RUM RUNNER HAD NAMES OF HOTEL MEN

DRY AGENTS SEIZE A BRITISH CRAFT

One Hundred Cases of Booze and $56,000 in Gold Found on Board.

New York, Sept. 18—Names and addresses of hotelkeepers of Atlantic City and Asbury Park and a map showing motorboat rendezvous along the Atlantic coast were found on the British schooner, Gardner seized last night off Scotland Light near New York according to prohibition agents.

Resort hotel men who have been supplying their guests with Scotch smuggled in from Nova Scotia and to learn whether their names were the Bahamas are waiting anxiously in the Gardner's list. Prohibition officials say that the men named there will find out soon enough as search warrants will be sworn out based on the information obtained.

The Gardner was seized in spite of the fact that she is of British registry and was 23.75 miles off shore according to the log of Captain M. C. Betts.

The ship is one of the largest yet seized by the New York "prohibition navy." Captain Betts is said to have that it was in the whiskey carrying business but only between British ports. He denied that he has landed cargoes on American shores or engaged in "bootlegging."

The raiders seized more than 100 cases of liquor and $56,000 in gold.

Captain Betts said that the gold was for the purchase of a new cargo of liquor at Nassau. Bahama Islands he explained that the 100 cases were rejected by a purchaser who took 4000 cases. He has sold the liquor he said in Nova Scotia. He was taking what was left back to Nassau he said.

When the "prohibition navy" intercepted him at night, Captain Betts said he thought at first, that he was about to be held up by rum pirates. He cleared his ship for action and was ready to run the prohibition boat down when the men aboard the smaller craft turned their search light on their own boat so he could identify it. He then allowed them to board.

Prohibition agents are still working industriously at Atlantic City to find the hiding place of a cargo of 280 cases of Scotch worth $30,000 successfully landed near the resort from a schooner. The schooner was found near the Inlet. The crew managed to get their valuable commodity ashore in spite of raiders' efforts. The Government men were working on a tip but failed to make their descent in time.

The enforcement men have sworn out warrants for the officers and crew of the abandoned schooner but have not as yet found either the hidden whiskey or the hiding men.

Women's Institute Sale

The Women's Institute of Lower St. Mary's held a very successful food sale at the residence of Mrs. E. G. Merritt Saturday afternoon. A large number were present and the good things sold quickly.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert P. Creed, of Sussex are receiving congratulations over the arrival of a baby girl at the Maternity Home. Mr. and Mrs. Frank S. Creed arrived in the city yesterday with Mr. Herbert C. Creed their son.

Dr. G. C. Melvin of the Department of Public Health is in St. John today on business.

Yarmouth Murderer to Be Placed on Trial Tomorrow

YARMOUTH, Sept. 17—Omar Roberts, of Kempville, Yarmouth county, charged with the murder of Flora Gray on Aug. 28, will come up for trial at the session of the supreme court next Tuesday. His written confession of the crime was admitted at the stipendiary magistrate's court at Yarmouth on Sept. 6, when Roberts pleaded guilty to the charge. Mr. Justice Chisholm will be the presiding judge. J. J. Power, K. C., of Halifax, has been retained by the attorney-general's department to assist the crown prosecutor, R. S. MacKay, K. C., of Yarmouth.

MOONSHINERS ARE CAUGHT IN KING'S COUNTY

Three Men Found With Still in Their Possession Have Been Sent to Jail.

St. John, Sept. 19—H. W. Folkins, police magistrate, of Sussex, had a busy session in his court on Saturday and as a result Charles Kennedy, of Westfield; Andrew Arsenault, of the parish of Waterford, and Stephen McGuire, of the parish of Rothesay, are now in Hampton jail to serve a term for having either in their possession or on their premises a still for the manufacture of alcoholic beverages. Howard C. Hughes, of the parish of Waterford, was also arrested and taken before the police magistrate, charged with the same offence and was fined $300. Mrs. Hughes on learning of her husband's predicament went to Sussex and guaranteed the payment of his fine, and Mr. Hughes thus escaped the company of his friends to Hampton.

