

Of Interest to the Women

ODD FEATURES IN SPRING MODES.

Paris—Though this is a go-as-you-please era in regard to sleeves, the fairly long sleeve is seen today on many hot weather frocks. Often, however, a concession is made to the thermometer in the looseness of the cuff and the three-quarter length of the sleeve itself.

London—The little corset flow-er—a Rumanian importation which heralded the visit of the Rumanian ruler—has been copied in white velvet and is now a favorite decoration for dance dresses. It is employed in rather knots on shoulder and hip.

New York—When a gown is pleated—as what gown is not these days?—it is a new trick to have an echo of that pleating on the sleeves. The upper part of the sleeve may be pleated or a fan-shaped insert of pleats may form part of the cuff.

New York—It seems as though three types of hat would lead in popularity for some time to come. These are the always practical sailor, the rolled brim cloche, and the tricorne. The tricorne is seen in a number of new phases.

New York—A new sports oxford shown today is in fawn buck-skin with alligator eyelets and alligator toe.

SOUR CREAM DRESSING.

Whip until very thick (not stiff), three-quarters of a cup of sour cream and add half a teaspoon each of salt and powdered sugar, one-quarter of a teaspoon each of grated horseradish and paprika and two tablespoons of vinegar. Serve with cabbage or tomato salad.

HONEY SALAD DRESSING

Place in a bowl one-quarter of a cup of salad oil, three tablespoons of thick strained honey, two tablespoons of lemon juice, one-eighth of a teaspoon of salt and a few grains of nutmeg. Beat with an egg beater until frothy and fold in two tablespoons of stiffly whipped cream. Use with a fruit salad.

PEANUT BUTTER DRESSING

Have ready one cup of chilled, boiled dressing and gradually beat in two tablespoons of peanut butter, one tablespoon of tarragon vinegar, half a tablespoon of lemon juice and a dash of paprika. Use on a green or vegetable salad.

COOKED CURRY DRESSING

Mix together a scant half tablespoon of salt, half a teaspoon of ground mustard, two tablespoons of sugar, a few grains of cayenne, one tablespoon of flour and ½ teaspoon of curry powder. Very gradually blend in one and a quarter cups of rich milk, two tablespoons of melted butter and three beaten eggs yolks. Mix thoroughly and add six drops of weak vinegar, a few drops at a time. Cook over hot water until the mixture thickens, stirring constantly.

Has the woman candidate yet arrived who says she wears no man's collar?

Does Your Nose Clog? Is Your Breath Bad?

Do You Know Whether You Have Catarrh?

THOUSANDS USING AIR THAT IS MEDICATED

The Soothing Vapor of Catarrhazone is Quickest Relief.

The healing fumes from a CATARRH-OZONE Inhaler, which you can carry in your vest pocket, is just what you need to prevent COLDS, SORE THROAT, GRIPPE COLDS and kindred ills.

Once you fill the air passages of the nose and throat with the healing essences of CATARRH-OZONE, you drive out the germs that cause CATARRH.

Simple and safe to use, good for men, women and children, CATARRH-OZONE is a boon to every family. Refuse a substitute for CATARRH-OZONE. Complete outfit $1.00. Small size 50c. At all dealers or by mail from The Dr. Hamilton Pill Co'y., Montreal.

The Minister of Defence Hands it to Mr. Baxter In the Budget Debate

Member for St. John-Albert Not the High Sounding Patriot He Pretends to be—Admits He Endorsed Notes to Win the Praise of a Party Organ—Debates of the Legislature are Quoted.

A lively brush between Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of Defence and Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, in which New Brunswick political history was touched upon, featured the closing day of the budget debate at Ottawa. Following is the Hansard report of the speech of Hon. Mr. MacDonald:

