DISHWASHING GOOD FOR THE HANDS

Chicago, June 16—Mrs. William E Fribley, State chairman of home economics of the Illinois Federation of Womens' Clubs says dishwashing beautifies the hands instead of damaging them. "Never use too strong a soap or chemical in the water" Mrs. Fribley advised. "Use mild soap and apply a lotion afterward. Dishes can be done so daintly that it is a pleasure. Soft white hands will result. I venture to say that the poet who sang I was a lover of ladies hands that were pale with the pallor of ivory was talking of a lady who washed dishes. In fact tradition attributes his finest verses to his love for a girl who worked in her mother's cafe."

Husband Didn't Dare Leave Her Alone Heart Was so Bad

Those feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells, the all-gone sinking sensations which come on from time to time indicate a weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills

have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves and build up the run-down system.

Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eckville, Alta., writes: "About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone, and often had to stay up at night with me. I would just feel kind of faint and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got three boxes; I took them and felt much better, so continued all winter, and now I never feel any such faintness. I surely do appreciate the good they have done for me."

SAYS BEANS ARE WORTH FAR MORE THAN PEARLS VALUABLE AS MEDICINE

New York, June 16—James Compson, the "Soy Bean King" of England, is in New York City to develop interest in what he calls the "eighth wonder of the world."

A medium sized but sinewy man, Compston came out of the Cotton Exchange, talking volubly of something that he held in the cup of his right hand—little, round yellow colored pills, about half the size of full-grown pearls.

"Worth more than pearls once they are known and appreciated said the Englishman as he jiggled the soy beans around and then repocketed them.

In London, Compston has a soy bean mill—said to be the only one of its kind in the world—where he annually transforms 1,500 tons of beans into 2,000,000 gallons of liquid to be later converted either into a malted food powder or a milk of high medicinal properties for the human race.

"This remarkable vegetable was apparently the staple article of diet in the early centuries of the Christian era," he said. "It's original habitat was undoubtedly Eastern Asia-Manchuria, China, Japan and some parts of India. We of the so-called civilized races have missed something in overlooking the soy bean, which can perform prodigious work.

"England is just awakening to the real value of the soy bean, but over there, as well as here in the United Staets, it is comparatively unknown to the general public.

"Really the 'little wonder' performs a multitude of services. In addition to the use of its green foliage as a fertilizer, it has exceptional forage value for the feeding of sheep hogs, cattle and horses. Where I have scored a small individual triumpth has been developing it for a human food, either in the form of plain powders or milk, it being very easily assimilated by the human system and actng as a tonic.

"We claim that soy bean flour possesses a higher protean value than the flour of wheat or oats; and in England it is already being extensively used for bread and cake making, and it is appetising and tasty. To the sleepless the malted form is a blessing

"Then the oil obtained from the bean is used by us in the making of soap, paints, lubricants and varnishes. So wonderful is this product of nature that it also provides a substitute for ivory, ebony, amber, tortoise shell, horn and vulcanite suitable for combs, buttons, piano keys, electrical fittings, telephone accessories, labels and motorcar and carriage fittings. In the manufacture of margarin the product of the soy bean is of great commercial value."

Compston, in addition to grinding soy beans into pulp and then fashioning that pulp into either a food or an article, has extensive textile interests in the Manchester district of Engluand, being directly concerned with the turning of some 1,000,000 cotton spindles.

"Now would you believe it, that the little soy bean has a great service it can perform in connection with the growng of cotton?

"If there is one thing in the world that the boll weevil cannot abide, it is the little soy bean, which is the victorious enemy of the insects. The pale brown moth, whose larva is so destructive to cotton boils will travel miles to avoid crossing a patch of soy beans."

Compston thinks that the salvation of American cotton could be affected by criss-crossing the cotton fields with belts of soy beans ,thus creating safety zones for the cotton.

"There are several hundred varieties of the soy bean and it comes in many colors, including green, black, brown and almost all the shades of yellow," he went on. "I use the yellow beans for the manufacture of human food and milk. The bean is a summer crop and it is a remarkable drought resistant.

Many Possibilities

"Many American farmers have doubtless read of this leguminous plant, and some have planted it, but knowledge of its virtues should be propagated within the cities and towns where can be found the greatest consumpton and manufacture, and incidentally, the financing necessary to encourage its proper development. The farmer of tomorrow more and more is going to be the man from the city.

"The analysis of the soy bean when compared with those of other leguminous crops shows that the soy bean ranks high from a chemical point of view. The green fodder has much the same composition as red clover. In the two most important substances, crude protean and fat, the soy bean is considerably richer than a cow pea while the hay also shows a relatively high fat and protean content, being also equal to alfalfa."

Compostion has no soy beans to sell nor has he any of the vegetable's products to place on the American market.

Suffered From Pimples and Blotches For Fifteen Years

When the blood becomes impure it is only natural that pimples, blotches boils or some other blood trouble will manifest itself by breaking out of the system.

There is only one way to get rid of these obnoxious skin troubles and that is by giving the impure blood a thorough cleansing by the use of a good blood purifier such as

Burdock Blood Bitters

This remarkable remedy has been on the market for over forty years; is the best obtainable, and will do all we claim for it as a blood cleanser.

Mr. Albert R. DeWitte, Lake Valley, Sask., writes:—"I have suffered very much from pimples and unsightly blotches for the past fifteen years, and was so bad I hated to go out anywhere. I tried many different medicines, but none seemed to help. A friend told me to use Burdock Blood Bitters. I have used three and a half bottles, and now I have a clear, rosy complexion."

SCIENCE WILL DECIDE IN THIS CASE

Chicago, June 15—Scientists attempted to-day to determine which of two women is the mother of Leona Felicia four years old.

Judge Joseph B. Davis who is emulating King Solomon in hearing the dispute of the two women over who gave birth to the little girl, called in physiognomists and medical experts. The experts will examine the features and blood of the child and substitute the modern science for the cunning of Solomon in naming the mother.

Mrs. Julia Waszny and Mrs. Nicholas Lenz are fighting for Leona each claims to be the blood mother and each asserts the other's claim is based on the fact of temporary custody for nursing after birth. Judge David to-day refused the plea of Stuart B. Krohn attorney for Mrs. Lenz to let the child choose its mother.
