MUNICIPALITIES' UNION HOLDING ANNUAL MEETING IN NORTH SHORE TOWN

Campbellton, N. B., Aug. 21—The first address delivered before the Union of New Brunswick Municipalities this morning was by Arthur J. Parker, superintendent of the Boy's Industrial Home at East St. John. His subject was the incorrigible boy.

This address was warmly commended and discussed by Commissioner Wigmore, G.O.D. Otty, Professor Kierstead, J. King Kelly and A. M. Belding. Thanks was voted to Superintendent Parker.

In introducing Hon. Dr. E. A. Smith to discuss why New Brunswick water powers should be developed, Mayor McKay, of Campbellton, said it was one of the most important questions before the country today and especially to Campbellton.

To Frame Hydro Policy

Dr. Smith congratulated the Union on its work and was glad to know that many things that it had advocated had been made the subject of legislation. Discussion of address was made the order of the day after lunch.

Hon. Dr. Smith, Professor Bigelow, Mr. Parker and Doctors Farris, Kirkland and Anglin and A. M. Belding were made corresponding members of the convention.

In the afternoon there was a very animated discussion of Hon. Dr. Smith's paper by Commissioners Thornton and Wigmore, Alderman Belleisle, Warden Campbell, Councillor O'Brien, J. King Kelly, Mr. Otty and Professor Bigelow.

All speakers approved of the Government's policy of hydro development and most of them also spoke strongly in favor of the policy of going ahead with the Grand Falls development.

Mr. Kelly moved that Dr. Smith's papers be referred to a committee of five to draw up a resolution expressing the policy of the Union regarding hydro development. This carried and Professor Kierstead, Warden Campbell, Mr. Otty, Commissioner Wigmore and Councillor O'Brien were appointed.

Development of Resources

Professor Bigelow, whose impressive address before the convention last year was given very wide publicity, was next heard on a similar subject, the development of New Brunswick resources.

Professor Bigelow's paper was followed by a discussion that lasted until adjournment and was participated in by Mr. Kelly, Warden Campbell, Mayor McKay, A. C. Belleisle, A. M. Belding and C. A. Poirier. Special reference was made to tourist traffic as an asset to be realized on most quickly. The address was referred to a committee composed of A. C. Belleisle, President Duncan of the Board of Trade and Councillors Allen and Keith.

This evening Dr. Farris gave a lantern slide talk on tuberculosis before a large audience in the Municipal Building and Dr. Kirkland spoke on the X-ray. Dr. Anglin will speak before the Union tomorrow on the unnecessary burden of the insane.

Morning Session

In opening the convention this morning in the council chamber of the new municipal building, Mayor McKay began with a tribute to the late James W. McPhail, of Edmundston, whose death occurred shortly after his election to the presidency of the Union last year. He felt the Union should formally express its sorrow.

Mayor McKay extended a most hearty welcome to the delegates. Alderman Belleisle spoke in French and then in English endorsing the Mayor's greeting. Apart from these conventions they would exert a salutary influence in increasing the bon entente between the two races. All should unite to make New Brunswick the best and most prosperous of all the provinces.

Dr. Murray spoke in behalf of the county of Restigouche and cordially welcomed the Union for its second convention in the northern part of the province. He hoped their deliberations would speed a new era of civic, economic and social welfare.

Commissioner Poirier of Caraquet joined in the welcome of the north. Commissioner Wigmore and Councillors O'Brien and Golding of St. John Councillor Keith of Moncton, Warden Campbell of Westmorland and Gorham of Kings county responded to the welcome.

SPECIAL ATTRACTION AT GAIETY THEATRE

"Circus Days" is the photoplay at the Gaiety with Jackie Coogan. Every time Jackie Coogan appears on the screen the average adult is ready to fall down and worship him. In "Circus Days" he is apt to remain abased in a salaam throughout most of the picture. For young Master Coogan, in this screen adaptation of James Otis's book, "Toby Tyler" adds more luster to his name, and more grips to the lot of humanity. Playing the youngster who had so many varied adventures with a circus, principally while presiding over a peanut and lemonade stand, Jackie seems to be having as gorgeous a time as those who would watch him, or as any real kid would who ran away with a circus.

The unfeigned and refreshing sense of reality about his work, combined with his unspoiled mimicry, his sly humor and his eerie sense of pathos, make this one of his best pictures to date—as entertaining as a barrelful of monkeys—which you might say, are represented on the screen. For the picture teems with animals of all shapes and sizes, enough to fill half a dozen circuses, and here's Jackie being accepted on terms of equality with the elephants. Who wouldn't enjoy himself hugely? Jackie must have hated to stop filming this photoplay, for it could hardly be called work.

Fine Potatoes at Presque Isle.

Harvey Mitchell, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, has returned from a tour of the potato growing districts of New Brunswick and Aroostook County, Maine. The best potatoes seen on the tour in which American buyers took part, were at Presque Isle, Me. In other parts of Aroostook County, the fields varied in appearance. Throughout New Brunswick there also was variation.

