PROPOSED NEW BASILICA STE. ANNE DE BEAUPRE

THE PROPOSED NEW BASILICA AT STE. ANNE DE BEAUPRE.
 INSERT IS THE OLD BASILICA PRIOR TO THE CONFLAGRATION.

WHEN the historic Shrine and Basilica at Ste. Anne de Beupre was burned to the ground last year, together with the monastery and the novitiate of the Redemptorist Fathers, the clergy did not waste any more time than was necessary in lamenting their loss, but set about at once to construct a temporary shrine and to lay plans for a larger and newer church. After a great deal of discussion it was decided that the old church had become too small for the demands and that the exigencies called for greater accommodation. It was therefore decided to demolish the old walls, and to build a church proportionate to the needs of the future as far as they can be foreseen. The plans of the magnificent structure shown above were decided upon. The new Basilica which has been designed to give the edifice an appearance compatible with its use will not conform to the architectural style of any one period but will be a combination of Roman and Gothic. An idea as to its generous proportions can be gained from the following figures: Length over all 312 feet; interior length, 260 feet; length of choir, 65 feet; width of nave, 134 feet; width of transept, 186 feet; height of grand nave, 85 feet; superficial area 42,000 square feet. There will be twenty-six altars, twelve of which will be in the crypt Chapels, and the lighting of the interior will play a large part in the scheme of decoration of the church and will be a telling factor in providing a beautiful place for the hundreds of thousands of pilgrims who journey each year to the famous shrine.

STOWAWAYS ON SHIP

FEASTED ON BANANAS

New York, June 23—Fruit dealers of New York may no longer say with entire truth Yes we have no bananas, for the shortage is at an end. Forty three thousand bunches came into the harbor early today from Jamaica on the fruit steamer Alegria of the Di Giorgio line.

Just how many of the 43,000 bunches were munched away by twenty six stowaways who sneaked aboard at Jamaica Capt. F. W. Hatswell isn't able yet to say.

The Algeria left Kingston, Jamaica on June 13—At sea Capt. Hatswell discovered he had twenty non paying guests aboard and he put into Port Antonio to drop them and to get some more bananas. Besides his crew of sixty one, all black Capt. Hatswell had forty five black passengers and five whites aboard. Three meals out of Port Antonio the cook came to him and complained. It don't make no difference how much I cook there ain't enough, the captain was informed. I cook more than enough for all the crew and all the passengers and every meal I run short. Capt. Hatswell started an investigation and found six more stowaways. They were boldly seated at the dining room and crew tables. For dessert they ate bananas.

When he arrived at the outer harbor late last night the captain had the stowaways rounded up for examination by doctors. They escaped their guards and hid among the bananas in the hold of the ship last night. This morning another roundup was begun and the six were locked in a room. They escaped again.

When quarantine officers arrived on the ship only five of the stowaways could be located. They were in irons in the ship's brig.

When do we eat? they asked Capt. Hatswell as he led the medical men into the room. We're tired of bananas.

DROUGHT FELT BY FARMERS IN ALL SECTIONS

The Provincial Department of Agriculture in its semi-monthly report upon crop conditions has the following:—Local showers during the past fortnight have done little to relieve the country wide droughty conditions. Cool weather with a light frost on the fifteenth prevailed until the nineteenth when it changed decidedly warmer and registered 94 degrees. Upland pastures and hay fields suffer for rain. Interval and Marsh does not lack moisture. Hay is only fair, and in the North Shore counties it will be a light crop. Milk production is below normal in all parts of the Province.

Oats, barley and wheat are growing strongly. The total acreage sown to these is less than last year on account of many men having been compelled to leave farm work before seeding was completed to fight the forest fires. Planting potatoes is completed and in the St. John river valley districts these are showing above ground. No change in early estimate of comparative acreage viz. seventy five percent of last year.

The sowing of the turnip and buckwheat crops is nearly completed some stocks of old hay and potatoes are still in the hands of farmers.