(Hon. E. M. MacDonald, Minister of National Defence: I had not intended trespassing on the time of the House or taking part in the debate, and I would not at this late hour venture to detain the proceedings were it not for the peculiar performance which the House has witnessed this evening on the part of the hon. member for St. John (Mr. Baxter). After having during the past months advertised himself throughout the country as the great champion of the rights of the Maritime provinces, after spending almost three months of the present session in parliament, the hon. gentleman has taken this opportunity of putting forward in his own peculiar way what he considers to be the claim of the Maritime provinces; and he has done so at midnight at the end of this protracted debate. At no time since the session opened did this wonderful champion of our rights in the Maritime provinces venture to call the attention of the House or of the country to our needs and our necessities until the present moment, and under these peculiar circumstances. The hon. gentleman has put forward remarkable claims, and made loud assertions as to the necessity for unity among all of us who come from the Maritime provinces. I may be permitted, I think, to say that hon. gentlemen who come from that part of the country view with a great deal of suspicion these high-sounding statements on the part of the hon. member. We recall a meeting that took place a little over a year ago during the last session of parliament when all hon. members from the Maritime provinces, irrespective of politics, assembled to discuss matters and agreed that they would fight unitedly on certain questions which they considered of importance to the Maritime provinces. Within three weeks after that meeting had been held, at which my hon. friend was present and in the discussions in which he joined in the most assertive way, declaiming upon the necessity for united action, when a question arose in this House on a motion submitted by his colleague the hon. member for South Wellington (Mr. Guthrie) to strike out of the estimates a very much needed public work in the province of Nova Scotia, and this high-sounding patriot supported that action against the interests of the part of the Dominion in which he professes to take such a lively interest. Since that time, when he indulged in such high-sounding phrases as he used tonight in regard to the rights of the Maritime provinces, I asked him this evening what his platform was and just what his demands amounted to on behalf of the provinces by the sea and he failed to give any answer. Well, I do not want to detain the House, but I must say that my hon. friends are hardly the type of man to go forward as the leader of the people of the Maritime provinces. I intimated to him the opinion which the Fredericton Gleaner had of him, and he replied that he had stopped endorsing notes for that paper. Naturally the inference was that when he did endorse notes for that strong Conservative journal it praised him. And the further necessary inference must be that he was obliged to endorse notes for some newspaper in order to secure some appreciation of himself.

Mr. Duff: And the bank would not discount the notes.

The Gleaner Quoted.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): This leading Conservative organ in New Brunswick referred to the hon. member not long ago as one who had an unenviable reputation as a public man, and declared that he was viewed with a great deal of suspicion in that province. Yet this is the gentleman who comes here and upbraids other hon. members who have been fighting continuously in the direction they deemed wisest and most prudent in the interests of their part of the country. I say that we may naturally be expected to resent this ex-cathedral tone, this air of superior dignity, which this wonderful gentleman assumes when he addresses the House and alternately chastises gentlemen who sit on his left and those in this part of the chamber who represent the Maritime provinces. I happen to have under my hand a report of the debates of the legislature of New Brunswick for the year 1919 and I find here the address which was given at that time by the then Premier of the province, reciting the findings of a commission that had been appointed by the government. He makes this statement:

Then we have ex-Attorney General Baxter found guilty of assisting W. Tennant to fabricate evidence for the purpose of misleading the court, a court duly constituted to hold the inquiry concerning the Valley Railway.

Mr. Baxter's Denial.

Mr. Baxter: I was never found guilty by anyone of assisting any man to fabricate evidence.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): I am reading from the official debates of the legislature of New Brunswick.

Mr. Baxter: And I am speaking from my own personal knowledge.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend is suggesting that the report of the commissioner, which the then Premier of New Brunswick was quoting was incorrect. I am quoting from the official report of the debates of the legislature of that province and it mentions my hon. friend in that way. I need not go into the findings in detail, but I may mention this further fact—

Mr. Baxter: I object to this, Mr. Speaker, because any report which my hon. friend professes to quote is that of a desparately partisan commissioner, a mere hack of the government of the day. But even he never found me guilty, either directly or indirectly, of suppressing any evidence.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): I am quoting, as I have already said, from the speech of the Hon. Mr. Foster who at the time in question was Premier of the province of New Brunswick. He was reading from the report and he concluded—

Some hon. Members: Order.

Mr. Speaker: I would ask the hon. member to consider whether or not he is within the rules of the House in discussing the personality of another hon. member, basing his remarks on a report which is not regularly before the House. I understand that the hon. member is reading from a report which is not regularly before the House.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): I do not catch what you say, Mr. Speaker.

Mr. Speaker: I was about to say that it is against the rules to quote from a report which is not regularly before the House, especially a report emanating from another legislature. At page 62 of Beauchesne's Parliamentary Rules and Forms will be found the following under rule 19:

234. Besides the prohibitions contained in this rule, it has been sanctioned by usage both in England and in Canada that a member while speaking must not:

(1) discuss messages or reports which are not regularly before the House.