LITTLE STORIES OF THE TOWN

How Do They Do It?

A down town business man says that when on his way to his office yesterday morning he felt cold enough for an overcoat, yet he passed several young ladies wearing low necked, sleeveless dresses, with silk stockings and pumps and walking as unconcernedly as if it were ninety in the shade.

He Looks Both Ways

"I always have a mental picture of the months just past and those immediately in the future", says a Charlotte Street resident. "I view myself as standing in the present month and looking forward and backward. When I was a boy July and August seemed as if they would last forever. Now I find myself thinking of Christmas and the presents I must buy, and of the coal I've got to get in. For I know that July and August, the vacation months are the speediest in the year."

HIGH GALE CAUSES DAMAGE IN THIS SECTION

Landing, Dunganven River, (Northumberland County. A fire-pump was requested urgently. Last night rain reached that section and nothing more has been heard of the fire. The gale has come when the province is clear of forest-fires.

Gardens Suffered

Gardens suffered considerably in the gale. Any foliage which had reached any height offered enough obstruction to the wind to be blown down. Pole-beans, brushed-peas and tomatoes all are reported to have suffered.

Board fences also were a good target for the wind and in many places were levelled.

MOTHER WAS SURPRISED

Newark, N. J., Aug. 22—"Where is my baby?" queried Mrs. Margaret Isherwood at a local hospital, recovering consciousness.

"There is more than one," said Dr. Sarah Edwards.

"Two?" she queried.

"No, three, and all boys," she replied.

"Bring them in, all of them," ordered Mrs. Isherwood.

HAVE GOAT APPETITES

St. Paul, Aug. 22—Cows with goat appetites worried Minnesota scientists today. In two townships in Norman county farmers report that their cows are eating rags, wood, old shoes and rubber. Lack of minerals in animal feeds are believed responsible.

A group of scientists from the University of Minnesota will investigate and seek corrective measures.

To Play Tonight

The Nashwaak's baseball team will clash with the Marysville team on the farmer's diamond at Nashwaaksis this evening.

Mid-Week Market

There was a small mid-week market at Phoenix Square today. Produce was not offered in great variety and prices remained about as they were last Saturday.

Inspecting Cossar Farm

E. S. Archibald of Ottawa, supervisor of Experimental Farms, arrived here last evening enroute to Ottawa from Prince Edward Island after completing inspection duty. He left this morning for Gagetown where he inspected the Cossar Farm on which young Scottish boys are trained in farming. Dr. Cossar the promoter recently was in Ottawa and made a request for recognition of his establishment by the Department of Agriculture.

J. S. McKinnon of Toronto Director of Industrial Exhibits for the British Empire Exhibition to be held at Wembley Park, London, April to October, 1924, is here for the purpose of interesting local manufacturers in the exhibition. The Dominion Government is to pay freight charges each way and the exhibits will not be subject to duty. Mr. McKinnon addressed the Rotary Club on Tuesday. He is desirous of securing an enlarged photograph of the City of Fredericton. Some local manufactures are expected to be exhibited.

HEN FRUIT BEING USED

Dublin, Aug. 21—The election campaign is being conducted peacefully throughout the Free State except in a few cases of minor disturbances at meetings taking the shape of rowdiness in which candidates are pelted with eggs. Justice Dodd in court here today granted leave to serve a writ of habeas corpus for the delivery, within a fortnight of the anti-treatyite, Donnelly, who was arrested in a raid on the party's office last Saturday.

THE C. N. R. IS MAKING GOOD

Toronto, Aug. 21—Frederick G. Dawson, of Prince Rupert, B. C., one of the directors of the Canadian National Railways, says western opinion regarding the future of the Government-owned lines is changing rapidly. In an interview, Mr. Dawson said that he found shippers and others in the west quite optimistic regarding the road's future. People were sure, he said that the railroads would soon provide a surplus instead of an annual deficit and that happy day, of course, would be hastened by more population in the west.

ONE-ARMED MOTOR RIDE

New York, Aug. 22—Edward G. Bucsek of 489 East Fifty-fourth street Manhattan, put his arm around a girl riding on the front seat of his automobile while he was driving along Frelinghuysen avenue, in Newark, last night.

Motorcycle Policeman Widman saw him do it and arrested him on a charge of reckless driving. Judge William Murray today fined Bucsek $50 which he paid.

Bucsek said he placed his arm around the girl because she was ill.

PAID OLD DEBT OF 53 CENTS

Uniontown, Pa., Aug. 21—"How much is the fare between Greensburg and Scottsdale?" was asked by a man who appeared before the ticket window in the local Pennsylvania Railroad station. When informed by Agent Jacobs that the fare was 53 cents, the stranger remarked: "I owe the company this money! I just want to pay my debts." Explaining that about 30 years ago he beat a conductor out of a ride between the two towns and that the matter had preyed upon his mind, he then paid 53 cents and cleared his conscience.
