Dopesters Now Can Get Busy Comparing U. N. B. And Mount Allison Teams

Each Has Beaten Moncton—U. N. B. Won 9 to 0 at Moncton Friday—Mount A. Played Draw Against Same Team There—U. N. B. Supporters Pleased.

The dopesters who assume the role of prophets by making paper calculations from the performances of rugby teams now can get busy and calculate the comparative merits of the teams representing U. N. B. and Mt. Allison.

University of N. B. yesterday defeated Moncton City at Moncton three tries to nil, 9 to 0. Mount A. has defeated the same team twice at Sackville and drawn with it at Moncton. What is the answer? The wet weather should have given Moncton an advantage over U. N. B. yesterday but the Red and Black came through. Does the 9 to 0 victory under the circumstances mean more than Mount Allison's draw on the same field? Mt. Allison beat Moncton at Sackville 9 to 3 and 6 to 0. The scores are impressive.

Mt. Allison and Acadia.

Mt. Allison and Acadia will meet at Sackville on Thursday next. They will come together with little to tell which has the stronger team. A battle royal may be expected however as stronger feeling between two colleges does not exist in the Maritimes.

U. N. B. Supporters Pleased.

The U. N. B. supporters were highly pleased last night when the word came that Rogers, Jimmie Sterling and McCaffrey each had scored a try making the score 9 to 0 against Moncton.

Moncton Says 11 to 0.

Moncton, Oct. 19—The Moncton football team went down to defeat this afternoon before the onslaughts of the fast team of the University of New Brunswick to the tune of 11 to 0.

Mt. Allison 19, King's 0.

Sackville, Oct. 19—Mount Allison University football team celebrated the inauguration of their new president by treading heavily upon the King's College rugby squad on the college campus here this afternoon to the tune of 19 to 0.

SARAZEN TO TRY AGAIN IN GREAT BRITAIN

Pittsburg, Oct. 19—Gene Sarazen, professional golf champion of the United States, will go to Europe next Spring to take part in the British open tournament, he informed his friends while visiting here early this week. "I'm not likely to encounter the same hard luck two years in succession, so I'm going after the title again," said Sarazen, in commenting on his failure to qualify in the British title play last year.

HUGE ODDS ON ENGLISH RACE

London, Oct. 19—A. K. Macomber, a California sportsman who raced extensively in America and who several seasons ago purchased the entire French racing establishment of the late William K. Vanderbilt, brought off a sensational coup at Newmarket when his French bred four-year-old, Rose Prince, won the Cesarewitch, the first of the two classic Autumn handicaps at odds of 25 to 1.

An enormous amount of betting takes place in England in the form of what is known as "doubles" for this race and the Cambridgeshire, the bettors trying to pick the winner of both races and, as in any form of combination betting, losing if they fail.

Many Frenchmen have laid doubles on Rose Prince for the Cesarewitch and Epinard, the best French three-year-old, to win the Cambridgeshire in a fortnight. Epinard is a hot favorite in the future betting for the latter event.

The odds on both will now shorten greatly as bookmakers have laid from 500 to 1 to 200 to 1 against Rose Prince and Epinard both winning, and stand to be stung to the tune of more than 1,000,000 pounds sterling.

NOT COMING TO PROVINCE.

A New York press despatch says: Manager John J. McGraw of the New York Giants, and Hughie Jennings, his first lieutenant, will leave for Europe within the next two weeks for a trip that will take them through France, Germany, Great Britain and Ireland. Jennings had intended to accompany Babe Ruth of the Yankees, to New Brunswick, Canada, on a hunting trip but changed at McGraw's invitation. Though he is going mainly for pleasure, McGraw may arrange a tour for his team.

GLEASON SAYS DISCOURAGED WITH THE SOX

Chicago Americans Too Hard a Proposition for Veteran Manager To Solve—Other Vacancies.

Chicago, Oct. 19—William (Kid) Gleason, the fiery manager of the Chicago White Sox since 1919, resigned Wednesday making the fourth managerial position to be filled in the American League before the opening of the 1924 season.

The 58-year-old pilot, with a record of 37 years in baseball resigned, he said, because he was discouraged with his attempts to reconstruct the club, wrecked with the exposure of the World's Series scandal with Cincinnati in 1919.

He sat about to rebuild the club when the players who participated in the alleged frameup were dropped, but in the three seasons that have passed, Gleason's fighting spirit alone carried him through, as he had little success in the development of a new team.

