

Why Do Women Suffer

When They Could Be Well?

It is so easy to be well and strong and able to enjoy life, that it is surprising how many women drag themselves through the day suffering tortures from lame back due to kidney trouble. Mrs. Wilcox found the way to cure herself and gladly writes about it so that others may be induced to use the same remedy.

BIG LORRAINE.

"During the last winter, I was bothered very much with a Weak Back. I was advised by a friend to try GIN PILLS and I did. The first box I found helped me very much and I found when I had taken the second, I was completely cured."

TRIBUTE TO F. B.

CARVELL, M. P.

(Eastern Chronicle, New Glasgow.)

Mr. Frank Carvell of Woodstock, N. B., who spent Sunday here, is considered one of the sturdiest fighters among the parliamentarians in the House of Commons—in fact, Mr. Carvell loves a fighter. He is as well an able debater and no Liberal is more feared by the government forces than this New Brunswick member. He it was who challenged the government on the appointment of Morine and did it with such vehemence that the ministers were forced to drop Morine from their list of favorites. On another occasion, during the past session, in paying his respects to the deputy speaker, Blondin, he expressed the opinion that he required to be told some things.

"And," said Mr. Carvell, "I am the man to tell them to you."

He is a stalwart looking man with a very strong face. The pity is that while he was in the east. Liberals in Pictou county had not an opportunity to hear him on the platform. He addressed two meetings in Guysboro and was very much in the public eye and bound to be more so as the fight for the rights of the masses in Canada progresses and he stands for the very best that Liberalism has to offer to the great mass of the people of this Dominion.

STILL SEEK PARDON FOR MURDERESS

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 15.—The State Board of Pardons today listened to arguments on the petition recently presented asking for the pardon of Mrs. Kate Edwards, the Reading murderess. Mrs. Edwards was convicted in 1902 of the murder of her husband. For the past twelve years she has been confined in the Berks County jail at Reading, during which time three governors have declined to sign the warrant for her execution.

The reasons advanced for a pardon are that Mrs. Edwards, who is now forty-eight years old and the mother of five living children would probably have been convicted of second degree murder or acquitted had she told the truth, that she was debased by years of brutal treatment and ignorant, that she has served twelve years, has reformed and been sufficiently punished, that sentiment is in her favor, that if pardoned she will lead a useful life and that she is in bad health.

RAILWAY SURGEONS IN SESSION

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 15.—Means to lessen the number of accidents, both to employees and passengers, is scheduled as the chief subject for discussion at the tenth annual convention of the American Association of Railway Surgeons, which began its sessions at the Hotel Sherman in this city today. Other topics to be discussed during the three days' session will be the cause and cure of car sickness, the relation of the attendant surgeon to the evidence in personal injury claims, and the role of the railway surgeon in preventing damage claims.

TO PUT LID ON DETROIT

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 15.—If the plans of Police Commissioner Gillespie are effectively carried out, Detroit will be entitled to call herself a "viceless town" after tomorrow. Midnight tonight is the time fixed by the authorities for sounding the death bell for all disorderly resorts. Landlords and proprietors have been notified that gambling houses, "red light" resorts and other places violating the law will no longer be permitted to exist. The task of keeping the lid clamped down will be entrusted to a public moral bureau consisting of police officers and women employed by the department.

HEROES OF SHAFT AT NIAGARA PLANT

Remarkable Feat of Four Men Who Stopped Flood in Tunnel

Three electrical workers went in a punt down through a raging torrent that choked a power company's tunnel along the mighty cliff that holds up the weight of Niagara Falls. Three men with three boxes of dynamite groped their way in pitch blackness through a circular chamber swirling with water in order to blast out ten tons of rock lodged unexpectedly in the tunnel's "spout." They failed. And then what? A few days later they did what mortal men have done neither before nor since; they climbed up the face of Niagara Falls from the outside, crawled under the curtain of water that leaps out from the giant cliffs and placed a charge of dynamite in the mouth of the tunnel. That time they were successful. The channel was cleared without the loss of a life. Here is the second trip as told by one of the men.

"Although we were dressed in oilskins, oil hats and rubber boots, we were quickly drenched to the bones by gusts of spray that tumbled on our heads and backs like pails of buckshot. So great became the force of these gusts that we could stand up right no longer and crawled from boulder to boulder on our hands and knees. All this time we were advancing literally under Niagara Falls, for the cataract was falling over and slightly beyond us, now and then giving us an extra heavy swish of water as the winds in the gorge blew direct against the face of the fall. "We were walking about a hundred feet up from the pool, bracing ourselves against the pile of rocks. It was, at first, an almost impossible task to make steady progress. So we kept some distance apart for safety's sake in the event of one having a tumble, and by taking our medicine patiently at every downpour sent our way, we finally reached the ledge directly under the tunnel's mouth. It was a matter of a few minutes to place the dynamite and wires where they would hit the blockade to best advantage.

"We rested a few minutes and commenced the return journey. Bad as the approach had been, the going back was infinitely worse. The adverse winds had practically isolated us by walls of water and indeed at one time the prospect was good for a twenty-four-hour stay on the edge of an ugly cavern.

