

BALDWIN VISITS THE KING TODAY

PORTUGUESE CABINET HAS RESIGNED

Conservative Leaders Exhibit Signs of Panic Over Liberals' New Move

LIBERALS WOULD JOIN WITH LABOR

The Tories are at the Mercy of the Liberal Leaders—Much Talk of the Imminence of Labor Regime.

(By Lloyd Allen British United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London, Dec. 13—An unexpected visit by Premier Stanley Baldwin to Buckingham Palace shortly before noon today caused excitement in political circles. The purpose of the visit was not disclosed before the audience with the King took place.

Conservative party leaders exhibited signs of panic today. There was much talk of the imminence of the Labor regime and of the fact that the Tories were at the mercy of those Liberal leaders, the former premiers, H. H. Asquith and David Lloyd George, especially of the latter, whom the Unionists ousted in 1922.

The Conservatives who apparently had planned to retain office at least until parliament met received somewhat of a shock by yesterday's announcements that the Liberals would join the Laborites in defeating Baldwin and his party at the first opportunity. What was even more impressive was the statement that the Liberals in commons would support Ramsay MacDonald as head of a Labor Government as long as too radical measures were not attempted. On the heels of this announcements as well as one from Labor leaders that they would attempt to form a Government as soon as invited, came overtures from the Conservatives to the Liberals.

The latter although in the minority hold the real balance of power in the commons. Conservative leaders sought to reach an understanding with a sufficient section of the Liberals to keep Labor from power.

The Daily Express today declared that the Tories were too late with their overtures. The Daily News (Liberal) said—"Ramsay MacDonald and his colleagues would have Liberal support as long as they do not ride the high horse and deny the ordinary considerations of courtesy to the minority holding their balance of power."

The Labor executive conferred today with Trades Union and Congress Executives seeking approval of yesterday's decisions.

GALLONS OF ALCOHOL FLOAT IN WITH TIDE

VALUED AT $2.80 GALLON

Wet Treasure Sighted by Carpenters Working on Beach Near New Bedford.

New Bedford, Dec. 10—A flotilla of square wooden cases each containing a five-gallon tin of high grade alcohol valued wholesale at about $2.80 a gallon, bobbing along the Southwest shore of Mattapoisett Neck, greeted the eyes of Albert Aston, John C. Dexter, and Lewin Johnson of Mattapoisett this morning when they climbed to the roof of a new house they are building.

The men put in an immediate call for the New Bedford police. The New Bedford department relayed the news to the State patrol at Lakesville.

The three original discoverers of the alcohol treasure, trove returned to their shingling.

Mr. Aston said this noon he thought there must be at least 70 cases scattered along shore. Mr. Dexter expressed the belief that the alcohol had been landed on King's Beach on the opposite side of Herring River from Mattapoisett Neck. There was an unusually high tide last night and the wind blew from the northeast, so Mr. Dexter believes that the high tide lifted the smuggled spirits off King's Beach and the wind carried it to the Mattapoisett Neck side of the inlet.

King's Beach, across from Mattapoisett Neck, according to neighborhood talk, has been under surveillance by prohibition agents for some time.

Settlement of Disputes in Shoe Industry in New England States Has Been Effectuated

PARLEY ON AT HAVERHILL

Wages of 8000 in Lynn Cut 15 Per cent Pending Probe — Pact is Signed by Firms and Union.

Boston, Dec. 13—Conferences which promise to bring about a settlement of disputes in the shoe industry at Lynn and at Haverhill took place yesterday.

A reduction of 15 percent in the wages of approximately 8000 workers at Lynn was agreed upon at a conference held with members of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration of representatives of the Amalgamated Union organization representatives of the city's Manufacturers' Association and so-called independent manufacturers.

The reductions will continue in effect until the State Board investigates the situation in that city and makes further recommendations for permanent solution of its problems.

At Haverhill a conference which continued far into the night was expected to result in the announcement this morning that the manufacturers body and the Shoe Workers' Protective Union has signed a new five year peace agreement.

Lynn Cut Will Continue.

