

A Thoughtful Man.

When Thomas Daigle, 149 De Villiers Street, Montreal, abandoned his three months-old babe in the bushes here on Monday night he was not a heartless man. It was 11.30 at night when a policeman hearing a tiny voice issuing from the bushes, discovered the babe lying flat on its back, clad only in a little shirt and a pair of shoes. He picked it up tenderly and took it to the police station.

In the morning the father, Thos. Daigle, was arrested. He said his wife had deserted him, so he took the child and left it where the officer was sure to find it. Then he waited to see if it was received he knew it would have a good home.

BUTTERMILK CHEESE

Dairy By-product Utilized at Agricultural College

In the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Miss Bell Miller, in charge of the Home Dairy Work, made some experiments in the utilization of dairy by-products. Cheese was made from skim milk and butter milk. The making of cheese from skim milk is comparatively simple, but the buttermilk requires a little more of a process, which is described as follows:

Heat the buttermilk to 80 degrees F., as rapidly as possible, stirring enough to ensure even heating. Leave it undisturbed for an hour.

Heat to 135 degrees rapidly, and with just enough stirring to ensure even heating. Cover it to retain the heat, and leave undisturbed for about an hour.

Without further stirring drain the curd by hanging it up in a cheese-cloth bag, or by placing a piece of cheesecloth over a rack or strainer. As the portions of the curd next the cloth will drain more quickly, lift the cloth and allow the curd to roll over, thus securing more even and more rapid drainage.

As soon as the curd is properly drained it is salted and packed. The amount of salt to use will depend on the consumer. 1 ounce of salt to 5 pounds of cheese is recommended, but many prefer 1 ounce of salt to 3 pounds of cheese.

LAWN EDGER

Effective Tool for Trimming Turf Along Paths, etc.

To give a lawn that neatly kept appearance that is admirable, the edges of the turf along walks and flower beds must be trimmed cleanly. For this purpose a new edging tool has been patented. On the end of a long handle is a single sheet of metal with a straight, flat section, adapted to lie on top of the grass.

CUTS IN EITHER DIRECTION.

and a V-shaped cutting section bent down from it, with sharp edges on both ends. By pressing this tool along the edge of the turf the overhanging grass is trimmed neatly and a smooth little trench is cut between the grass and the edge of the walk, or whatever the border is. This is a great improvement over the usual straggly borders that mar the appearance of otherwise attractive suburban places.

New Fertilizer

A method for producing potash fertilizer from feldspar or any other mineral containing potassium by treating it in an electric furnace has been invented by a Swedish scientist.

ORIGIN OF PAINTS

Ground up Mummies Furnish a Beautiful Brown Color

In order to furnish the innumerable delicate tints of paint required by artists, manufacturers have nowadays to ransack the world. Even mummies are called into use. Mummies are usually preserved in the finest bitumen, and this ancient bitumen has, in the course of centuries, turned the mummies a leathery-brown tint. It has been found that when the bitumen and the shreds of mummy are ground down by machinery, a beautiful brown pigment is the result—exactly the tint required for painting certain shades of brown hair.

Sepia is one of the deepest of artists' paints. It is a deep brown in color, and comes from a source equally strange. It is prepared from the black, inky fluid discharged by the cuttle-fish to blind and baffle its enemies.

Prussian blue is prepared from horses' hoofs, and is made by fusing the hoofs with potassium carbonate.

Raw sienna is soil from near Sienna in Italy. Burnt sienna, another common tint, is simply the same earth burnt.

The majority of pigments for making colors—that is, the dry powder—are obtained from minerals, but many pigments come from the animal kingdom. Cochineal, for example, comes from the dried bodies of insects. A kind of pitch is also used for certain pigments.

Our Friend the Cow

Of all animals the cow is most to be respected by man. She is more closely allied to him in her relations than any other quadruped, and in fact was brought across the ocean by him when he began to settle upon the American continent.

The most common name for a place in England is Newton, which occurs no fewer than seventy-two times.
