BIG DIVORCE DOCKET FOR HEARING NEXT WEEK; SIX NEW CASES, THREE OTHERS

Rate of Divorce Keeps Up Although War Period Has Passed — Two Local Cases to be Heard One Defendant Residing in Fredericton and One in Devon — One Remanet and One Case for Additional Evidence.

The New Brunswick Court of Divorce and Matrimonial Causes will begin its July sittings here on Tuesday July 4th with six new cases on the docket, a seventh case which was not entered last term because of an error in service of notice of trial, an eighth which was made a remanet and a ninth in which additional time was given for proof of marriage in the Province of Quebec.

The docket is a large one and the impression which was abroad that the increase in the number of divorce actions was an aftermath of the war is not borne out by facts.

Of the six new cases, two are defended and in four no appearance and defence are filed.

The New Cases

The six new cases on the docket are as follows:—John A. Betts vs Elizabeth D. Betts. The parties reside at Northfield, Sunbury County, and were married in 1895 at Chipman, Queen's County, by Rev. D. McD. Clark, Presbyterian, the defendant's maiden name being Kady. Four children, three sons and a daughter, were born in wedlock. The husband alleges that his wife left him in 1918 and went to Boston taking with her the daughter. The ground of infidelity complained of and on which divorce is sought, is alleged in the libel to have been in 1911 but did not come to the complainant's knowledge until ten years later, one Joseph eL Grass being named as co-respondent. R. B. Hanson, K. C., is proctor in the case.

Elsie Augusta Stocks vs Frank Cecil Stocks. The petitioner in this case formerly Elsie Augusta Cathline, alleges in her bill of complaint, that the parties belong to St. John and that she was married to the defendant in that city in June 1917 by Rev. S. S. Poole, Baptist, that in April 1920 her husband left her and went to Chatham, where he went through the form of marriage with one Carrie McEwan, that after living with her for a month he was arrested, tried for bigamy and sentenced to two years at Dorchester and is just now released. The petitioner also asks for alimony. One child was the issue of the marriage, born in 1918. Under the allegations set forth a divorce is asked. Kenneth A. Wilson is proctor.

Delia P. Doyle vs William Henry Doyle. In this case the wife who brings the action and whose maiden name was Morrell, alleges that she was married to the defendant in St. John in May, 1913, by Rev. J. J. MacKeigan, Presbyterian, that in 1917 her husband left her and went to Cambridge, Mass., where he set up housekeeping with one Clara Donnelly that recently they removed to Fredericton where they now are living together and that they have had born to them two children. One child was born in wedlock, in 1914. Divorce is sought on the usual grounds. C. R. Hawkins is proctor.

Mary Edith Butler vs Harold Leslie Butler. The petitioner in this case al-