Under those circumstances—

A Great Exponent.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Excuse me, Mr. Speaker, I am discussing this proposition: My hon. friend claims that he is the great exponent of the rights of the Maritime provinces, and throughout the country and in this House he has put forward certain views and asserted his leadership respecting the exposition of those rights. He has belaboured hon. gentlemen who sit in this House from other parts of the Maritime provinces for their laxity in defence of these rights, and has asserted that he alone is fulfilling his duty. I take the point, Mr. Speaker, that other members from the Maritime provinces and the people of those provinces will not follow the leadership of this gentleman, and I am showing the House why they will not.

Mr. Speaker: But I cannot as Speaker—

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Let me—

Mr. Speaker: Order. I cannot as

Speaker allow the hon. member to assail the personality of a fellow-member by basing his charges on a report which is not regularly before the House. This report emanates from the provincial legislature of New Brunswick, if I mistake not, and the charges contained therein are specifically denied by the hon. member in question. Under the circumstances his denial must be accepted by the hon. gentleman.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Your Honour rules that I cannot quote from a report made to the legislature of New Brunswick. But your Honour will rule that I may quote from the terms of a resolution passed by that legislature?

Mr. Speaker: Yes.

Censured by Legislature.

Mr. MacDonald: That resolution, after referring to my hon. friend, and certain other gentlemen whom I do not intend to name for the moment, proceeds as follows:

Resolved that in view of the evidence and the findings of the said commissioner—

Mr. Baxter: Mr. Speaker, I submit that the resolution is no more in order than the report.

Some hon. Members: Go ahead.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): (reading).

Resolved that in view of the evidence and the findings—

Mr. Stevens: Mr. Speaker, I rise to point of order. The hon. member, whether he is reading from a report or whatever it may be, has given utterance to certain statements reflecting upon the hon. member for St. John. The hon. member for St. John from his place in the House has declared that the statement is not in accordance with the fact. I submit to you, Sir, that under the rules of the House the word of the hon. member for St. John must be accepted, no matter what the document may be that is being quoted or whether it is in order or not.

Mr. Speaker: That has been my ruling. I called upon the hon. gentleman not to assail the hon. member for St. John by basing his remarks on a report or a resolution, the charges contained in which are specified denied by the hon. member assailed. I rule that according to Bourinot, page 336, reading from a document casting reflection on an hon. member is out of order.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of Minard's draws out the inflammation, eases the pain, soothes and heals. Always keep a bottle on the shelf.

The Universal Remedy for every pain

MINARD'S
"KING OF PAIN"
LINIMENT

If all logic were based on that which breeds many of our so-called logical candidates, this would be an even queerer world than it is.

serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of serene superiority and intense holiness, an air which he had adopted ever since he came to this House. He undertakes to lecture everybody who happens to disagree with him upon any subject. I submit that this conduct sits very badly upon a gentleman, the legislature of whose native province passed the resolution which I have referred to, which is on the records of that body, and which will remain there forever.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): Mr. Speaker, the question as to whether or not a resolution was passed in the legislature of New Brunswick calling upon my hon. friend to resign is a fact which I think I can mention. I was not reading from any report of a committee or a commissioner, but from a resolution passed by the legislature of New Brunswick, stating that the conduct of my hon. friend was derogatory to the proper tone of public life in that province, and asking him to resign his seat in the legislature.

Mr. Baxter: It is not correct.

Mr. MacDonald (Pictou): My hon. friend says it is not correct. I am not going into the findings of the commissioner. All I say is that in view of the fact that this is on record as part of the proceedings of the legislature of New Brunswick, it is about time that my hon. friend from St. John should cease lecturing hon. gentlemen in this House with an air of TIME CHANGES ON MAY 18TH.

Affect Some Train Services of the Canadian National Railways.

Travellers will do well to note certain changes of time schedules on Canadian National Lines, which go into effect on May 18th.

There are no changes in time on the trains between here and Newcastle, but the Valley Railway Service is altered considerably, and there is much better direct service than formerly.

A passenger train leaving Centreville at 8.40 a. m. daily except Sunday will arrive here at 12.20 p. m. and leave for St. John at 1.20 p. m.

