TWO BROTHERS MUST PAY DEATH PENALTY

James and Barlow Cantrell Are Occupying the Death Cell in a Georgia Prison--Woman Who Persuaded Them to Murder Her Husband is Serving a Life Term--Crime Created Great Indignation Throughout the Country

Gainesville, Ga., Sept. 19.—James Cantrell and his younger brother, Barlow Cantrell, are occupying the "death cell" in the Gainesville jail and, unless some unforeseen and unexpected contingencies should arise that would cause the governor of the state to interfere with the execution of the sentence, the two prisoners will be executed by hanging a week from today. The two Cantrells were tried several months ago and after having been found guilty of the murder of Arthur Hawkins, were sentenced to be hanged on September 27. Mrs. Sylvia Hawkins, the widow of the victim of the crime, who was tried for complicity in the crime, is now serving a life sentence for her share in the brutal murder.

The history of the crime which, at the time, created a great sensation and tremendous indignation throughout the state, clearly reflects the passionate and wanton nature of the woman in the case and the power which she exercised over James Cantrell, her lover, and Barlow, the younger brother of James, who seemed to be equally devoted to the woman.

Arthur Hawkins, his wife and their four children lived in Gainesville, but in March of this year removed to a farm near Belton. Their neighbors were James Cantrell, a widow with two children, his mother and sisters and Barlow Cantrell, a young man of sixteen or seventeen years. Soon after the Hawkins family came into the neighborhood James Cantrell contracted the mumps and Mrs. Hawkins went to his house to see him.

Cantrell and Mrs. Hawkins became infatuated with the other almost at the first meeting and, it appeared from the evidence at the trial, within two weeks after their first meeting they were seen to kiss each other. They saw each other nearly every day and numerous letters passed between them, letters in which she called him her "sweet boy," told him she loved him and had no pleasure except in his company, that she thought more of him than of any other man in the world and that she would rather give up her baby than him.

In her later letters she suggested to Cantrell that he kill "Arthur," and put his body on the railroad track. She said that in the event of his death they would get a lot of money and would be able to marry. In another letter Mrs. Hawkins said she would go with Cantrell and they would follow Arthur out to some secluded place where they could kill him and nobody would ever know of it. Then she would live with him and take care of his children.

Mrs. Hawkins, according to the testimony, purchased shells from a hardware store in Lula, and with Cantrell's aid unloaded the shot, melted them into a slug and together loaded the gun with which Hawkins was killed. The murder itself was committed by young Barlow Cantrell who seemed to be the willing slave of Mrs. Hawkins. Armed with a pistol and a shotgun, Barlow Cantrell stationed himself behind a barn and when Hawkins passed by, he fired the slug into him, causing his instant death.

The evidence further showed that James Cantrell, at the instance of Mrs. Hawkins, had tried to buy strychnine in a Gainesville drug store with which to poison her husband, but the druggist refused to sell the poison.

MINISTER OF MARINE HAD VERY BUSY TIME IN THE CITY

Met a Delegation of the Faithful and Talked Over Matters With Them--Mr. Crockett May not get a Judgeship, But He Will be Provided for--Mr. Pinder Puts up a Kick

Hon. J. D. Hazen, minister of marine and fisheries, has come and gone. He arrived in the city by the noon train yesterday and left on the evening for St. John. In the afternoon he dodged the army of office-seekers who dogged his footsteps long enough to pay a visit to the exhibition. He was most courteously received by the directors and was shown the different exhibits. He expressed himself as delighted with what he saw and warmly complimented the exhibition directors.

While here the minister met Mr. O. S. Crockett, M.P., Mr. J. K. Pinder, M.P., Mr. John Young, M.P., Mr. Andy Humble, Mr. F. P. Robinson, Mr. P. A. Guthrie, Mr. J. H. Thomas and other leading lights of the Tory party and conferred with them in regard to the local situation. The consensus of opinion among the delegation was that Mr. Crockett was entitled to a judgeship and that he should receive the appointment with as little delay as possible.

The minister pointed out that there were difficulties in the way, one of which was that St. John members of the bar were putting up a big kick, and another was that an appointment could not be made until the Supreme Court Act of last session was proclaimed by the governor-in-council. Attorney General Grimmer has this matter in hand and as he is himself an applicant for a judgeship he is not disposed to proclaim the act merely to assist Mr. Crockett in beating him out of the race. While cognizant of the difficulties in the way, Hon. Mr. Hazen assured the delegation that Mr. Crockett would be provided for and in such a way that the seat for York would soon be vacant.

