York County Summer Resorts Are Popular

Boys Camp at Davidson Lake is Being Well Patronized—Crown Land Official Tells of a Visit to the Lakes on the Maine Border—Destined to Become One of the Finest Woodland Resorts on the Continent.

The good old county of York with its immense territory and its numerous lakes and streams not only has the best salmon fishing in New Brunswick which is available to the public but it has the finest and best patronized woodland tourist resorts in the province. While little or no mention is made of these attractive and well patronized haunts for rest and recreation in the tourist literature of the present day, yet they exist and flourish and bring many good American dollars into the province in the run of a season. One of the most charming of these resorts is located at Davidson Lake, in the Parish of Dumfries, thirty miles from Fredericton, where Prof. and Mrs. Phillip Mittell of Yonkers, N. Y. have for some years conducted a camp for boys. From twelve to twenty American boys spend the months of July and August at the camp each season. They sleep in tents, have a central dining room and indulge in swimming, rowing and various outdoor sports such as base ball and lawn tennis. Competent instructors from American colleges are in charge and the boys are given a course of training which benefits them both mentally and physically. Their parents evidently think that this section of New Brunswick is all right as a summer playground as they willingly pay as high as $300 for the two months outing which is provided for their boys.

A Summer Playground

Another resort for pleasure seekers and vacationists from the neighboring republic is the chain of beautiful lakes which extend northward from Vanceboro through the Parish of North Lake, a distance of thirty-five miles. In recent years a number of fine camps for the accommodation of tourists have been established along the New Brunswick side of these lakes, and several wealthy Americans have built elaborate summer homes there. One of the latter is Judge Bruce of Chelsea, Mass. a member of the Massachusetts Supreme Court bench, who has a camping outfit which represents an expenditure of at least $10,000. Others are coming in each year, and as the wonderful attractions of the locality become better known it promises to become one of the most popular woodland resorts on this continent. Although this chain of lakes is international the American visitors seem to prefer the New Brunswick side and it is here that most of the sporting camps have been established. The New Brunswick government keeps two game wardens on the ground during the summer and autumn months and already this season they have disposed of upwards of forty non-resident fishing licenses at $10 each. There is good trout, bass and pickerel fishing in the lakes and early in the season there is usually a fair run of land-locked salmon. Moose and deer are also plentiful in the locality, and furnish no end of exciting sport for amateur photographers among the visitors.

A Revelation to Him

Mr. George F. Burden of the staff of the Department of Lands and Mines, spent last week on official business on the lakes referred to above, and in an interview with the Mail expressed astonishment at the development which had taken place since his last visit to the locality some years ago. He says that the natural attractions of the locality are simply wonderful and the enterprising camp owners are doing a thriving business. According to Mr. Burden, Mr. Arthur Hamilton, a native born American who has become a naturalized citizen of New Brunswick, has the most elaborate outfit for the accommodation of tourists. He started eighteen years ago with one camp and he now has seventeen, all fitted up in the latest style. He employs eight men as guides, has a number of motor boats and a fleet of canoes. He did some advertising on one occasion and since that has had all the business he can take care of. His patrons include several who came with him the year he started in business and who have been coming every year since. Mr. Hamilton is a first class host, an enthusiastic outdoor man and sees to it that his patrons have a good time. Mr. Hamilton meets his parties at Forest Station in an automobile and can land them at his camps in thirty-five minutes. In this connection it may be pointed out that a person starting from Boston on the evening train can breakfast at Mr. Hamilton's camps on the following morning.

Other Camp Owners

Mr. F. C. Strang of New York has established a permanent abode on one of the lakes and with Mrs. Strang remains there throughout the year. They have a number of splendidly equipped camps and handle a great many tourists during the season. They employ a number of guides and meet their patrons at Vanceboro station and convey them to the camps in a motor boat.

Sherman Mason is another camp owner who has established himself at this resort and is doing a large business with tourists. He has four well equipped camps, besides a number of motor boats and canoes and has competent guides to assist him in taking care of his parties.