After a session lasting 12 hours between a committee of the Joint Council, Amalgamated Shoe Workers of America of Lynn, delegates from the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association five manufacturers not members of the association and the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation at the State House yesterday an agreement was reached between all parties that wages will be reduced 15 percent today and continue until the question of wages and other questions in dispute will be decided by the State Board.

Delegations of the manufacturers and shoe workers will meet the State Board tomorrow to outline the questions to be settled by arbitration.

The agreement reached affects about 800 and it is expected the present adjustment will result in many shoe factories in Lynn reopening.

The session opened at 10 o'clock this morning a recess being taken for lunch, and then all parties returned to the State House and remained in session until 9 o'clock no recess being taken for the evening meal.

In addition to the members of the Lynn Shoe Manufacturers' Association signing the agreement the firms A. M. Creighton, J. I. Melanson, J. J. Grover, Welch & Son and Merrill Porter also agreed to the temporary reduction in wages until finally adjusted by the State Board.

BIG INCOMES MAKE UP BULK OF INCOME TAXES

NOT MANY ARE WEALTHY

People With $10,000 and Up Contributed Sixty-Two Per Cent—Ontario Carries Burden.

Ottawa, Dec. 13—Just 380 people, paying on personal income of $50,000 a year and over, paid $8,212,112, or a little over 25 per cent. of the total personal income tax collections during the year ending March last. Of these 380 no fewer than 328 lived in Ontario and Quebec and paid all but about $900,000,000 of the total.

Take it another way: 8,615 people paying on incomes of $10,000 a year and up paid last year $20,233,069 or 62 per cent. of the personal income tax collections.

A group of 13,030 persons paying in incomes of from $6,000 to $10,000 paid $3,603,030 in personal income taxes last year. Another group of 113,359 paid $4,616,286 in personal income taxes. Lastly 146,178 people paying on incomes from $1,000, $6,000 paid $3,414,474 in personal income taxes.

It is quite evident that the income tax bills the spot in Canada for there is no great mass of tax-free bonds as there is in the United States through which this tax can be so easily evaded. That Canada has comparatively few persons of very great wealth is plain also from the fact that only 380 paid on incomes of $50,000 and over; while less than 1,200 paid on incomes of $30,000 and over.

Corporations Paid Big.

The total net collections were $59,711,562, of which $32,357,414 were on personal income and $28,022,145 on incomes of corporations. Of the $32,357,414 paid on personal, $13,525,825 was paid by the people in Ontario and $10,807,601 by those in Quebec.

All the rest of the country paid only a little over $7,300,000. Manitoba paid $2,568,182; British Columbia, $1,906,564; Saskatchewan, $1,159,232; Alberta, $1,021,237; Nova Scotia $680,108; New Brunswick, $596,164; P. E. I., $57,816 and the Yukon, $34,680.

That in some of the provinces the tax is hardly worth the expense of collecting may be seen in the fact that the average collection on personal income in P. E. I. was only $65 while in the Yukon it was only $47.

Ontario and Quebec.

There are only 50 persons outside of Ontario and Quebec that paid on an income of $50,000 or more; 26 of these were in Manitoba and 11 in British Columbia.

Ontario with 120,663 had the largest number of personal income tax payers; Quebec came next with 49,667; British Columbia, 26,229; Alberta 18,509; Nova Scotia, 9,432; New Brunswick, 7,632; P. E. I. 873. In Ontario, 61,808 of those who paid on personal income paid on between $1,000 and $6,000.

NEGRO BARBER RETURNS MUG TO PRESIDENT

Washington, Dec. 13—Sims, the old negro barber at the Senate, who knew as many Senators, past and present, as anyone at the Capitol, trudged into the executive offices of the White House late today with a square box under his arm and asked to see the President.

Edward T. Clark, Mr. Coolidge's personal secretary, escorted him back to the President's office, where Sims produced a shaving mug and handed it over with much formality. It was used by Mr. Coolidge when he was at the Capitol and Sims was fearful he should not get along without it. Mr. Coolidge was very appreciative.
