ashburnham at Ashburnham Place, Sussex, England, while on their way to Leipzig, Germany, stated that the Countess is regarded with the utmost esteem and affection by the people connected with the estate. These number 1,300 and although Her Grace has been at Ashburnham Place but a few months she has won a place in their hearts.

"There are merry hearts and light feet about here now," were the words used by an aged servant of the family. Those in the service of the Earl contrast present conditions with those which prevailed under the preceding Earl to the advantage of the present.

Concerning the entertainment of the party at Ashburnham Place, the letter says that the hospitality could not have been surpassed.

GOVERNOR SULZER BEING HARD PRESSED

Startling Evidence Brought Out Against Him at the Impeachment Trial—Asked Men Who Were to Testify Against Him to go Easy—Shown to Have Speculated in Wall Street With Campaign Funds—Broker Gives Important Testimony

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 26.—Governor William Sulzer tried to persuade contributors to his campaign fund not to testify against him, according to evidence adduced at his impeachment trial today.

He asked Duncan W. Peck, state superintendent of public works, who gave $500 to the fund, to violate his oath on the witness stand in the event that he should be called to testify before the Frawley investigating committee, Peck swore. The governor, Peck asserted, had told him that he, too, would deny having received contributions. This conversation, he said, occurred in the governor's office at the Capitol. The witness was examined by John B. Stanchfield as to the precise words used by the governor.

"What did he say?" "He said, 'Do as I shall do; deny it,' I said, 'Suppose I shall be under oath?' He said, 'That is nothing; forget it.'"

Attorney Hinman, cross examining for the defence, asked Peck if it were possible that he could be mistaken about a single word that passed between him and the governor.

"Not a word," Peck replied emphatically.

Peck, at the time of his contribution, held his present position but, he testified, he told the governor there were no "strings" on the gift and that he did not need to feel that he was obligated to reappoint him. Peck was reappointed.

A BOMB IN SULZER'S CAMP.

The governor asked Henry W. Morgenthau, ambassador to Turkey, who contributed $1,000, to be "easy on him," and to "treat the affair between us as personal" in the event that he should be called to testify. This Mr. Morgenthau swore to when recalled to the witness stand today. He said that the request was made by the governor over the long distance telephone on September 2 last.

The governor's attorneys gave indication of being completely confounded by the testimony of these two witnesses. None of them had the faintest inkling, it was learned, that such accusations were to be brought by the attorneys for the assembly managers.

It was further brought out that Richard Croker Jr., son of the former leader of Tammany Hall, had contributed a $2,000 check payable at the request of Sulzer, to the order of "cash" and that the check was cashed by Frederick L. Colwell, alleged to have been the governor's agent in his Wall Street transactions. This was the first testimony adduced either at the present trial or before the Frawley investigating committee directly connecting Colwell with the governor in that capacity.

Counsel for the defense fought desperately to gain from each witness testimony that he had made the gift not for the purpose of helping the governor in his political contest but to aid him personally.

The questions twice precipitated during the day a heated dispute as to the admissibility of any evidence tending to show the intentions of the donors of the gifts.

The result was that the objection of counsel for the prosecution to admitting the evidence was twice overruled by a vote of the court, which was in keeping with opinions previously rendered by Presiding Judge Cullen.

SPECULATED WITH CAMPAIGN FUNDS.

The prosecution brought in today, for the first time during the trial, evidence to support the charges that the governor used some of his campaign funds to speculate in Wall Street. Philip Boyer, head of the New York Stock Exchange, of the firm of Boyer, Griswold & Co., and two of his employees, testified to the purchase by Colwell of $12,000 worth of "Big Four" stock which was paid for by seven checks given Sulzer, his own personal check for $900 and $7,125 in cash.

Senator Duhamel of Brooklyn, elected on an Independence League ticket, asked, in the course of his argument, for a liberal ruling by the presiding judge on technical legal questions.

"On behalf of the laymen of this court," he said, "I ask a liberal ruling on all questions. And in making this request I am mindful of the words of counsel that such proceedings as this may be the work of crooks and criminals to save themselves from prosecution."

His remarks, the first of the kind to come from any of those sitting in judgment on the governor, caused a stir among the spectators.

TO RACE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Great Aquatic event Being Pulled off on Toronto Boy

Nephew of Late Edward Hanlon Will Try Conclusions With Eddie Durnan

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 27.—The race for the championship of America between Eddie Durnan, the present holder of the title, and Frank B. Greer, who holds the championship title for the United States, which is to be rowed this afternoon on Toronto Bay, has attracted thousands of lovers of the rowing sport and others interested in aquatic and other sports in a general way, to this city and there is every reason to believe that the race will be watched by enormous crowds already gathering at every available point overlooking the course at Hanlan's Point, where the contest will take place.

Both Durnan and Greer have been training and practising for a week or more and are said to be in the pink of condition. Greer, who is the challenger, came to Toronto about a week ago and since his arrival has put in most of his time on the waters of the bay, limbering up for the great event which is to decide the respective merits of the two noted professionals. The race will be over a distance of one and one-half miles and return and it is generally expected by those who have been watching the two contestants that one or perhaps both of them will "hang up" a new record for speed.

Eddie Durnan, the present holder of the professional sculling championship of America, is a nephew of the famous Ned Hanlan. Last year he was challenged by William Haines of Boston, winning, in addition a purse of $1000. One month later Durnan again successfully defended his title by defeating John Hackett of Baudette, Minn., in a three-mile race on Rainy River, Ont.

Frank B. Greer, the professional sculling champion of the United States, also has a good record. Last year he was challenged by the same William Haines of Boston, who in July of 1912 tried to wrest the title of American champion from Durnan. The race took place in Boston on Sept. 7, 1912, and Greer defeated his opponent easily in a three-mile race.

To avoid interference with the race by passing ships or craft crossing the course, the officials of the race have made extensive preparations for keeping the course free from other craft during the progress of the race.

VALUABLE PRIZES UP FOR COMPETITION

Rheims, Sept. 27.—Never before has an international aviation meeting so well merited its description as the international meet which began today on the famous aviation field at Betheny, near this city, where the notable meetings of 1909 and 1910 were held with remarkable success.
