Eggs for Hatching

I am prepared to supply during the present season a limited number of settings of Barred Plymouth Rock Eggs for Hatching. I breed from yearling hens with trap nest records ranging from 175 to 267, and my pen is headed by a cockerel whose dam made a record of 247 eggs in ten months in the New Brunswick egg laying contest in 1921. Already this season, eggs from this pen have shown a fertility of ninety per cent.

All orders will be filled in the order received.

UNDUE ANXIETY BECAUSE OF LOSS OF POPULATION HAS NO CAUSE FOR BEING

Halifax Chronicle Gives Some Plain Facts with Regard to Garrison City—Same Apply to Considerable Extent to Province of New Brunswick.

The following article which is equally as applicable to New Brunswick as Nova Scotia, recently appeared in the editorial columns of the Halifax Chronicle, under the caption, "Buck Up!"

In view of existing conditions here and elsewhere, we commend it to the careful consideration of our readers.

A rather absurd outcry is being raised in various parts of Canada, including Nova Scotia, over a small temporary loss of our population to the United States. There are hysterical folk who talk as if ruin were staring us in the face in consequence of our alleged losses. The Western Provinces and their representatives are especially vociferous. The remembrance, if they have any of their former prosperity only serves to make them more doleful and despondent. They forget that but a few years ago population was flowing to them from the United States, and can only see the trifling current now apparently turning in an opposite direction.

Boom Ended.

We in Halifax and throughout Nova Scotia are not showing ourselves much wiser. For a number of years during and a short time following the war, this Province experienced a great industrial and financial "boom." Boom conditions in any country invariably attract floating crowds. Reaction inevitably follows a boom, and leads to the dispersal of those whom the period of inflation has attracted. Nothing but that has happened to us. In addition to the opportunities afforded by the war wealth flowed to us from other sources. There was the large amount expended on the construction of the new, so-called Ocean Terminals. It was followed by the millions which flowed in after the explosion and the many more millions expended in connection with the war.

When these sources of prosperity dried up, as they inevitably had to do, and left us with a largely increased population to which we had not materially greater opportunities for making a livelihood to offer than existed before the boom began, what was there to expect or really to desire but emigration? We had not the means to feed our surplus population. We should rejoice rather than complain that a probable brief period of industrial revival in neighboring American cities is affording to those to whom we had nothing to offer an opportunity of which they are naturally availing themselves.

Not Exceptional.

Halifax is not at all exceptional in this respect. No city in America has been, or prospectively, is likely to be