The first case before the court was that of Charles Kennedy, of Westfield, who was arrested in St. John on Monday last, charged with having a still on his scow which was lying at the back of Wilson's mill, Westfield. Excise Officer W. P. Dawes, Constable Garnet and the deputy sheriff, Armstrong B. Clifford, of St. John, located this still early Sunday morning, September 10. The still was seized and the arrest of Kennedy followed. This case came before the Sussex police magistrate on Monday last, but was postponed until Friday when the accused was fined $500 and one month in jail, and in default of payment he is to serve nine months in jail.

On Friday night Chief of Police W. G. Asbell, of Sussex, Officer Dawes and Constable Garnet, of St. John, went to Waterford in search of stills and were successful in finding two in the parish located near the village of Waterford. Andrew Arsenault and Howard C. Hughes were arrested, taken to Sussex and locked up for the night. On Saturday they were before Magistrate Folkins, charged with having in their possession stills for the manufacture of spirits. Both were convicted and fined $300 and costs, and in default of payment were sentenced to serve nine months in jail. Stephen McGuire, of the parish of Rothesay was also before the Sussex court on Saturday. He was fined $500 for having a still on his premises and $200 for violation of the prohibition law.

OOD SHOW AT GAIETY

The Monday-Tuesday play is "My Old Kentucky Home" featuring Monte Blue.

If you like real melodrama, good melodrama, the kind that has plenty of heart interest, mother love and an honest-to-goodness villain, see "My Old Kentucky Home."

There are few who can register a dramatic scene better than Monte Blue. In his support are Sigrid Holmquist, known as "the Swedish Mary Pickford," who does well as the hero's Southern sweetheart; Julia Swayne Gordon is the mother and a most satisfactory one, while Arthur Carewe is a villain that is easy to hate. Billy Quirk and Matthew Betz play crook roles neatly. Frank Currier is good as a Southern gentleman and Lucy Fox scores as a Calamity Jane girl of the backwoods.

Ray C. Smallwood directed the picture and did a good job. The horse race was among the best-staged scenes, while others included bits of

Canada May Send A Contingent to The Dardanelles

ANOTHER WAR EMERGENCY HAS BURST UPON THE DOMINION LIKE A BOLT FROM THE BLUE — GREAT BRITAIN WANTS OVERSEAS DOMINIONS TO HELP KEEP THE TURKS IN CHECK — CABINET MEETING TODAY.

Ottawa, Sept. 17—Like a bolt from the blue another war emergency has burst upon Canada. Without the slightest warning a press despatch and an official despatch were received here Saturday afternoon intimating that Great Britain was desirous of having Canada, with the other overseas dominions take some part in the Near East conflict, should one arise.

SPECIAL MEETING OF CABINET

The prime minister, following the receipt of the invitation from London authorized today the announcement that there would be a special meeting of the cabinet tomorrow to discuss the matter and, if expedient, to determine at once what course Canada should pursue. Beyond that nothing official could be obtained today regarding the attitude the dominion government may take toward the message from the British government. It is not likely that anything definite will be done until more information can be had as to what the invitation involves.

Two members of the cabinet, Hon. W. S. Fielding and Hon. Ernest Lapointe, are at present attending the League of Nations assembly at Geneva, and it is expected that some word from them will be awaited before the government attempts to lay down a line of action.

As Canada is a signatory to the League of Nations covenant and the Treaty of Versailles, both of which affect the Near East situation, she has inescapable treaty obligations, as well as a moral obligation to those of her citizens in Asia Minor who are imperilled by the successes of the Turks.

WILL TAKE SOME PART

The question remaining for the dominion government, then, to decide is not whether Canada shall do something or nothing, but whether her support of the part being taken by the mother country shall be actual and military or only moral.

