SWEATER CONTINUES TO HOLD FIRST PLACE.

The rivalry of jackets this season has by no means relegated the sweater to second rank. It still holds its own and offers numberless interpretations. First and foremost, narrow leather strips enter sweaterland in combination with silk in a knitted slip-over model. Fish net, darned back and forth in richly colored motifs, makes another slip-on.

There are many bloused surprise sweaters with the Deauville band bottom and full sleeve gathered into a cuff; but new is the sleeveless, golf coat sweater fastening at a low waist with five buttons. This allows ample room to display the modish jabot blouse. The sleeveless model comes in mohair, artificial silk, a mixture of the two or wool jersey, in plain colors or with fancy plaids striped or checked fronts. Others link or tie at the throat in Chinese fashion the rest of the sweater hanging straight. These boast lavish Paton embroideries in contrasting colors.

FASHION SAYS THAT—

Convenient beyond words are silk undershirts with adjustable shoulder strap.

Breakfast china particularly in summer should sound a note of gaiety and cheer and a set of dishes decorated in a dashing design of blue, orange and green meets every requirement.

Exceedingly new and smart is the hat of black velvet with a soft crown the hat is faced with tiny frills of Valenciennes lace and trimmed with lacquered ribbon tied in a large bow at the side.

White mohair and alpaca skirts are the newest fashion note for sport wear. They are worn with sleeveless sweaters in new and interesting designs.

Varied, indeed, are the styles and colors of shoes, but patent leather pumps with a neat colored pattern around the top of the pump and on the interlacing narrow straps are a bit newer than anything yet seen.

HARVARD SALAD.

Cover green pepper with ice water and let stand until crisp. Cut a slice from stem end, remove seeds and wipe inside. Mash cream cheese moisten with cream, season with salt and cayenne. Fill pepper case with cheese chill thoroughly, cut in one-third inch slices crosswise. Drain slices of canned pineapple, arrange a thin slice in each nest of lettuce on each slice of pineapple a slice of pepper. Serve with the following dressing: Mix four tablespoons of lemon juice 1-2 teaspoonful of salt lemon juice 1-2 teaspoonful of salt and 1-4 teaspoonful paprika. Shake before using.

YELLOW BUTTERFLIES.

There madly go
Pierrette, Pierrot,
Across the field of clovers
Two tiny yellow butterflies
Together dart and dip and rise,
With coquetry of lovers.

Pierrot, Pierrette
In minuet,
One leads the other after.
Two vagrant loves on fairy wings
Two sulphur colored bits of things
The sunshine makes but after.

Ah! Butterflies
Are far more wise
In loving and in living,
Sun-mad Pierrot and light Pierrette
Than we who toil and fear and fret
Nor trust in Heaven's giving.
JOSEPHINE HEMSLEY.

RADIANT THOUGHT.

She (dreamily)—What are the wild waves saying?
He—Telling Bedtime Stories to the sea urchins, probably.

Having a beautiful complexion doesn't leave much time for cleaning up the house.

RED ROSE

For particular people—

COFFEE

"How good it smells"—for it is packed fresh roasted, and the doubly sealed can preserves its rare aroma and flavor.

THE EX-KAISER'S DREAM.

He dreamed that he would be Lord of all Creation,
He summoned all his men
To conquer every nation,
He passed thro' little Belgium
Battling his way to France,
Never dreaming little England
Would give him such a dance.

He dreamed that little England
Engrossed with her own trouble
That his object would but prove
A little—simple—bubble.

He never dreamed that England
Would rise to the occasion,
To France and Belgium's call
She required no persuasion.

England rose—called all her men
From home, and her Dominions,
They answered nobly to her call
They came as if on Pinions
From Canada, Australia and New Zealand

Men feeling that they must
Not see her flag insulted
And trampled in the dust.

They fought with desperate valor
To keep up England's fame,
With bravery on every battle-field
They won a glorious name.

Behold! in a desperate plight
The Lord came to their aid
At the presence of His Angel
The battle then was staid.

The presence of the Angel
By the foe was feared,
And not a shot was fired
Until He disappeared.

It gave time for retreat
And form back into line,
The reinforcements then came up
Which proved the Lord's design.

Verdun was the objective
Of the obdurate Crown Prince
He hoped to be successful
"Defeat" he's mourned ever since.

In the end the foe was conquered
England and Allies proved strong,
At last the States joined in
After dallying so long.

They claim the honor of having
Gained the fearful war
When they only had assisted
Just one year out of four.

We'll give to God the glory
Thanking Him for wonders done
For without the Almighty's aid
We never could have won.

He used His elements to overthrow
The Devil's villainous schemes
The wind, the seas, the main, and
With His clouds our ships he screens

To feed their numerous men
On their potato crop relying
The Lord one night sent forth His
Blast

He all their plans defying
Lo! 'twas now the Ex-Kaiser
Was forced to renounce his Throne
To live a notorious exile
As once the great Napoleon.

He had to flee his country
In terrible disgrace
For having brought his Empire
Such miseries to face

See! The arrogant Crown Prince
Who thought himself so great
Is now brought down to share
His father's similar fate.

He upon a lonely Isle
In solitude his mind to dwell
Upon the misery they brought
And the millions for the cause that fell

The Ex-Kaiser dreamed of future greatness

Dreaming to regain his throne
Still let him dream, and dream on
And his present fate be-moan.

Oh! What is Worldly pomp?
And Worldly Honors too?
They are but transient pleasures
To which in "Death" we bid "Adieu"

We leave the World behind us
With all its pomp and show
Carrying nothing with us
To the World to which we go.
