Colorful Biarritz with its bright blue skies and rugged red coast makes a perfect setting for the morning stroll of the chic mondaine. From the stately Palace Hotel which frequently houses a favorite hostelry of Napoleon III and his Spanish Empress to Miramar the bakery shop where the fashionable morning cocktail is drunk and all kinds of delicious sweet cakes and savory sandwiches are nibbled there moves along both beach and cliff a steady stream of promenaders from early morn till noontide.

Paris Adopts Red and Yellow Color Combination From Spain.

Everywhere are flashes of bright color—the floating scarf, the swaying parasol and the tiny but brilliant toned hat. No woman wears color better than the Spanish beauty. She is at heart the great coquette despite her demure manner and the tradition of Manilla. She knows just how to add a brilliant touch to her toilette and is always daring in her combination of tones. Her eyes are accustomed to the union of red and yellow and she expresses herself naturally and easily in the present mode of vivid tones. In fact she is in no small way responsible for the acceptance of these same colorful notes by other fashionables. Even Paris bows before her ardent espousal of yellow and red and has issued a fashion decree in favor of this combination.

Dresses are short which accounts for a great display of elaborate footwear in which there is much vivid color. Bright red and green kid sandals or white combined with these colors are the leading shoe shades. Gilded leather straps are often added to kid and satin slippers to give the effect of an extremely low cut slipper which appears almost strapless when viewed from a slight distance. Stockings still adhere to the bare legged effects of the spring and vacillate from a sheer flesh color to the much bruited peau brute.

The ever increasing popularity of the neck scarf is almost incredible. Another vogue whose popularity shows no sign of abating is the large handkerchief square which is either knotted about the throat suspended from large pockets or tied about the hips in ceinture style. A small edition of the fringed Spanish shawl is concrete evidence of the influence of Madrid at Biarritz.

STRAWBERRY ICE CREAM.

Make two quarts of rice boiled custard well sweetened cool and fold in one pint and a half of stiffly whipped cream, beaten with three rounding tablespoons of sugar and flavored with a teaspoon of vanilla. Freeze slowly and when the cream begins to congeal stir in one boxful of berries that have been crushed sugared and allowed to stand for several hours. Continue to freeze until firm and smooth and serve with a fresh strawberry sauce or garnished with large berries or in meringue shells with strawberry sauce.

REAL RIOT STAGED IN R.I. STATE SENATE

Providence, R. I., June 18—A riotous scene, followed a coup attempted by Republican politicians to prevent Lieutenant-Governor Toupin from presiding over today's session of the State Senate. Men and women were trampled upon by the political combatants. Republican and Democratic Senators clashed and the spectators took sides in the free-for-all fight.

1924—JUST 100 YEARS AGO.

A British Officer, leading his men against a hill tribe in Northern India, discovered the tea plant growing wild in Assam. Today there are 1,000 tea estates in Assam, which produce some of the finest teas in the world. From the best gardens come most of the teas in RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA. That's why it's so rich and strong. Your grocer sells it in a package.

PRESS COMMENT ON MATTEOTTI MURDER

(British United Press.) London, June 18—Commenting on the Matteotti incident, the anti-Fascist Evening Star excoriates the Mussolini Government. "From castor oil to the assassin's knife is a long step. We are not surprised to learn that Mussolini is seriously alarmed at the indignation throughout Italy. Autocracies and tyrannies usually come to grief by means of such crude blunders as this murder. They start on the castor oil and the road's natural slippiness soon leads to the ultimate extremes of crime."
