DWELLING OF FUTURE MAY BE ON WHEELS HOME BEAUTIFUL THE THEME

Boston, April 28—"The house of the future may be on wheels" said Mrs. Harriet Cole Emmons, who made an address yesterday at the Home Beautiful Exposition.

"We are getting to such a stage now that people before long will have to hire an electrical engineer to keep the home running. The future home may be a combination auto and manufacturing plant and electrical plant. People want so to be on the go nowadays. But the sad part of it is, if that's the kind of a home we're coming to it won't really be a home but a movable house."

Her address was part of the program at the exposition by the Art and Home Economics Department of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs. The conference will continue today. Mrs. George Minot Baker, president of the federation, made the opening address in Paul Revere Hall. She emphasized the importance of economics in the home.

The first requisite in planning a home is to have a definite art scheme, Royal Farnum, director of the Massachusetts State Normal Art School, said. The woman who wants to change her furniture around all the time hasn't thought out her problem, he said, because there is only one best way.

Regarding principles to follow in color, he advised using soft gray tones for large masses; then it would be possible to use small spots of brilliant color and at the same time be perfectly safe.

Landscape Gardening

"Americans have publicity down fine what we need in this country is a little privacy," said Prof. Frank Waugh, head of the department of landscape gardening for the Massachusetts Agricultural College, Amherst. He gave a lecture on little home gardens, illustrated with stereopticon slides. A garden has no value without a family and friends he said. Flowers are not the only things to be used in making a garden. There should be children, hospitality, chairs and tea tables and—privacy. A garden should be quiet and snug, with private hospitality instead of a showy public place.

"We don't need to shut ourselves up entirely because we ask for privacy. We can have a rose-clung fence, high scrubbery and still have an outlook at the sky and the distant landscape, just as we have our own home and our own children."

Rabbits Good Eating

Rabbits taste even better than chicken, it was discovered yesterday by throngs of the Exposition patrons. The United States Department of Agriculture is doing its best to teach the public that they should raise their own meat in their backyard and that there is no finer meat than rabbit.

Mrs. Frederick Leach explained the efficacy of raising rabbits for food as well as fur, and passed around 1000 sandwiches to prove her points. "Rabbit meat is not game," she said. "Only wild rabbits are gamey and they are only edible for a short season. Whereas the several breeds recommended by the Government—they are any domesticated rabbits—are good to eat at any time in the year. The meat may be raised at a cost of not more than six to eight cents a pound and is 83 per cent nutritious, of the meat containing the highest percentage of nutrition, according to the Department's latest figures and laboratory tests. The meat is tender, sweet and easily digested because it has absolutely no oil in it something that can't be said for chicken."

There are many rabbits on show in connection with this project of the Government.

China of a Long Lost Art

A dairy model, with 16 particular cows, is also a feature of the Government exhibit. The women swarmed around a table in the main hall where "Louis" from the Copley-Plaza placed the knives and forks and plates and candles and napkins and water glasses just where they should go for breakfast, lunch or dinner. It was the feature of the Mitchell Woodbury Company, who at the same time displayed rare china. Some pieces show the recovery of a long-lost art of the Chinese by the English. Now it is called the Long Sung ware, of rich ruby or blood red.

ANGLICANS ON DIVORCE

Montreal, April 27—At today's session of the annual conference of the Anglican Synod of Montreal, a motion was proposed for adoption as follows:

"That the synod expresses its alarm at the increasing number of applications for divorce to the senate of the dominion and the increase of the evil of divorce generally and that it instruct the committee on marriage and divorce to take action possible on behalf of the synod in co-operation with other dioceses, and oppose the granting by the parliament of Canada of grounds and facilities for divorce and to maintain fully the indissolubility of marriage according to the teaching of our Lord Jesus Christ."