Hon. Mr. Hazen, taking his cue from Premier Fleming, at first favored the translation of Hon. H. F. McLeod from the local to the federal arena but he seems to have swung around in favor of Mr. Pinder. The latter is willing to run but he is stipulating certain conditions which the party leaders regard as a little on the stiff side. One of these is that the provincial minister of public works be immediately suppressed. Mr. Pinder told the minister that the Fredericton bridge job was not likely to prove much of a vote-getter in this county for a Tory candidate and the minister, after hearing a recital of the facts, agreed with him but he promised to "see Fleming" and endeavor to straighten the matter out.

In the evening the minister neatly dodged a bunch of disappointed office-seekers who were waiting around the hotel to see him and repaired to his mother's residence on Brunswick street, where he remained until his train time. He left for St. John at nine o'clock.

A bull moose said to weigh two thousand pounds recently derailed a train in North Ontario. What a whopper.

THE MARKET IRREGULAR

London Attributes Heaviness in Consols as the Cause

Yesterday's Advance is Thought to Have Been Due to the Covering by Short Interests

New York, Sept. 19.—The London market is irregular this morning with heaviness in Consols, the leading feature. Business in the American department has been light and prices have shown no definite tendency. Other foreign markets incline to weakness. Europe is still affected by money conditions, which will probably last until late in the fall. In our circles there is some talk of gold imports but it is doubtful if the great foreign banks would be willing to facilitate at this time, especially if the margin for profits is so narrow and also taking into consideration that the foreign settlements in our market at last night's close appear to have been based largely on a short interest, of which a considerable part was covered on the rise.

A MONEY SAVER.

The crude oil engine on exhibition in a boat near the Fredericton entrance to the highway bridge is attracting much attention. Crude oil makes splendid fuel for steam purposes and tests have shown that it costs only about one-sixth as much as coal. For instance, the Brown Paper Box Company of St. John, used steam at a cost of $5 per day. They installed a crude oil engine and it costs them only $5 per week for fuel.

HAS GOOD JOB

Hon. Mr. Hazen is always keen in looking after his relatives at the public's expense. His brother-in-law Mr. A. R. Twiss now holds the position of engineering inspector at a snug salary and is going on a trip to the Pacific Coast at the public expense.

HE ENJOYED IT.

Hon. Mr. Hazen during his visit to the city, was given a graphic account of the pugilistic bout between Hon. H. F. McLeod and Mr. John Doherty of the Springhill Hotel. He was deeply interested but is said to have expressed regret that the decision had not been given in favor of Doherty.

BIG FEATURES AT GAIETY.

Two special features of exceptional merit will be included in today's program at the Gaiety. G. M. Anderson the world renowned "Bronco Billy," in Essanay feature "The Tenderfoot Sheriff," a Selig feature, "The Only Chance," depicting a thrilling and sensational story of the railroad, showing a desperate race on a motor hand car, a Vitagraph comedy "Cupid Through the Keyhole," and a special Lubin Photoplay's "Margaret's Painting." Jack Morrissey will be heard in "Somebody Else is Getting It."

Upwards of Six Thousand People Passed the Turn-stiles Yesterday Although the Weather was Anything but Favorable--Paid Admissions to Date Number Over Twenty-two Thousand--Light Fingered Gentry on the Midway Were Thrust Out--R. A. Snowball of Chatham the Largest Individual Prize Winner

The attendance at the Fredericton Exhibition up to the time the fair closed last evening was greater than for the corresponding time of any previous exhibition held here. The total for the four days was 21,823. It is expected that the total for the six days will be upwards of 30,000. For the six-day fair of 1903 and the fair held two years ago the attendance for the first four days was slightly under 20,000. This morning there was a fairly large attendance at the exhibition grounds and as the weather is fine another big day's attendance is expected. With rain yesterday morning and threatening weather in the afternoon the attendance was 6,127.

LARGE PRIZE-WINNERS.

Judging in all departments was completed last evening. Prize money aggregating some $7,000 will be awarded. R. A. Snowball of Chatham, is the largest individual prize-winner, getting about $300. McIntyre Bros. of Sussex, are second, winning about $100. Lea & Clark of Victoria, P.E.I., and H. W. Corning of Cheggoggia, N.S., are tied for the third place among the big prize-winners. In the Poultry Department, which contained the largest number of birds ever shown in Eastern Canada, the Hartland Poultry Yards won the largest amount of prize money with G. D. Kennison of Bangor, Me., second.

RIGHT AFTER FAKIRS.

City Marshal Roberts, who is in charge of the police on the grounds, closed up eleven booths on the Midway for running crooked games. Sons of the fakirs put up a loud yell but had to go just the same. Several attempts to introduce gambling on the grounds was also nipped in the bud.
