WHERE DOLLARS FAIL

A group of Philadelphia churches, going after funds for a community benevolence, is using the slogan: "Say it with dollars." The expression is catchy and will no doubt help the campaigners to win their objective. But there is another side.

Haven't people, both in churches and outside of them, been trusting too much to dollars to do the work which can be successfully performed only by personal effort?

Dollars will buy so many things, it is little wonder a lot of people have foisted themselves into thinking they will buy the spiritual satisfactions of life. There are churches abundantly supplied with revenue by wealthy contributors—but the amount of actual good accomplished by these institutions is not in proportion to their wealth.

A congregation of poor people, sharing actively in the work and worship of the church, is vastly more potent for good in a community than an elegant temple standing as a monument to the wealth of absentee parishioners.

As it is with churches, so also with other organizations having a charitable object. Nowhere does the dollar alone achieve results. It has to be transmuted into the infinitely finer gold of individual service in order to accomplish anything useful. "The gift without the giver is bare." Neighborly kindness cannot be spoken with dollars alone.

PIE FOR BREAKFAST

Medical approval of pie for breakfast has no bearing on life if it falls in the same class with the information that the sun will burn itself out in ninety-four and a half billion years. We should get new gray hairs about it.

Pie is eaten for breakfast by certain persons, especially in rural New England. They have eaten ever since it was invented. All there is about eating pie for breakfast is the desire to do so. There is nothing strange about it, nothing uncanny. When you come to realize it, pie is a composite breakfast.

A pie is made up of a top crust, a bottom crust, a filler usually of fruit, and enough sugar to season it to taste. That is all there is to pie except the gentle art of knowing how to make and bake pie crust.

Thousands of breakfast tables are adorned with sweetened cooked fruit and baked dough of different kinds. Sugar is a commonplace. And these things are the basic elements of pies. What difference, except superstition and bigotry, whether you eat your pie in its constituent parts or as an artistic whole?

Pie for breakfast does not need medical approval, though it does no harm to have it approved. Those who like pie for breakfast know it is good for them and those who don't like pie for breakfast don't care a rap about the argument one way or the other.

Returns received to date by the Department of Finance indicate a very general acceptance of the proposals for the conversion of 1922 Victory Bonds into new bonds bearing 5 1/2 per cent interest and running for a further period of five or ten years as desired. Many holders would like to take up considerably more of the new bonds than they have of the maturing issue, but this is not permitted as cash subscriptions are not being invited at this time. It is open, of course, for such persons to add to their holdings of 1922 bonds by purchasing them in the market or from holders who require the cash and then to surrender them for new bonds. It is known that this is being done.

The Moncton Hospital Board at its last meeting passed a resolution requesting the city council to take over the control and management of the institution. A committee was appointed to confer with the Mayor and Aldermen with a view of finding ways and means to bring about the transfer. The hospital trustees have found the financial burden so great that they feel that the responsibility should be shifted from their shoulders and the institution given over to the Mayor and Aldermen.

Milltown, N. B., has the distinction of having the handsomest and most up to date School Building in New Brunswick. It is a three storey building of grey concrete blocks with white trimming and occupies a commanding site on the bank of the St. Croix river. It has also modern features such as a play room in the basement and a place for the children to warm themselves when they come in out of the cold.

Sent Back to St. John

The St. John woman who has been giving the local police so much trouble during the past few weeks was taken to her native city Saturday night. She first appeared with numerous complaints against persons outside of Fredericton, and later applied for protection. She was finally charged with vagrancy and was sent to the County Goal awaiting further information as to where she belonged. It is thought that she is mentally deranged.

Public Opinion

CITY MARKET PRICES

Sir—We read each week in our two papers of the large market and the kind of produce offered for sale by the farmers last Saturday your reports stated that the market was the largest ever seen there. But there is something more we would like to know was all that was offered sold? Is there an unlimited demand for all, especially vegetables. This law of supply and demand is an important one to those that are living by this. So called farmers and vegetable truck men know the F'ron market and have not all their eggs in one basket. But for instance suppose a farmer loads up say 10 miles, some more some also with Potatoes, apples, squash, turnips, carrots, cauliflowers, cabbage, beets etc., good or bad butter, meat etc., could not your reporter go round about dinner time and let us know what is sold and what is unsold. To have an article unsold after the expense of raising and hauling it so far is certainly discouraging but if it can be sold at a living profit it is encouraging. We farmers do not work for nothing if we can help it although we too often have to.

BLISS CARMEN IN B. C.

Made Canoe Trip Through Rapids of Kootenay River

Bliss Carmen, poet, a native of Fredericton, has completed an adventurous trip down the rapids of the Kootenay river between the crossing of the Banff-Windermere road and the Canal Flats, eighty miles lower down. He had as guides Peter Berghem of Golden, one of the most experienced canoe men on the Columbia river, and Walter Nixon of Lake Windermere who was for seven years game warden in the Kootenay valley. Owing to log jams and the rapidity of the current, which averages fifteen miles an hour, the run is considered somewhat dangerous, but Bliss Carmen himself had experience with the paddle on New Brunswick rivers and decided to make the attempt. He wires from Lake Louise:

"Wild ride down the Kootenay great success. Eighty miles rapids all the way. Magnificent, but no place for amateurs."

Before making this trip Dr. Carmen spent a week at Lake Windermere, taking part in the David Thompson memorial celebrations and in the camp fire meeting of the Canadian Authors' Association. He is now riding trails in the Canadian Rockies and will describe his experiences in the Vancouver Province.