"During a lull we were enabled to make another start. Having to drag the pair of copper wires with us made the trip much more difficult, but we held on and gained foot after foot, sometimes slipping, often bringing blood, until the sight of the Cave of the Winds peeped through the abnormal mists. Exhaustion was slowing down our steps, and a fearful hunger increased the discomfort, for the adventure had taken the best part of a day. I remember some one throwing us a rope and we snatched at it with a sudden return of energy.

"Lifted safely into the cave, the superintendent touched the copper wires. A far-off roar, that sounded even above the boom of the falls—and we turned to face a messenger who had been waiting at the telephone for instant news of the water level in the tunnel. 'It is rapidly lowering,' said he, and all of us knew that the blockade had been broken by the blast."

WILLIAM SULZER

William Sulzer who was impeached from the Governorship of New York State was born to be a politician and a leader of men. He had an uphill fight all along the way, but by either genius or good luck never has been shelved. His father, Thos. Sulzer, was a politician before him, so much so that he suffered imprisonment for a cause he believed in. The elder Sulzer was a German patriot and a comrade of General Sigel and General Schurz. He was a strong advocate of constitutional liberty, and while a student at Heidelberg University, joined the patriots in a revolution. He was captured and imprisoned, but through clever maneuvering managed to escape to Switzerland. He came to this continent immediately and soon cast his lot with the Democratic forces. This was in 1851. The elder Sulzer married soon after he arrived here and settled in Elizabeth, N.J. His wife was from Dutch and Scotch-Irish stock. They lived in the New Jersey city for several years, and there William Sulzer was born. Soon afterward they removed to New York, and young Sulzer, who was exceedingly bright as a boy, was sent to the Public schools and was graduated, despite the fact that it cost many a hard effort and sacrifice on the part of his father and mother. Afterward he was sent to Columbia University, where he studied law. Both in the Public school and at college he was recognized as a forcible speaker. As early as 1884, when Mr. Sulzer was but twenty-one years old, he attracted attention as a masterly orator.

Market for Flax Fibre

As a considerable quantity of flax is harvested in Canada every year, the attention of firms interested may be drawn to the market in Leeds, England, for flax fibre. Spinners there have followed with close attention the development of the growth of the flax plant in Western Canada, and are desirous of receiving shipments of the fibre if it can be obtained on competitive terms with supplies from other sources. Some three years ago a few small trial shipments of unretted flax fibre were sent from Canada. Mr. J. M. Nussen, Canadian trade commissioner at Leeds says consumers express their readiness to give their consideration to offers that may be received at any time from Canadian firms interested in seeking export markets for this fibre.

CATARRH OR COLDS NEVER QUICKLY CURED BY SWALLOWING DRUGS

Cough Syrup, Tablets, etc., go to the Stomach, Perhaps Sicken It, But Don't Kill the Germs of Catarrh

THE DIRECT BREATHING CURE IS BEST

To cure an ailment in the throat, or chest, to rout out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts. This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhoxone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhoxone mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air-cells in the lungs—all parts are saturated with the rich piney essences that ease, heal and cure.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal catarrh than I suffered a month ago," writes Mrs. G. E. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W.I. "My head ached terrifically, I sneezed about every three minutes but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I could not breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhoxone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Catarrhoxone every hour and before the day was out I had improved. Catarrhoxone quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhoxone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutor. Large Catarrhoxone lasts two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes 25c. and 50c. At all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhoxone Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Canada.

GOOD EYESIGHT BECOMING RARE

Moving Picture Shows and Automobiles Contributing Causes According to Montreal Authority

Canadians as a nation, especially city dwellers, are developing shortsightedness at an alarming rate of speed. Such is the startling warning given by a number of the reputable Montreal oculists. There are numerous reasons given for the alarming increase in shortsightedness, practically all of which place the greater portion of the blame on the advancement made in recent years of civilization. Close work, too much light, poorly lighted offices, automobilism, and the thirst for moving pictures, are among the reasons given.

Dr. Samuel S. Grant, B.O.A., one of Montreal's most prominent oculists, in referring to the advancement of shortsightedness among Canadians, stated that unless something were done quickly to stop the advancement of the ever-increasing disease, there would soon be few persons who would be able to work in offices. "It is astonishing how many people are becoming shortsighted," said Dr. Grant. "Many of the clerks and bookkeepers are to-day developing this big disadvantage, unconscious of the fact. They are losing their eyesight slowly, and do not notice it until they can no longer do any close work."

"By close work I mean working over books or reading within eighteen inches of a book or paper. The eyes become tired and strained as a result of over-usage, in close work, and gradually lose their sensitiveness. In Germany the condition is much worse than in Canada, for the German letters are much harder to read than the English. It is therefore very lucky that we have not the same letters to read in Canada as in Germany, or the state of affairs would be much more alarming than it is."

"The thirst for moving pictures is also very hard on the eyes and advances shortsightedness. People go into the moving picture shows and their eyes are called upon to take in every little movement, and to do this they have to use their eyes very fast. Thus the muscles of the eyes become very much strained, and the eye itself loses its over."

Automobilism acts on the eyes in the same manner as the moving pictures, but is not quite so hard on the muscles, according to Dr. Grant.
