REFUSED TIPS AND WAS GIVEN A FORTUNE

Chicago, Feb. 2—Elizabeth Hill of this city refused to accept tips while working as a waitress in a railway restaurant. The girl assured her patrons that she was being paid for her work, and they were entitled to courteous and prompt service without paying an additional fee.

"Old Man Dexter," aged 78, a pioneer rancher of Western Nebraska, stopped at the Council Bluffs depot restaurant on his trips to and from Chicago, selling carloads of cattle. Elizabeth waited upon him. She declined his tips. One time he mailed her a $100 bill, and she mailed it right back.

Last week he left for England to spend his remaining days. "You deserve a better fate than sweating behind a restaurant counter," he wrote Miss Hill. "In the hills of Devonshire I have a wife and daughter buried. In memory of them and with my best wishes for the future, I beg you to accept these remembrances."

The letter contained a deed for a thousand acres of Nebraska's best grazing land and a cheque for $10.000 —all made out to Miss Hill.

Some Surprise in Last Night's Hockey Results in Maritime Provinces

The hockey results in the Maritime Provinces last night furnished some surprises. The win of the Sussex team 4 to 2 over the League of the Cross team from Antigonish in a playoff at Halifax for the 1921 Maritime title and the Morton & Thompson Trophy was expected. Sussex is travelling at the top of their form and New Brunswickers at least expected them to bring home the bacon. Fredericton fans having seen the team in action and become acquainted with some of the players will hope they will emerge Maritime title-holders for 1922.

CHATHAM AND CAMPBELLTTON

Chatham's victory at Shediac by the narrow margin of one goal makes it positive that Campbellton and Chatham will be the contenders for the Northern Section title. The clubs are tied in the standing and are to meet according to schedule at Chatham on the 8th, next Wednesday. Campbellton beat Chatham 4 to 1 early in the season but Chatham on home ice will be a different proposition. Local people will favor Chatham as section winners. Shediac's schedule is finished. The club put up a game struggle. The defeat by Chatham is the first sustained on home ice by that club.

THE LEAGUE FINALS

Charlottetown and Sussex look like sure section winners with Chatham the probable third contender in the finals. If one of the games could be brought here it would give Fredericton people the chance to see the best hockey played in New Brunswick.

DISAPPOINTING RESULT

The defeat of the U. N. B. hockey team at Wolfville last night was a marked disappointment to the followers of the team here both undergraduates and others. The Red and Black team was considered equal to the 1921 team which won the section title. Acadia had been defeated by both Halifax Crescents and King's College neither considered strong teams.

Hockey is a rather uncertain sport and games are not won until they are played and finished.

INTERSCHOLASTIC BASKETBALL

The recently organized Interscholastic Basketball League will open here tomorrow afternoon with Provincial Normal School and Fredericton High School playing in the Normal School gymnasium. A good match is expected. Normal School has made an appearance before this season being beaten in an exhibition game by St. John Y. M. C. A. Intermediates.

The Interscholastic Hockey League opens today with Sussex High playing Rothesay Collegiate on Rothesay ice.

Search For Moonshine Gold Is Ended

Berlin, Feb. 1—The search of Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale University for "moonshine" gold came to an abrupt end today, when Professor Fisher was informed by an unidentified scientist that the German who had claimed the discovery of a synthetic gold process was a fraud and had a prison record.

Dr. Fisher will depart tomorrow for home. He came to Berlin primarily to study the German currency problem. His investigation into synthetic gold was incidental.

In a typewritten statement to the newspaper correspondents Professor Fisher said today that the purported inventor offered to demonstrate his process for making synthetic gold, but that for some unexplained reason Professor Fisher did not accept it.

The alleged inventor submitted samples of gold to President Havenstein of the Reichsbank which he alleged he had made. This gold was found to be 99 per cent pure, but Herr Havenstein was without proof that the gold had been made artificially. This occurred in 1917, but why President Havenstein did not investigate further Professor Fisher does not explain in his statement. After recounting his investigatoins, Professor Fisher said.

"But a distinguished German scientist has just told me that the man (the supposed inventor of synthetic gold) is a fraud and has a prison record. My friend who gave me the original information said he had known the man for years and assured me that the only thing he was sure of was that the man was not a fraud, however msitaken he might be about his supposed invention. I am now disposed to believe that he was misled."

Professor Fisher said the German government had not taken much stock in the man's synthetic gold story, and that those mostly interested were individual scientists.

It was said by Professor Fisher that he had ascertained here that during the war the German government had made serious attempts to produce gold by new methods and had suceeded in extracting gold from sea water, but not on a paying basis. "I understand the attempts were abandoned," Professor Fisher added, "and I have no evidence that the German govrnment is making any further attempts."

The German who is alleged to have discovered synthetic gold told the professor that his gold was made from mercury by an electric vacuum furnace process.

DISCHARGED FOR SMOKING

Dublin, Feb. 3—Ought girls be allowed to smoke during office hours? This question was raised today in a Republican court in Dublin by Miss Smith Young, a bookkeeper, who claimed a week's wages in lieu of a notice from her employers, by whom she had been dismissed for smoking a cigarette during working hours. She said all men workers smoked. Her claim to a week's wages was granted by the court.
