

NO MORE WEAK and DIZZY SPELLS Since She Used MILBURN'S Heart and Nerve Pills

Miss Bertha Charette, Regina, Sask., writes: "I have had a lot of trouble lately, with what I thought was heart trouble, and after an unusual exertion I always felt sick."

My doctor advised a complete rest and change, but this I was unable to take.

I became interested in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, so started taking them and am so much improved I can go about my daily work without feeling them. I have now taken three boxes and am feeling much better than I have ever felt before, and have not had any after ill effects, and have not had any weak or dizzy spells for some time. Your medicine has done me more good than anything I have ever taken, and I will gladly recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills to any woman who is weak and run down."

Price 50c. per box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto Ontario.

ELECTORS OF MEMRAMCOOK GAVE HEARTY WELCOME TO THE PREMIER; POLITICAL QUESTIONS DISCUSSED

Memramcook, N. B., June 17—Liberals from all parts of the parish of Dorchester, accorded Premier Veniot a splendid reception at a meeting held in the C.M.B.A. Hall here last evening. The gathering followed organization meeting held in the afternoon at which the various committees were arranged.

Premier Veniot, who was the last to speak, addressed the assembly in French and dealt with the work of the government during its term in office and the futility of the attacks of the opposition.

Agriculture.

In the matter of agriculture, the Premier showed what was being done for the farmers of this province. He told of the school which was recently opened at Fredericton that the principles of scientific farming might be made known in all sections. He urged that the Acadian farmers of the Memramcook district take advantage of the courses which were offered free of charge and reap the resultant benefits when the crops were measured.

Allied closely with the farmers was the progressive movement. Premier Veniot declared that he respected the opinions of all men and granted that they were free to differ in politics as in all other things. He respected he contended that in order that the farmers get justice in this province there was no need of group government, nor did such government tend to stability.

Typical Independence.

The people of this county had seen fit to elect Mr. Fawcett to the last house as their representative, the Premier continued. He was supposed to be an independent. He was named the head of the eight members who composed the farmers or progressive party at Fredericton. He had gone over to the opposition benches and had remained there ever since. Notwithstanding, the Premier said, that Mr. Fawcett was supposed to be independent he had always voted with the opposition in any amendment which they proposed and which might weaken the government. That was typical independence. On the other hand other members of the farmer party had voted for the government deserting their leader.

School Book Costs.

In the matter of education and the high cost of school books, the Premier effectively replied to the criticism which is being leveled at the department. It was charged that the government was asking too much for school books. Premier Veniot pointed out that previous to the war the cost of a book was low. The war drove the prices upwards and they had not yet come down. In fact, they were still increasing and instead of paying for themselves there was last year a deficit of $1,700 on that one item which the government had seen fit to absorb in other ways rather than to pass on to the people by raising the price of the text books still higher.

Good Roads.

The road policy of the government was alternately criticized and praised. The Premier declared that every effort was being made to give the people better highways and to reconstruct and keep in repair the bridges of the province. He pointed out that every cent of the funds being spent on the highways was taken care of by the sinking fund, built up by the money from licenses from automobile owners. Out side of that there was not a cent of expenditure. There was not a cent, the Premier declared which might be classed as floating debt and which might be impossible to refund at a later date.

Workmen's Compensation.

The opposition had charged that the Veniot Administration was in the hands of the lumber interests, the Premier said. That such was not the case was shown by the opposition which the government was meeting in connection with the Workmen's Compensation Act. This year, owing to the fact that there was a deficit of $186,000 in the amount paid out by the government in compensation and that paid in by the lumbermen, it had been necessary to place an extra assessment of 4 per cent. on that class. They had objected but the government preferred to withstand their objections, the Premier declared to having the widows and orphans of the woodsmen suffer. In any case, he said, the lumbermen do not suffer as they have three years in which to pay that extra four per cent.

Unity.

In opening as in closing his address, the Premier stressed the honor which had been done the Acadian people by that fact that the English majority of the province had seen fit to appoint a French-speaking member to the highest post. The premier pleaded for a continuation of that tolerance on the part of both the English and the French-speaking peoples of this province.

Mixing the Issues.

The last point which the Premier brought before the meeting was in connection with the issues of the day. There was a constant complaint that the government of the province was doing nothing in the matter of the railway. That, the premier declared had nothing to do with the province. There was no opportunity for him to do anything. That was solely a federal matter and lay in the hands of the federal government. It was the work of the opposition, he said, which confused the two and made the provincial authorities seem blame-worthy where the blame, if there was any, was attachable to the members of the upper house.

The meeting was presided over by Dr. Camille Gaudet, of Memramcook, who spoke at some length and who took the first public opportunity of thanking on behalf of the Acadian people, Mr. F. L. Estabrooks, of Sackville, for his offer to resign when he found that the French people of this county were not represented at Fredericton. He said that the vote had split and that the French were themselves responsible. The chairman declared that they appreciated deeply the feeling with which Mr. Estabrooks had approached them and offered to resign.

A COMEDY OF MANNERS.

John this place is not respectable I see a girl smoking. Take me away at once.

1924.

Are you sure Roger that this is a high class place? Oh yes it must be for there is a girl smoking.
