OFFICIAL WARNING OF FATAL ACCIDENTS

Partridge-killing Case at Sussex — Prospects for All Kinds of Hunting are Good.

The big game season will open on Monday next, October 1st the first official day but as big game hunting is illegal on Sunday October 2nd will be the day. Game shot already has been killed on special license which can be obtained by the payment of an extra fee.

The big game license will be sent out from the Crown Land Office this week for distribution among the vendors for sale in order that the hunters may lose no time. The number of licenses are expected to be about the average.

Partridge-Killing at Sussex

Already Chief Game Warden L. A. Gagnon has a partridge-killing case at Sussex. Three men are charged with killing out of season. The latter will not open until October 1st. It is not known yet when the case will be heard.

Warning With Each License

The Department of Lands and Mines is attaching to each big game license sent out a warning to hunters to be careful of human life. Note is made of the fact that eighteen men were shot in mistake for game in 1921 in this province.

EDMUNDSON AGAIN BELIEVED TO MOONSHINE

STILL DISCOVERED AT SCOTCH SETTLEMENT

Sub-Inspector Fraser Saunders and Constable G.A. Murray Made Raid — Wash Waiting for Distilling.

A raid and search for "moonshine" operations at Scotch Settlement, York County, Wednesday afternoon resulted in the discovery of a still and a ninety-gallon tierce of wash which was awaiting boiling and distilling. The raid was made by Sub-Inspector Fraser Saunders and Constable G. Alex. Murray of this city.

Stove in Previous Raid

The still was found beside the usual babbling brook. The worm had been carefully removed however. The still itself was intact and the stove of sheet-iron bore evidence of having seen hard usage previously. So marked were the evidences that Sub-Inspector Saunders had no trouble in identifying the stove as the same which he had beat in with a shovel during a raid some time ago in the same section. The stove had been taken and the dents pounded out making it again serviceable. The still and a portion of the wash were brought to Fredericton as evidence.

Edmundson Suspected

There is every reason to suspect James Edmundson or Edmunds as he sometimes is called, of being the operator of the still and the authorities are going on that supposition. This still was not on the property of the suspect but was within easy reach. Edmunds was fined $100 at Gagetown September 8th for violating the Prohibition Act by selling liquor. On May 31st he was fined $200 at Fredericton for violating the Inland Revenue Act by "moonshining".

ADDITION TO MORRISON SCHOOL

SUGGESTION MADE TO SCHOOL BOARD

Temporary Quarters in St. Margaret's Chapel Property — No Decision for Lack of Quorum.

The Fredericton School Board met Wednesday in regular session but owing to the lack of quorum no action could be taken in any matters. The problem of over-crowding in some schools and the necessity for additional quarters for departments were discussed.

The Morrison School which serves the district known as The Mills is seriously crowded at the present time and it will be necessary to provide an additional third department. The opinion was that an addition to the present school building should be built to accommodate the third department. In the meantime temporary quarters can be obtained in the St. Margaret's Chapel property.

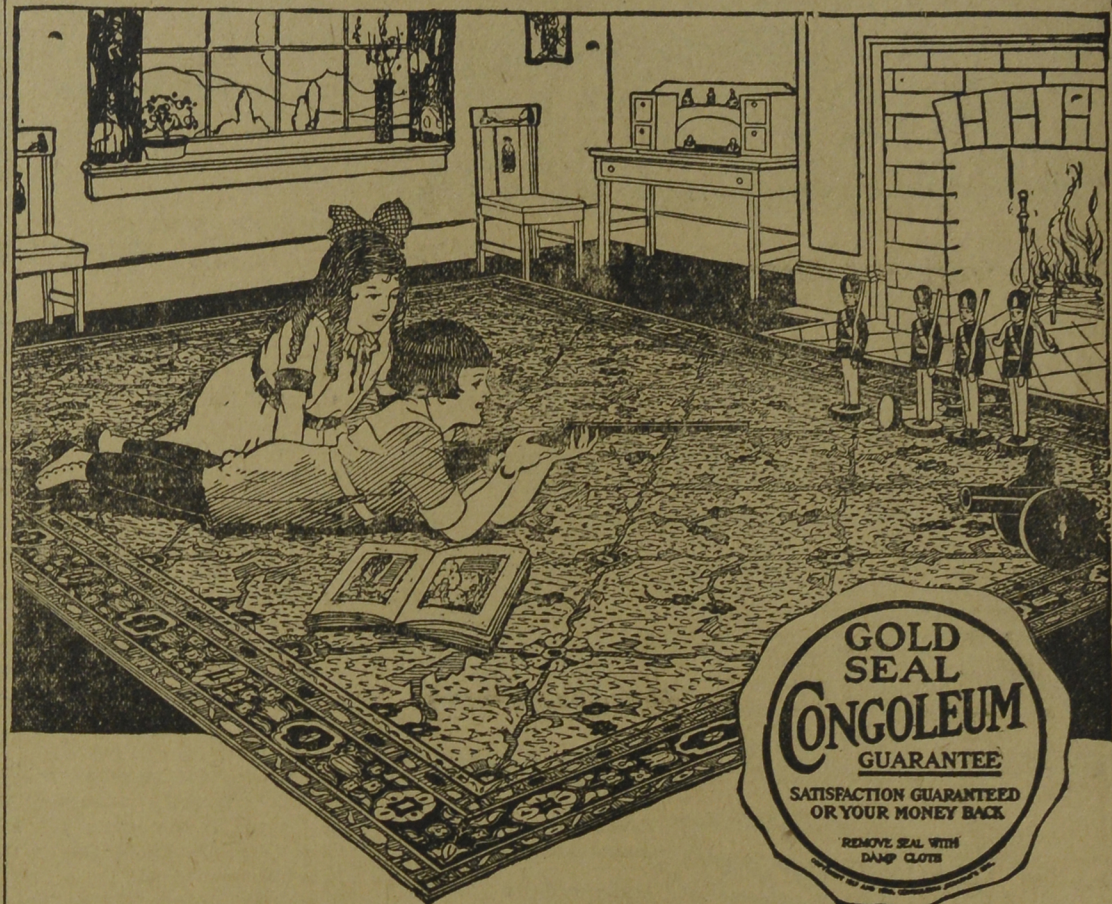

It is not known when the School Board will hold the postponed meeting.

Mr. Ray Gorman of Devon is a patient at Victoria Hospital, being operated on for appendicitis.

A charge of violating the Prohibition Act made at the same time fell through, James Rathburn prosecuted at the same time at Gagetown is still in jail.

Edmundson has been under the suspicion of the authorities for some time.

The air is becoming too chilly for much more out-door fermentation. The close season will soon be on.