It is believed here that this country cannot escape taking some active part in the conflict, should one develop, but it is also felt that any contingent that might be sent would have to be recruited altogether by voluntary enlistment. Even though demobilization is progressing steadily to get the country's military force down to within the estimates voted at the last session of parliament, there is, of course, an adequate store of equipment for any contingent that might sail for the Mediterranean.

It would not be necessary to call a special session of parliament to send a contingent, it is said, and in support of this opinion the case of the South African war is cited. The government could decide, it is contended, that Canada's contribution would be a contingent and the estimates to provide for its expense could be voted on at the next regular session of parliament, which is not likely to meet before the middle of January next year. There is said to be no apprehension of not getting a sufficient vote of the House of Commons to carry the appropriation.

Condition Much Improved

Jack Limerick the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Limerick of this city, who has been ill for the past month, is expected to make a rapid recovery from now on. He was apparently in the best of health about four weeks ago when a swelling was noticed on his neck. A doctor was summoned and about three weeks ago an operation was found to be necessary. Even after the operation the child's condition did not improve as quickly as expected, yesterday, however, during an examination the attending physician, discovered a short piece of grass which the boy had evidently partially swallowed, which was lodged in the throat. This was removed and as it is looked upon as the main source of trouble it is expected that his condition will improve rapidly. The case is a very unusual one.

The most brutal man cannot live in constant association with a strong female influence and not be greatly controlled by it.

business in and about Sing Sing prison at the beginning of the story. Mr. Smallwood has managed to awaken the interest and hold it throughout the film and has made "My Old Kentucky Home" a motion picture that should meet with favor.

Died in Montreal

The body of Mrs. David Fletcher whose death occurred in Montreal on Friday last arrived here by C. P. R. today. The funeral took place on the arrival of the train. Interment was made at New Maryland. The deceased formerly was Miss Ellen O'Leary of Beaver Dam. She is survived by her husband and three children.

Death at Barker's Point

Miss Mildred Ross daughter of Charles Ross of Barker's Point died on Sunday after a lingering illness. The deceased was a student at Fredericton High School last year in the second year. There is much sympathy felt for the bereaved family.

Rolled the Field

The heavy horse-roller owned by the city was put over the athletic field of the University of New Brunswick this morning to make the recently made soil more compact. The rolling improved the field considerably and Capt. C. G. Jewett had the football squad out for the first time this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Palmer and their daughter, Miss Mary J. Palmer leave this evening for Boston where Miss Palmer is to continue her musical studies.

MARITAL TANGLE AIRED IN COURT AT MONTREAL

A Simple Non-Support Suit Resulted in Unusual Criminal Case.

Montreal, Sept. 19—Out of a simple non-support suit, similar to thousands filed by unhappy Montreal couples, has sprung one of the most complicated triangular marriage tangles that local criminal courts have ever known. Judgment in the case is to be given by Judge Monet next Wednesday.

The case results from the arrest in July last of Burt French on the complaint of Maud Mary Strike, the couple having been married in Montreal on April 17, 1920. The woman complains that for three months her husband has failed to support her, and asks redress.

The defence of French is virtually this: "I agreed to pay my wife $30 a month, and I paid that money for some time. Then my salary was raised, and she demanded $45 a month. I am willing to pay $30 a month, and have set aside the money, but I will only pay it to my wife—and I have discovered that when the wedding took place she was already the wife of Thomas Nelson, the marriage having taken place in Montreal, at Grace Church, on September 12, 1908. Therefore, I contend she is not my wife, and that I am not responsible." Two marriage certificates were filed with the court.

The prosecution replies. "The last marriage is legal. The wedding between Strike and Nelson is admitted—but it was never a marriage, for the woman discovered that Nelson was already married, the wedding with Margaret Eleanor Barr having taken place in May, 1898, at Barrow-in-Furness, England. Moreover, we understand Nelson is now in an English prison for bigamy." A third certificate of marriage was produced to the court.