Gave His Best.

"I've given the best that's in me, and the boys did the best they knew how," Gleason said tonight, "but we didn't seem to be able to get anywhere. A change often works wonders so I decided to step out and give somebody else a chance."

There has been no hint, from Pres. Comiskey of the White Sox as to the successor of the veteran.

Gleason has been with the Sox 11 years as coach and manager.

Several New Managers.

Gleason, a student of the old school learned baseball while a member of the famous Baltimore Orioles and still carries out the motto of that team—Fight and never give up. The resignation of Gleason leaves Chicago, Boston, Washington and possibly St. Louis without managers for next season.

It is believed that Gleason will be back in the American League next year as leader of one of these clubs. There seems to be no assurance that George Sisler will be physically able to assume the management of the Browns next season, and there have been persistent reports that Ty Cobb desires to relinquish the reins as leader of the Detroit Club but remain as a player.

Among those mentioned as possible successors to Gleason are Eddie Collins, Harry Hooper, Frank Chance and Ed. Walsh.

Gleason first came to the Sox when Jim Callahan was manager. Later he returned under Manager Rowland, when the Sox were in the midst of the 1916 season. He remained through the 1917 season to have a hand in the winning of a pennant and World's Championship.

In 1918 he refused to report, but at the close of the season was called in and given the managerial position, and has been at the helm ever since.

N. S. Tech. Said to Show Signs of Possessing Good Rugby Material

Beat King's College by Display of Individual Play Possibilities for Development Later in Season—Morrison Starred for Winners.

The Halifax Chronicle gives Nova Scotia Tech newcomers in the Inter-collegiate Rugby Series a hand in the following account of the victory over King's:—

Outplaying their opponents in about every stage of the game and doing most of the pressing throughout the Technical College celebrated their entrance into the Eastern Section of the Maritime Inter-Collegiate Rugby League by scoring a 10 to 3 victory over the King's squad yesterday afternoon on the Wanderers' Grounds.

Poor Rugby was played by both teams, and neither squad looked to be in championship form, but the fans were kept excited by the many dashing plays made by the winners. Morrison, the Technical College half, was the individual star of the game, scoring seven of the ten points for his team. Five minutes after the game had started Morrison went fifteen yards with the ball and passed to Crowdis for the first score of the game. Crease failed to convert from a difficult angle. A few minutes later Morrison went across the line for a try which was not converted. About ten minutes before the period ended Teed scored the only try for King's after making a twenty yard run. Jekeman failed to convert when his shot was too low by inches.

After about twenty-five minutes of play in the second session Morrison scored a field goal after a ten yard scrum, making the score 10 to 3 in favor of the locals. Dr. Leon Fluck handled the whistle.

DIES TWO YEARS AFTER INJURY

Cincinnati, Oct. 19—Injured when he crashed with another outfielder while playing on an amateur team here two years ago, Charles Mann, 21, died last night as the result of his old injuries.

OTHER LOFT BURGLARS GO INTO HIDING

Boston, Oct. 19—While the police department is ringing with the praises of Capt. Herbert W. Goodwin and the men who rounded up the five loft workers on Chauncy street, other members of the organized band are seeking cover in New York and Philadelphia, fearing that they may be enmeshed in the stories given up by one of the captured quintet.

5 Cities Join in Hunt.

Today began the active work in running down the place where the complete up-to-date equipment of burglars tools found in the gang's office was manufactured.

The police of five cities have been enlisted in the hunt and the Boston police are confident that there will be more arrests in the near future. The records of the men have been sought and it is believed that the complete details will be ready for presentation to Judge Loring on Friday. Wales, the man still at the City Hospital with a police bullet in his body probably will be able to appear in court with his four pals on Friday. Throughout the department nothing is heard but praise for Capt. Goodwin his loft squad and the men from headquarters who took part in the big capture.

Commissioner Wilson already has expressed his congratulations to the Lagrange street captain and it is expected that he will be named in general orders some time during the week perhaps tonight.

BeHeve Wales Leader.

Wales who gave his address as 72 Brighton street is believed by the police to be the local leader and instigator of the gang. It was he the police say who located the buildings to be looted; sized up the stock; secured office room in the building chosen, located exits and approaches and arranged details for a quick getaway for the gang.

He—No I never have a word with my wife.

Neighbor—I've noticed that. The words are all from her."

The general situation was most accurately forecasted by the inventor of the expression, "a world of trouble."