The mixed train from Centreville on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday will arrive at 4.00 p. m. as usual, and mixed train for St. John will leave Fredericton at 6.45 a. m. Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

No. 45 passenger train will leave St. John every week day at 2.05 p. m. (Atlantic Time) and arrive in Fredericton at 5.25, connecting with No. 47 passenger train leaving here at 5.30 p. m. for Woodstock and Centreville.

No. 28 will leave as usual for Newcastle, Chatham and Loggieville at 7.10 p. m., and on Mondays, Wednesday's and Friday's will make the connection at McGivney Jct. with No. 51 train from Moncton for Edmundston and Quebec.

The mixed train from St. John will arrive here at 1.20 p. m. on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

The mixed train for Centreville will leave here on Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 9.00 a. m.

The suburban extra, hitherto leaving Fredericton at 6.15 p. m. will be cancelled with the new time table.

ANTIQUE CHINA, MAHOGANY. OLD ENGLISH OAK, BRASS WORK, SHEFFIELD PLATE

G. L. BOURNE

Sole Proprietor

690 Queen Street

FRIDAY and SATURDAY

The last days of our Spring Clearance Sale will be busy. All new Spring Coats in velour, tricotone and sport cloths at one price $15 each, were $20 to $33. Two marvelous Cloth Coats at Half Price. All Girl Coats, one quarter and one-half off. Ladies Spring Suits $12, $18 and $25. A rack of dresses at $5.98 each. A lot of blouses at Half price. Silk Hosiery, 89c pair. Children's Fancy Hose 35c pair. Ladies Undervests, 25, 35 and 50c each. 10 per cent off everything not in the sale. New Dresses, New Blouses, New Sweaters. Do your shopping at the busy store.

R. L. BLACK, 62 YORK ST.

DEVON AND NASHWAAKSIS

Electric Light and Power Consumers

TAKE NOTICE

That all accounts for same, if bills are presented, are payable from the fifth to the tenth inclusive, of each month, at the DEVON branch of the CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

If you forget or lose your bills you will be obliged to pay same at the office of the Maritime Electric Co. Ltd. or at the Royal Bank at Fredericton.

THE MARITIME ELECTRIC COMPANY

FREDERICTON — — NEW BRUNSWICK

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Train Services

(EFFECTIVE MAY 18TH.)

TRAINS LEAVE FREDERICTON

(Daily except Sunday except otherwise indicated)

No. 242 Mixed for St. John (Monday, Wednesday & Friday)	6.45 a.m.
No. 243 Mixed for Centreville (Monday, Wednesday & Friday)	9.00 a.m.
No. 238 Pass. for Newcastle (Monday, Wednesday & Friday)	9.30 a.m.
No. 232 Sub. for Marysville (Daily Except Sunday)	11.15 a.m.
No. 46 Pass. for St. John (Daily Except Sunday)	1.30 p.m.
No. 234 Sub. for Marysville (Daily Except Sunday)	4.20 p.m.
No. 47 Pass. for Woodstock & Centreville (Daily except Sunday)	5.30 p.m.
No. 28 Pass. for Newcastle, Chatham & Loggieville (Daily except Sunday)	7.10 p.m.
No. 236 Sub. for Marysville (Saturday only)	10.00 p.m.

TRAINS ARRIVE FREDERICTON

No. 231 Sub. from Marysville (Daily Except Sunday)	8.30 a.m.
No. 48 Pass. from Centreville (Daily Except Sunday)	12.20 p.m.
No. 27 Pass. from Newcastle, Chatham & Loggieville (Daily Except Sunday)	1.00 p.m.
No. 233 Sub. from Marysville (Daily Except Sunday)	1.15 p.m.
No. 241 Mixed from St. John (Tues. Thu. & Sat.)	1.20 p.m.
No. 244 Mixed from Centreville (Tues. Thu. & Sat.)	4.00 p.m.
No. 235 Sub. from Marysville (Daily Except Sunday)	5.20 p.m.
No. 45 Pass. from St. John (Daily Except Sunday)	5.25 p.m.
No. 237 Pass. from Newcastle (Mon. Wed. & Fri.)	10.40 p.m.
Connection for Edmundston and Quebec by No. 28 train on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, connecting at McGivney with No. 51 train from Moncton carrying buffet sleeping car.
For further information apply to City Ticket Agents: H. W. Smith, C. N. R. Express; F. B. Edgecombe, and Ticket Agent, Station.	