JACK DEMPSEY KNOCKED OUT A BIG MOOSE

Hunting Trip to Canaan Woods Was Successful—Was Tossed 14 Feet Says Report.

Jack Dempsey, the world's champion heavyweight pugilist, who has been hunting big game near Havelock with a party of friends, returned from the woods yesterday and is now en route home. There were six in the party in addition to the guides, but Dempsey was the only one who secured a moose. As was to be expected, the champion's bout with the monarch of the forest was not without some thrills, which will furnish headlines for the sporting writers of American newspapers. According to a report in the Telegraph, the moose came up in answer to the call of the guide and the champion's aim being true, it went down at the first shot. Before falling, however, "it leaped high into the air with a snort of pain and terror and fell prone on the ground." We are told that Dempsey approached it with a cry of delight and seized hold of the beautiful head. Here something happened, but we will let the sporting writer describe it. This is what he says:

"The antlers shot up and caught Jack, sending him flying. When he landed he looked around in a bewildered manner and, to his surprise found himself fully fourteen feet away from the moose. His companions rushed to his aid, fearing that he had been injured, but the champion was on his feet when they reached him and an examination revealed that he was uninjured but badly in need of a new pair of trousers."

"This little incident" the writer continues, "did not lessen Dempsey's interest in his kill, and, instead of keeping away from the danger zone, he again approached, but this time in a more cautious manner. The moose, however, was hors de combat and Jack stood looking at one of the most beautiful specimens ever shot in these parts. The spread of antlers measured forty-eight inches with four teen perfect points, the head was a beauty with a bell fully ten inches long. It was estimated that the animal would dress about 700 pounds. Arrangements were immediately made to get the carcass out, and one of the guides was dispatched to headquarters at Correy's Lake to send in a team and also to replenish supplies, which were running low."

It is a fortunate thing for the world's champion pugilist that the animal was prostrate on the ground when it tossed him, otherwise he would probably have been going yet.

KILLED IN AUTO SMASH

Truro, N. S., Sept. 27—Milton Crowe postmaster at Stewiacke, was killed this afternoon in an automobile accident at Shubenacadie. He was in a car with C. D. Chisholm, of Antigonish who was driving, and Fred Nelson, merchant, of Stewiacke. They were on their way to Stewiacke and the accident occurred at the subway under the Canadian National railway, 100 yards north of the depot. The highway here takes a sharp bend and is very narrow where it passed under the railway. As the car reached this spot it skidded and Crowe was thrown out and striking his head against the concrete side of the subway caused his death. Nelson and Chisholm were thrown through the windshield. The dead man, who was about fifty years old, is survived by his wife and a son Selwyn, of Halifax.

Why Fruit is High

The fruit crop in the Niagara peninsula this year is said to be enormous but high express rates is making it difficult for the growers to find a profitable market. Last week a local merchant obtained a shipment of plums from Toronto but found the express rates equal to the first cost of the goods. The best price that he could sell them here to provide a profit and cover losses was 90 cents a basket. The grower at Niagara considers himself lucky if he gets 15 cents a basket for his fruit.

Knickerbockers in Evidence.

Quite a few American young ladies have been seen in Fredericton in the past summer wearing knickerbockers. The American papers say it is quite common on the golf links and tennis courts. Four young ladies got out of a Bangor car on Tuesday and paraded up and down Queen street all wearing knickerbockers. They attracted much attention especially from the male sex. Knickerbockers also were in evidence Wednesday.

Luther B. Smith Called As Witness in Paris Case

Identified the Accused as the Man Whom He Had Seen Hurrying Towards the Bridge on the Afternoon the Crime Was Committed—Other Witnesses Testify for the Crown.

St. John, Sept. 28—Good progress was made yesterday in the circuit court, Hon. H. A. McKeown, chief justice, presiding, in the fifth trial of John Paris, charged with the murder of Sadie McAuley on August 2, 1921, in Riverview Park, north end, and although Hon. J. P. Byrne, the attorney general, had not completed the case for the crown, the outlook when court rose shortly before 6 o'clock last evening was that the trial would be over by the end of the week. Hon. Mr. Byrne submitted some new evidence yesterday afternoon, when he called to the stand Luther B. Smith, a West St. John contractor, who was a candidate for the dominion parliament in 1911, in Sunbury-Queens. Mr. Smith is a brother of Robert Smith, M. P. P., for Sunbury. He testified that early in the afternoon of the murder, while he and Mrs. Smith were motoring from his home to the city, he observed a man dressed in khaki hurriedly approaching the sidewalk in the vicinity of the scene of the crime, then wheeling rapidly toward the bridge. When the attorney general had Paris rise in the dock, Mr. Smith said: "In my judgment and belief he is the man." Mr. Smith had not testified at previous trials of the case.

