SENATOR McCOIG URGES REFORM OF THE SENATE

St. Thomas, Feb. 14—Speaking at the annual meeting of the West Elgin Liberal Association at Dutton this afternoon, Senator Archie McCoig of Chatham strongly advocated Senate reform, and declared it his intention to press for amended legislation in order to make the upper Chamber a useful body, as it was designed to be.

"The feeling in the country is that the men who have been appointed to the Senate have not been giving service for the indemnities they have been receiving," said the Senator. It was high time, he asserted, that an act of Parliament was passed making it obligatory for a man to get out of public life when that man has reached the point where he forgets that he is a servant of the public.

Its God-bye U. F. O.
Senator McCoig spoke with extreme moderation in his reference to the United Farmers, predicting that the result of the present Administration will be such that there will be no occasion for a farmer movement when another election develops.

The political history of Canada showed that there had never been organization on the part of the farmers when the Liberals were in power and he felt confident that history will repeat itself.

"The present is not the time for destructive, but constructive, criticism," he asserted, "and those who find fault with conditions should have remedies to offer." Among the other suggestions for reform that he offered were the simplifications of the income tax assessment system; the standardization of implement parts; the placing of Canada's railways under efficient and honest management; the installation of cold storage facilities on the Canadian Merchant Marine ships, and the shipping of dressed rather than live beef to England; encouraging hog producers to raise bacon hogs and not fat hogs, and a thorough investigation of Canada's mergers and combines.

"Square Deal" for People
"The government in power will remain there just so long as it works in the interests of the nation and sees that the big corporations give the people a square deal," he declared.

The meeting was a most enthusiastic one, staunch old Liberals from all over the riding attending. The general opinion expressed was that preparations will soon have to be made for a provincial election, several looking for an issue this fall.

MODE IN NECKLINES. ATTEMPT TO CHANGE

The Americans are surprised at the continuance of the boat shaped neckline which is shown by each and all of the governing houses. It differs from what has been in its size. It does not run to the shoulder tips and it does not drop in front. It covers the collarbone. There is a curious absence of any attempt to show the chest in morning or afternoon clothes. There is no hesitancy in carrying the neckline of a formal evening gown up to the modest limit that were once prescribed for morning frocks. And his done when the material is of velvet which has no transparency as when the material is tulle, which exposes the skin.

Behind and beyond the details of fashion the observer senses a violent change in the costumery of women. Modesty and not indecency is the dominating spirit of the new clothes. The reformers may have done it. Their pride and hope will permit them to believe this, but the observer of fashions is cynical and she believes that the politics of trade is behind the change. It is time to create a new demand and trade can only do this by creating a new type a new movement and evidence of a new spirit. This much can be said with certainty: That if the public accepts the verdict of the designer women bodies will be covered next winter. The hosiery people may weep and those who have sold a dozen bracelets for one bare arm may cavil at their misfortune, but the pulpit and the public will find their occupation of bitter criticism gone.

California had a three-days freeze but she isn't getting much sympathy for the reason that she does too doggedly much boasting about the salubrity of her matchless climate.

Men are strange animals. One has left $1000.00 to the girl who refused to marry him. Not only heaping coals of fire on her head but providing her with money to burn.

We wish they wouldn't predict disagreeable weather. Just let it come as a surprise if at all.
