INDUSTRIAL PARLIAMENT IN SESSION

Algonquin Hotel, St. Andrews-by-the-Sea, June 20—Canada's industrial parliament began its four-day sessions here this morning when more than 100 delegates from industrial enterprises from one coast of Canada to the other assembled for the fifty-first annual meeting of the Canadian Manufacturers Association at the Algonquin Hotel.

Hon. Dr. W. F. Roberts, minister of health, welcomed the delegates to the province in an address in which he made a strong plea for justice to the maritime provinces in the development of industrial Canada and in which he indicated the necessity of strengthening Canadian national sentiment.

W. S. Fisher, of St. John, president of the association, in his address declared that business was steadily though slowly improving. Mr. Fisher's review said F. W. Stewart, of Montreal, was the best he had ever heard; it contained much valuable data and he suggested that it be reprinted in French for circulation in the province of Quebec. Mr. Fisher said that attention would be given this matter.

Protest against payments of taxes on stock dividends and expressions of a strong wish to see greater co-operation between employers and employees featured the first session.

During the afternoon the delegates enjoyed themselves with various forms of entertainment and in the evening there was further entertainment.

Carnival Shows in Devon Had Unexpected Feature Tuesday Night—Triangular Engagement.

The Eternal Triangle which later developed into a quadrilateral, caused an unexpected feature of the Carnival Shows at Devon Tuesday night a man from Devon with a young lady from Kingsclear in his company was observed by a Devon woman who has prior claim to his affections. After the couple left the carnival grounds the second woman followed and proceeded to beat her rival up. This occurred in Union street. The defeated party retreated hurriedly in a westerly direction and received reinforcements in the form of another young lady from Kingsclear of rather larger build. Together they returned to the fray and the Devon lady retired to her residence. There the cause of the trouble the man in the case—appeared and was told a few things by his erstwhile friend. In the altercation blood did not fly but blue paint in a can did the gentleman intercepting the greater quantity. The Kingsclear ladies disappeared.

W. I. Convention Heard Address This Morning On Control of Fires

L. S. Webb, Assistant Chief Forester, was Speaker—Motion Pictures at Gaiety Theatre—Convenors of Various Committees Presented Reports This Morning—Miss Helen Macdougall, Nova Scotia Superintendent, Delivered Interesting Address on Tuesday Afternoon.

The New Brunswick Women's Institute in convention this morning heard a very interesting address on "Control of Fires" from Assistant Chief Forester L. S. Webb of the New Brunswick Forest Division. Motion pictures of forest fire fighting and big game were shown.

After the address convenors of Standing Committees presented their reports which are to be discussed at the afternoon session.

Those who reported were Mrs. Richard Hooper of St. John for the Committee on Child Welfare Mrs. C. J. Osman of Hillsboro for the committee on Legislation. Mrs. Ogilvie of Woodstock for the committee on Publicity and Mrs. Harold Lawrence of St. John for the committee on Immigration.

Entertained Tuesday Evening

Tuesday afternoon after the session of the convention the delegates were given a motor-drive about Fredericton and vicinity sixteen cars of citizens having been placed at the convenience of the convention. Last night a social gathering took place at which an excellent program of musical and other selections was followed. Refreshments were served and an enjoyable time spent.

Tuesday Afternoon

The convention Tuesday afternoon heard greetings from the Fredericton Branch which were tendered by Mrs. Martha F. Harvey. The latter expressed the pleasure of the hostess Institute because of having the tenth annual convention in Fredericton and expressed the hope that the sessions would be a particular benefit.

Word From Nova Scotia

Miss Helen Macdougall, Supt. of

Nova Scotia Women's Institutes then followed with an interesting account of the W. I. work in Nova Scotia. She stated that the number of branches was not so great as in New Brunswick and funds for the sending of demonstrators throughout the country were not available. Nevertheless valuable work was done. She made particular mention of the successful means toward arousing local historic interest and the keeping alive in that manner the traditions and historical stories often of a family nature with which the Maritime Provinces abounded. This point was warmly applauded.

Miss Macdougall spoke of the co-operation with the department of Health and the assistance given in improving conditions in the rural districts as far as contagious diseases are concerned. The Educational Committee had been altered to a Home and Schools Committee with better results. The problem of hot lunches for school children was grappled with. Local branches were encouraged to refer problems to head office where a solution frequently could be found.

The Legislative work had produced an alteration in the School Act which though not going far enough, was encouraging. While in the United States recently she had had the chance to talk with officials of the Farm Bureaus or Home Bureaus which did work similar to the Women's Institutes. She had found the time and objects the same.

Mrs. C. J. Osman the presiding officer congratulated Miss Macdougall on the excellent address. She was pleased to learn that in some respects at least New Brunswick did not lag behind Nova Scotia.

DE LORME SAYS HE HAS UPSET THE WORLD

Montreal, June 20—That the death of the late Pope Benedict was directly caused by the Delorme case and when his holiness learned of it he had a fit and died, was the statement in evidence attributed to Adelard Delorme this afternoon by J. F. Cardinal a notary, who testified that Delorme had made the remark to him and then had laughed after making it. "I am upsetting the world," Delorme had added, "all the newspapers talk of it." (The case.)

The above was the outstanding evidence at this afternoon's hearing of the charge against Adelard Delorme, former priest, of having murdered his half-brother, Raoul, in this city on Jan. last. Mr. Cardinal also deposed that Delorme during the progress of the investigation had gone around cafes and restaurants without his soutan and had listened to conversations about the case. In this way he had heard his name connected with the murder and had, he stated to Cardinal, caused some of his dozen detractors to be rounded up and sent to Bourdeaux jail.

Attempts were made at the opening of the court this morning to limit the number of spectators admitted to witness the proceedings, but every means was employed to gain admittance with the result that by the afternoon the court room was crowded to suffocation, most of the spectators being women.