The other testimony of the day was largely a rehearsal of that given at previous trials. The counsel for Paris G. H. Vernon, K. C., of Truro, N. S., put John McDonald, Walter Humphrey and other crown witnesses through a vigorous cross-examination to test their reliability and the value of their evidence.

The court room was well filled, and many admissions had to be refused. Paris watched the proceedings closely throughout, and on several occasions spoke to Mr. Vernon concerning the evidence.

Morning Session

The cross-examination of Mrs. Ella Calvin by Mr. Vernon, was taken up when the court opened, and was completed without any new facts developing.

She was followed on the stand by her daughter, Alice Brown, who said she accompanied her mother to River view Park on August 1, and there saw a man who, she said, was John Paris. She said she later identified him from among some other men at the police station. To Mr. Vernon, she said Paris was the only dark man brought before her.

Mr. Vernon asked if the other men brought before her at the police station were not Detectives Power, Biddiscombe, Scott and Donahue. The witness could not say.

Mrs. Craft

Mrs. Bertha Craft, wife of Frank Craft, 181 Water street, West St. John, told of seeing Paris near his home on August 2, fixing the date by the Cushing mill fire. She said she again saw him the following day which was the birthday of her son, who was in Milltown. She also fixed the date by the Brittain fish shed fire. She said she saw Paris and Walter Humphrey cross the river in a boat from the Carleton side on the forenoon of August 3.

To Mr. Vernon, the witness denied that her husband had contended to her that she was mistaken in the date—that it was on Aug. 4, and not Aug. 3, that Humphrey and Paris crossed the river. She said her husband had given evidence at the preliminary examination, but had not been called since.

Mrs. Ethel Byers, wife of Alfred Byers of Hoyt Station, formerly residing at Harding street, Fairville, said she saw Paris at his home near that of her daughter Mrs. Laura Gerow, on the evening of August 2.

James Kimball, 235 Prince Edward street, told of finding the body of Sadie McAuley near Riverview Park while he was picking berries on August 9, 1921.

Ronald McAuley

Ronald McAuley, Clarence street, father of the murdered girl, said he returned from Prince Edward Island a few days after she was lost. He identified the body of a little girl which was in Chamberlain's undertaking rooms as that of his daughter.

John W. Best Water street, West, watchman at No. 7 dock, told of the Brittain fish shed fire on the morning of August 3. He saw Paris and Humphrey later in the morning going across the river towards the city.

To Mr. Vernon the witness said that he did not see Paris around on August 1 and 2.

Dr. H. L. Abramson, provincial pathologist, told of conducting a post-mortem examination on the body of Sadie McAuley. There was evidence, he said, that the child was choked to death. In his opinion he said, the child had been outraged.

To Mr. Vernon, the witness said that acts of this kind were usually committed by degenerates or persons of low mentality. As far as he could see by ordinary inspection, there was no indication of degeneracy or low mentality on the face of the prisoner.

Stanley Humphrey, 133 Prince street, brother of Walter Humphrey and lessee of the burned Brittain fish shed, said he saw Paris about nine o'clock on the morning of August 3.

Ernest Campbell, now of Carleton county, said, he resided at 153 Water street, West, in August, 1921. He said on the morning of August 3 he talked with Walter Humphrey and John Paris. He told of a boil on Paris' arm which he (witness) said he helped to tie up.

To Mr. Vernon, the witness said he did not see any scratches on Paris' arms or face.

On August 1, He Says

John McDonald of South Bay said in August, 1921, he lived at 179 Tower street, West. He said he saw Paris and Humphrey on August 1, when they tried to borrow $2 from the witness. Paris said he had just returned from Truro. On August 2, he said, he saw a man climbing the rocks on the other side of the river.

The witnesses examined in the afternoon included Mr. Joseph Gerow, Alfred M. Byers, William J. Lavigne, Luther B. Smith, Robert Elliott, Walter Humphrey and William Sweet. It is expected that the case for the crown will close today.

Out of the six hundred wives of King Solomon probably fifty did nothing but tell him where he could find a clean shirt.