The only proof in support of the alleged marriages and denied marriages offered to the court is in the shape of marriage certificates. Now Judge Monet has to decide who is married and who is not.

HOW MUCH DID THE COAT WEIGH?
 A funny incident occurred in front of Woolworth's on Saturday. An old gentleman wearing an overcoat stepped on the scales in the entrance and weighed himself. Not satisfied he took off his overcoat and hung it on his arm, then weighed himself again. Then he went off smiling, being perfectly satisfied with his weight without the coat. He was probably some relation to the farmer who once sold a pig and who on being asked about its weight replied: "It didn't weigh as much as I thought it would, and I didn't think it would, either."

At St. Stephen Fair

Miss Sarah Barnett of the Vocational Department has returned from St. Stephen where she had charge of the Vocational Booth at the Fair. Although only about one third of the exhibits which were on display at St. John were taken to St. Stephen, the interest in the demonstrations was equally keen.

WILL RESIST THE ADVANCE OF THE TURKS

ENTRENCHED AT STRATEGIC POINTS

The British are Confident They Can Hold Constantinople Against All Odds.

London, Sept. 17—With British troops entrenched at strategic points on the Dardanelles, French, Italian battalions rushing to join them and from far New Zealand word that an Anzac contingent will be despatched to the scene of their heroic sacrifices in the late war to assist in dealing with the Turkish Nation alists there has been swift carrying into effect of the Allied pronouncements to preserve the freedom of the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus.

The British troops are supported by heavy artillery backed by the fleet and are confident that the combined Allied land and sea forces which are declared to be already prepared for any eventuality can hold Constantinople against all odds.

The Turks having bombarded the last departing Greek transports from the Chinese peninsula, despite the British appeal for mercy on the ground that the Greeks were helpless and no longer combatants Mustafa Kemal Pasha is now supreme over all of Anatolia but has yet made no direct move toward Constantinople or the straits and the warnings which Allies have voiced throughout Europe and the Near East may have served the purpose.

Smyrna which last month was the center of Greek rule, is in ruin with fire raging for three days and continuing but diminished in violence. Only the Moslem quarter has escaped. Up to Saturday evening the British foreign office had received no news of loss of life among British subjects.

SOME CENSUS FIGURES

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 18—The religious census figures for Hamilton were given out yesterday. Anglicans stand first with 33,528; Presbyterians next with 24,771 and Methodists third with 20,893 Anglicans and Presbyterians each had increases in membership and Methodists a slight decrease. The figures for other denominations follow: Roman Catholics, 19,156; Baptists, 5,681; Hebrews, 2,726; Gospel Tabernacle, 2,165; Salvation Army, 1,008; Congregationalists, 802; Lutherans, 884; Christian Scientists, 304; Disciples of Christ, 64; Miscellaneous, 8,295.

SLEEP WALKER MAKES JUMP

Boston, Sept. 18—Earl L. Stevens while visiting at the home of Frank W. Fitzgerald of 92 Clarkson street, Dorchester, jumped out of a window early today, apparently while asleep. Stevens is 19, and lives at 27 Linden avenue, Somerville. He went to pass the night with Fitzgerald, with whom he slept.

Early today Fitzgerald spoke to him and Stevens, without hesitation, leaped out of the window to the ground, a distance of 10 feet. He was removed to the City Hospital. He is suffering from contusions, abrasions and lacerations of the body and left arm.

Physicians say it is not unusual for sleep-walkers to jump when frightened.

Halifax Black Hand Case Stood Over For One Week

HALIFAX, Sept. 16—Evans Verboff, the Bulgarian scenario writer who was arrested yesterday afternoon in Point Pleasant Park, with a dummy roll of bills in his possession, which had been cached by James W. Moir, wealthy candy manufacturer, in answer to a Black Hand letter, was arraigned in police court today and remanded until Thursday of next week for preliminary examination.
