

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

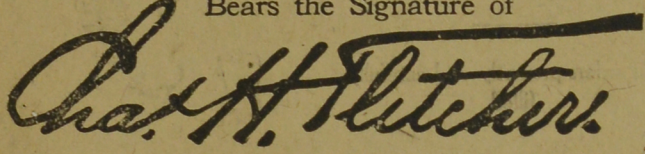

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. FASHION NOTES.

Velvet is appearing not only in early autumn hats but in the frocks worn for semi-dress.

Spanish shawls are as popular as ever for evening wraps.

The Spanish idea is frequently carried out with the hair dressing huge comb, and occasionally a flaring lace skirt.

The coat dress is registering for the early fall favorite model navy blue and black being the most popular colors.

Black satin dresses are seen in great numbers. They are made in draped style with no trimming except the girdle.

Colonial slippers with characteristic tongue are making their appearance crowding out the strap sandal.

Poirot twill frocks for street wear feature belt lines marked by corded tassels that merely run across the back.

Off the face turbans of black velvet have registered as favorites in fall millinery circles.

Narrow bands of moire ribbon finished with tiny strings of cut steel beads are used to trim lace dresses.

Gaily printed blouses for wear with the two and three piece costume suits take their inspiration from Egyptian and Persian colorings and designs.

DELICIOUS CONSERVES
MADE OF PLUMS.

Damson Plum Cheese.

An old fashioned sweet which most people find delicious is damson plum cheese much loved of our great grand mothers.

Put the damsons into a jar and stand in a saucepan of water on the fire. When soft strain through a sieve add one pound loaf sugar one ounce of sweet almonds blanched and pounded, with four bitter almonds. Boil all together until a stiff jelly is formed.

PLUM CONSERVE.

Damson plums are the best for this conserve also. Ripe damsons should be used to two cupfuls of raisins added to each quart of the plums which have been stoned and chopped into fine pieces. Add half a dozen tart oranges with a little of the yellow peel grated and five cupfuls of sugar. All the ingredients here given are proportionate to one quart of the plums after stoning and chopping.

Cook the mixture slowly until it is thick and clear and place in glass jars.

PLUM CATSUP.

Plum catsup is a condiment suited to highly seasoned palates.

Three pound of stoned plums one and a half pounds sugar one quart and a pint of cider vinegar and one half tablespoonful each of cinnamon allspice and cloves are required. After boiling the mixture for two hours strain through a colander.

RUSS. GOV'T
IS EXPECTED TO COLLAPSE

New York, Sept. 12—Frank Connes Russian interpreter in the State Supreme Court, New York county, who has just returned from abroad as a member of a committee to relieve Russian students, told friends in the County Court House today that he thought Bolshevism had about run its course and that the present Russian regime is about ready to collapse.

Mr. Connes said that there was nothing startling in this expression because while in Paris on his way back from Russia about a month ago the Paris edition of the New York Herald published a column interview with him telling of what he had seen and heard in Russia.

Seeking their language without the necessity of any interpreter Mr. Connes was able to talk with all sorts of Russians. He said that in the homes of those who were formerly wealthy and who would ordinarily have conversed on art and literature the subject generally turned to potatoes and other kind of food.

The Americans interpreter thought that Lenin was in a state of mental collapse and that it was only a question of time before the Trotsky regime would fall on account of the growing discontent not only among the people in general but within the army which, he said, was honeycombed with spies.

"I except to go back to Russia next spring because by that time there will be another government in place of Trotsky," said Mr. Connes. He said that on the pretense of using the proceeds to aid the poor the church treasures were being confiscated but he could find no evidence that the poor had benefited by the confiscation. He thought that about only 2 per cent of the Russians were communists and that 3 per cent were getting ready for a counter revolution at the first opportunity. The remainder of the inhabitants, he thought, were so bad off physically that they were in no position to resist.

MAN KILLED
ON THE C. N. R.
NEAR TRURO

Truro, N. S., Sept. 15—Struck by the south-bound Maritime Express near Maccan station this afternoon a man said to be Russell Reid, of Amherst, was injured so badly that he died in the Colchester Hospital here three hours later. The accident occurred near a crossing a mile and a half east of Maccan, where there is a long curve and a double track. The train was in charge of Conductor John R. Fisher, of Truro, with Driver Phinney, of Truro at the throttle.

Russell was walking on the track between the outside rail and the end of the sleepers. Driver Phinney blew his whistle but Russell did not get off the track, whereupon Phinney jammed on the emergency brakes. Russell was hit by the front of the engine and knocked over a small embankment. He was given first aid by the train crew and Dr. Gilroy, of Oxford accompanied him to the hospital here. Russell was conscious on the train for some time, but was unconscious when he reached Truro at 3.15 p. m. He died in the hospital shortly afterwards. The accident occurred about 1 o'clock.