Laird of the Lakes

Speaking of Judge Bruce, Mr. Burden says that he has been a summer visitor to the locality for years and has become a fixture. His camp is located on the New Brunswick side of Palpey Lake and is a most elaborate one. It is built of peeled logs and has a piazza with cement flooring at least twenty feet wide. There is running water in the camp and in the large living room there is an old fashioned fireplace of stone, which Mr. Burden pronounces the finest and most picturesque he ever saw. The Judge has constructed a breakwater in front of his camp and has two concrete piers for the mooring of his motor boats and canoes of which he possesses a good sized fleet. The fact that he had gone to such a large expenditure shows what he thinks of New Brunswick as a summer recreation ground. When Mr. Burden made him a call Judge Bruce was entertaining some distinguished Americans, including General Twitser, a prominent army officer.

There are a number of other camps and cottages along the lakes owned by private individuals, which are occupied during the summer and autumn months. With the excellent fishing the lakes and streams afford and the opportunities for canoeing and the photographing of live game the visitors do not lack for amusement. They all enjoy themselves thoroughly and on returning home start in to count the days which will elapse before they can make a return trip. The wonderful attractions of this section of New Brunswick and its accessibility to the leading centres of New England is bound to make it a popular resort for tourists.

The wardens who look after the interests of the New Brunswick Government in the locality are Frank Jones and Ernest Norrad. They have a fine camp which is presided over by Mrs. Jones, and the wardens, while they attend strictly to their duties are always courteous and ready to lend a helping hand to the numerous strangers who visit the locality in search of recreation and sport.

CHIP SEELY SECOND AT ST. JOHN MEET

St. John, July 24—By the narrow margin of two points, the local Y. M. C. A. won the premier honors from the Sussex A. A. A. in the New Brunswick track and field championships on the East End grounds Saturday afternoon before a crowd of about four hundred spectators. The winners were not decided until the last event had been run off, and when the Y. M. C. A. won the relay race they had made a total of forty-two points to Sussex's forty.

While the Sussex delegation had to be satisfied with second place, "Zan" Miller, the pride of the dairy town, with sixteen points to his credit, succeeded in carrying off the individual honors, although he was suffering from a sprained leg and had rather an off day. "Chip" Seely, of Fredericton gave him a close run and at the end of the meet had collected a total of fourteen points.

Chip Seely, who won prominence at the University of New Brunswick as a track and field athlete, went to St. John as a representative of the York County A. A. A. He was second in the senior 100 yards, third in the shot put, first in the running hop, step and jump.

Two New Brunswick pens of Banded Rocks are competing in the Dominion egg laying contest now going on at Ottawa. One is the property of the Invicta Farm at Oromocto and the other owned by Mr. W. E. B. Tait of Dorchester. In the 37th week of the Contest Mr. Tait's birds laid 56 eggs, tying for second place and the Invicta Farm pen produced 53. There are sixty pens competing and the Invicta Farm pen holds 10th place with 1379 and Mr. Tait's 11th place with 1370. Week before last Mr. Tait's took second pen prize and second prize for individual layers.

EXTENSION OF WATER SYSTEM PROCEEDING

Aberdeen Street Nearly Completed—Victoria Street the Next — Repair Work on Woodstock Road.

The extension and improvement of the water system of Fredericton is proceeding steadily. The Woodstock Road extension to Bailey Bridge was finished some days ago and Aberdeen street from St. John street to the line of Carleton street extended is finished all but a few joints. There are new blocks of the streets and are rapidly built up.

City Engineer G. C. McDowell stated this morning that the next piece of work would be in Victoria street west of York street where it has been found necessary to lay larger mains to give better fire-protection to the factories in that section.

On Woodstock Road the City Engineer today has a crew at work making street repairs. There is a marked contrast between the provincial road in Kingsclear and the city road which joins it at the city line. Some improvement will be made.
