HELEN WILLS TENNIS CHAMP WELL TRAINED

Spartan Rules While in Competition — Her Mother is Constantly with Her — To Enter College.

New York, Aug. 21—Miss Helen Wills the newly crowned woman's National lawn tennis champion, passed a busy day with her mother at the Inn at Forest Hills, packing for the return journey to San Francisco. The 17-year-old girl has been at Forest Hills since the middle of last month, carefully preparing for the match in which she beat Mrs. Molla Bjurdstedt Mallory on Saturday.

Miss Wills and her mother will leave New York for home. Throughout all of her daughter's matches Mrs. Wills has sat close beside the court, critically watching every stroke. Now that the championship has been won, Mrs. Wills makes no secret of the fact that she is glad it is all over. Mrs. Wills is a mother of the old fashioned type and has reared her daughter according to the old-fashioned standards.

Among the tennis campaigners the Spartan code that Miss Wills has followed since her arrival in the East this season has been freely commented upon. Her father is a physician and surgeon on the Pacific Coast and he is a firm believer in the "Early to bed and early to rise" theory. There have been a number of entertainments and dances for players at the various tournaments but Miss Wills has not attended any of them. After she returns to California, Miss Wills is to take up esthetic dancing.

Mrs. Wills is to take up esthetic dancing. Mrs. Wills said today that there will be no further competition for her daughter this year. Their home is near the University of California. The new champion starts her studies there as a freshman soon.

READVILLE TO HAVE SOME GREAT RACING

Trumpet the Half-Mile Track Star to Start There Next Week—Free-for-All Pace.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 21—Only a week more and Boston will have the Grand Circuit horses for what promises to be one of the most interesting racing carnivals in more than 25 years. Readville has been one of the high lights in the field of the harness horse sport.

The Readville meet, because of the long ship from North Randall, is limited to four days, but into those four days is crowded as an attractive program as the most ardent fan could desire.

Boston is to have the wonderful Single G. in the free-for-all pace against its Margaret Dillon, with the Chicago gelding, Sir Roch, making his first Eastern appearance, the third starter.

Lee Worthy, 2.02½, the present-hour sensation among the campaigning free-for-all trotters, will be on hand for the Blue Hill $5000 purse, matching his speed and stamina against The Great Volo, 2.04½; Peter the Brewer, 2.02½, and Czar Worthy, 2.03½, a field the wonderful colt succeeded in handling for the first time last week.

These five trotters have from the start of the season furnished the greatest week-after-week contests the sport has ever known. The Boston stallion, The Great Volo, has won three times, Czar Worthy, Peter the Brewer and Lee Worthy once each.

The American Horse Breeder Futurity races will bring the outstanding mile track two and three-year-old trotters to Readville, while The Fair Oaks and Lincoln Jackpot purses will provide opportunities for the Grand Circuit regulars to see in action the half-mile ring star, Trumpet, and Commodore Bingen.

COLLAR BUTTON BAROMETER

(New York Sun)

The income tax grades all men by their income and there are a thousand other barometers to indicate the state of an individual's wealth, but there is one humble appurtenance that levels all ranks—the collar button.

It was said of E. H. Harriman, the great financial genius, that at the moment he was bargaining for whole railroad systems his valet could usually be found under the bed in Mr. Harriman's room looking for one out of the only two collar buttons the railroad man ever owned.

What is more, the humblest roomer in the smallest hall bedroom in the city could probably match Harriman's restraint in the purchase of collar buttons.

OPIUM AGAIN GROWN IN CHINA

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 21—China, under pressure of internal strife has relapsed deeply into the thralldom of narcotics according to the Rev. Dr. H. H. Gowen, professor of Oriental languages and literature in the University of Washington who has just returned from a tour of the Orient.

"Farmers in many districts have been practically forced to return to the cultivation of the poppy" said Dr. Gowen today "because the Military Governors have assessed their lands on the basis of what they will produce in opium. Military Governors in other districts are actually paying their soldiers in opium."
